FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Prospectus contains certain “forward-looking statements”. These forward-looking statements generally can be identified by words or phrases such as “aim”, “anticipate”, “are likely”, “believe”, “expect”, “estimate”, “intend”, “likely to”, “objective”, “plan”, “project”, “propose”, “will”, “seek to”, “will continue”, “strive to”, “will achieve”, “will pursue” or other words or phrases of similar import. Similarly, statements that describe our strategies, objectives, plans or goals are also forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements are subject to risks, uncertainties, expectations and assumptions about us that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the relevant forward-looking statement. All statements in this Prospectus that are not statements of historical fact constitute “forward-looking statements”. All statements regarding our expected financial conditions and results of operations, business plans and objectives, strategies and goals and prospects are forward-looking statements.

Actual results may differ materially from those suggested by forward-looking statements due to risks or uncertainties associated with expectations relating to and including, regulatory changes pertaining to the industries in India in which we operate and our ability to respond to them, our ability to successfully implement our strategy, our growth and expansion, technological changes, our exposure to market risks, general economic and political conditions in India which have an impact on its business activities or investments, the monetary and fiscal policies of India, inflation, deflation, unanticipated turbulence in interest rates, foreign exchange rates, equity prices or other rates or prices, the performance of the financial markets in India and globally, changes in domestic laws, regulations and taxes and changes in competition in the industries in which we operate. However, these are not the exclusive means of identifying forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements whether made by us or any third parties in this Prospectus are based on our current plans, estimates, presumptions and expectations, which in turn are based on currently available information, and are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions about us that could cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the relevant forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements reflect our current views as of the date of this Prospectus and are not a guarantee of future performance. Although we believe that the assumptions on which such statements are based are reasonable, any such assumptions as well as the statements based on them could prove to be inaccurate.

Certain important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from our expectations include, but are not limited to the following:

1. We leverage technology and source critical patented parking robot from Sotefin SA, Switzerland and have limited proprietary intellectual property. Any disruption in this supply arrangement could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.
2. Our business is subject to fluctuations in demand from key customers, our top ten customers accounted for 91.77%, 84.85% and 87.30%, of our revenue from operations in the financial years March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, respectively. Loss of relationship with any of the customers or delays or reduction in their orders may have an adverse effect on our business, operation and financial condition.
3. Our revenue is generated from projects undertaken with Government agencies. Such project / contracts are awarded on the basis of certain pre-qualification criteria and competitive selection process and are usually in a standard form, restricting our ability to negotiate the terms and conditions. Any change in the Government policies or focus and/or we are unable to recover payments in a timely manner, would adversely affect our business and result of operations.
4. We depend on third-party suppliers for raw materials and components, and any disruption in supply, price volatility, or quality issues could adversely affect our operations. Additionally, any latent defects in our products may increase our after-sales costs or result in losses due to product replacements or recalls.
5. We face risks related to project execution delays, and our contracts generally incorporate liquidated damages and penalty clauses which could result in significant liabilities if we fail to meet contractual timelines.
6. The successful installation and operation of our parking systems depend on clients fulfilling specific preparatory works and infrastructure requirements, and any delays or inadequacies in client-side responsibilities could adversely affect our project execution and revenue recognition.

7. We operate in a highly competitive and fragmented industry with low barriers to entry, and intense competition could result in pricing pressures, loss of market share, and reduced profitability.

Our Company experienced negative cash flows from operating activities during the financial year ended March 31, 2026. Sustained negative cash flow could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

- 8.
9. Our execution track record and scale are limited compared to global players, which could affect our ability to compete for large, complex projects and expand internationally.
10. We have obtained ISO 9001:2015 certification; however, failure to maintain such certification may adversely affect our business.

For details regarding factors that could cause actual results to differ from expectations, see “Risk Factors”, “Our Business” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” beginning on page 22, 185 and 267, respectively, of this Prospectus. By their nature, certain market risk disclosures are only estimates and could be materially different from what actually occurs in the future. As a result, actual gains or losses could materially differ from those that have been estimated.

We cannot ensure that the expectations reflected in these forward-looking statements will prove to be correct. Given these uncertainties, Applicants are cautioned not to place undue reliance on such forward-looking statements and not to regard such statements to be a guarantee of our future performance.

Forward-looking statements reflect current views as on the date of this Prospectus and are not a guarantee of future performance. These statements are based on our management’s beliefs and assumptions, which in turn are based on currently available information. Although we believe the assumptions upon which these forward-looking statements are based are reasonable, any of these assumptions could prove to be inaccurate, and the forward-looking statements based on these assumptions could be incorrect. Neither our Company, our Promoter, our Directors, the BRLM nor any of their respective affiliates have any obligation to update or otherwise revise any statements reflecting circumstances arising after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of underlying events, even if the underlying assumptions do not come to fruition.

We leverage advanced technology and source critical patented parking robot from Sotefin SA, Switzerland, which are integral to our fully automated robotic parking systems powered by Sotefin’s Silomat shuttle and dolly technology. Any disruption in this supply arrangement, whether due to geopolitical factors, trade restrictions, logistical challenges, or changes in Sotefin’s business operations, could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

Out of our total purchases, following is the breakup of purchases from Sotefin SA for the Financial Years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025, and March 31, 2024:

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	March 31, 2026		March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024
	₹ in lakhs	% of Total Purchases	₹ in lakhs	% of Total Purchases	₹ in lakhs	% of Total Purchases
Import Purchases	2,631.85	56.83%	958.52	30.96%	862.02	33.98%
Domestic Purchases	1,998.84	43.17%	2,137.78	69.04%	1,674.93	66.02%
Total Purchases	4,630.69	100.00%	3,096.30	100.00%	2,536.95	100.00%
Import from Sotefin SA	2,334.05	50.40%	687.68	22.21%	619.66	24.43%

While we are in the process of localizing the production of the dolly in India, there can be no assurance regarding the timeline, cost, feasibility, or successful implementation of such localization. Until such time as localization is achieved, we will continue to remain dependent on imported components. Moreover, even if localization is successfully implemented, there may be risks related to quality, scalability, and intellectual property compliance. Any delays or inability to localize production, or any disruption in the supply of imported components, could significantly impact our ability to deliver projects on time, increase costs, and adversely affect our competitive position. Although we have not encountered any such material risk events or adverse outcomes in the past three financial years, there can be no assurance that such events will not occur in the future.

Further, we rely significantly on proprietary technology licensed from Sotefin SA for our fully automated robotic parking systems, including the Silomat shuttle and dolly technology. Our limited registered intellectual property and dependence on third-party proprietary systems reduce our ability to protect our technology and product design from replication. We currently have minimal intellectual property protection through patents, copyrights, or multiple trademarks, which limits our ability to prevent competitors from developing similar products, reverse engineering our solutions, or replicating our business model. Our reliance on Sotefin SA's proprietary technology also exposes us to strategic dependency and licensing risks. Any change in the terms of our access to such technology, restriction in usage rights, or discontinuation of the licensing arrangement could adversely affect our operations and ability to deliver fully automated systems. We have also not filed any patents for our independent technological developments, which could allow competitors to adopt similar technologies without infringing our rights.

Additionally, our only registered trademark will be due for renewal in April 2029, and there can be no assurance that such registration will be renewed or that we will be able to register or protect additional intellectual property going forward. We may also be subject to intellectual property infringement claims from third parties alleging that our products or systems violate their rights, which could result in litigation, financial liabilities, or operational disruptions. If we are unable to protect our existing intellectual property, develop our own proprietary technologies, maintain our licensing arrangements, or successfully defend against intellectual property disputes, it could materially and adversely affect our competitive position, business, financial condition, and prospects.

2. Our revenue from operations is highly concentrated, with our top ten customers contributing 91.77%, 84.85% and 87.30% for the financial years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025, and March 31, 2024, respectively. Accordingly, our business is significantly dependent on a limited number of key customers, and any loss of, or reduction in orders from, such customers may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

A significant portion of our revenues is generated from repeat orders from our customers, reflecting our execution capabilities, product performance and after-sales service. The table below sets forth the revenue derived from our top 10 customers, top 5 customers and top 1 customer for the periods indicated.

The top 5 customers for the financial year ended March 31, 2026 are based on our revenues from each customer during the respective period and names of the customers have not been included in this Prospectus due to non-receipt of consent from such customers to be named in the Offer Document.*

Our revenues are dependent on demand from our major customers. Accordingly, any reduction, delay or cancellation of orders by one or more of our key customers may have a disproportionate impact on our revenues and profitability. Additionally, a number of our customers are government departments, municipal authorities and public sector undertakings such as MCGM/BMC, CPWD, MMRDA and NHIDCL. Such customers are subject to procurement cycles, budget allocations, tendering processes, administrative approvals and political priorities, all of which may result in variations in the timing and quantum of orders placed with us. Any adverse change in government policies, funding availability, project execution timelines, tender conditions, or political leadership could impact the continuity or scale of such projects. Further, any deterioration in the financial condition, business strategy or project priorities of our key customers may reduce their spending or delay new orders. Customer disputes, contract cancellations, project execution delays, or perceived or actual deficiencies in product performance or service quality may also affect customer relationships and reduce repeat business.

We may not be able to replace lost business from key customers on commercially comparable terms or within a reasonable period of time. A decline in orders from key customers could also impact our bargaining power, pricing, payment terms and working capital cycle. Any significant reduction or loss of business from one or more of our major customers could therefore materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

3. Our revenue is generated from projects undertaken with Government agencies. Such project / contracts is awarded on the basis of certain pre-qualification criteria and competitive selection process and are usually in a standard form, restricting our ability to negotiate the terms and conditions. Any change in the Government policies or focus and/or we are unable to recover payments in a timely manner, would adversely affect our business and result of operations.

A majority portion of our revenue is derived from government clients, which exposes us to risks inherent in public procurement processes. These include uncertainties relating to tender-based bidding, policy changes, budget allocations, administrative approvals, and payment delays. Any reduction, deferral, or cancellation of government spending on automated parking infrastructure, or our inability to comply with stringent contractual requirements, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

Set forth below is the customer-wise bifurcation of our revenue from operations for the periods indicated:

Customer Category	Financial year ended March 31, 2026	Financial year ended March 31, 2025	Financial year ended March 31, 2024
	Revenue	Revenue	Revenue

	(₹ in Lakhs)	% of revenue from operations	(₹ in Lakhs)	% of revenue from operations	(₹ in Lakhs)	% of revenue from operations
Government Bodies	6,599.09	56.52%	5,251.96	56.01%	2,887.31	51.30%
Private Developers	5,073.84	43.46%	3,163.39	33.73%	2,137.27	37.97%
Export Revenue	1.72	0.01%	962.31	10.26%	603.75	10.73%
Total	11,674.65	100.00%	9,377.66	100.00%	5,628.33	100.00%

A significant portion of our business opportunities arises from tenders and projects awarded by central, state and municipal government authorities and public sector institutions for automated parking solutions. Our customers include government and institutional bodies such as the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (“MCD”), Municipal Corporation of Greater Mumbai (“MCGM/BMC”), Central Public Works Department (“CPWD”), Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (“MMRDA”) and National Highways & Infrastructure Development Corporation Limited (“NHIDCL”). Our reliance on government procurement processes subjects us to risks relating to project timing, pricing, contract terms, payments and regulatory developments. Government procurement is influenced by policy and administrative decisions, budget allocations, changes in political priorities, urban planning objectives and bureaucratic approval processes. Any delay, deferral, reduction or cancellation of government spending on automated parking infrastructure, including Smart City and urban redevelopment programs, may reduce the number or scale of projects for which tenders are issued or awarded. Tender-based bidding processes are typically competitive and price-sensitive, which may require us to quote lower margins to secure contracts. Government contracts generally involve detailed technical specifications, performance guarantees, quality certifications and contractual obligations relating to project delivery and ongoing maintenance; any failure to comply with such conditions may result in penalties, invocation of performance guarantees, disqualification from future tenders or termination of contracts.

Additionally, government contracts frequently include liquidated damages, provisions for delays in project execution, and we may be required to bear such damages even in circumstances where delays are attributable, in whole or in part, to factors outside our control, including site handover delays and approvals from authorities. Payments under government contracts are often subject to procedural approvals, milestone certifications and documentation requirements, which may result in extended payment cycles and increased working capital requirements. Delays in certification, objections during bill verification or withholding of payments due to technical queries may affect our working capital and operational cash flows. Further, government entities may have the discretion to modify, suspend or terminate contracts for convenience or reasons of public interest. Changes in regulations governing public procurement, eligibility norms, experience criteria, technical qualification requirements or tender evaluation methodologies may also affect our ability to participate in or secure government contracts. Any of these factors could adversely affect our order book visibility, revenue realization, profitability and cash flows and could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

4. We depend on third-party suppliers for raw materials and components, and any disruption in supply, price volatility, or quality issues could adversely affect our operations. Additionally, any latent defects in our products may increase our after-sales costs or result in losses due to product replacements or recalls.

Our operations rely on the continuous and timely supply of raw materials, components and outsourced machining services from third-party suppliers. We procure structural steel (including angles, channels, beams, columns, MS sheets and plates, and GI sheets) and certain precision components from external suppliers. Further, electrical, automation and control components used in our systems, such as switchgears, sensors, limit switches and related assemblies, are sourced from reputed international manufacturers, including Jotun, Leuze, Nord. In addition, machining of certain precision components is outsourced to third-party vendors under our supervision and quality control processes. We do not manufacture all components in-house and therefore remain dependent on the availability, quality and pricing of such materials and services.

Our dependence on external suppliers exposes us to risks relating to supply chain continuity, pricing, quality and vendor concentration. Supply chain disruptions may arise from supplier operational difficulties, closures, labour shortages, fire or industrial accidents, transportation and logistics delays, natural disasters, pandemics (such as COVID-19), geopolitical developments or trade restrictions. Any delay or shortfall in the supply of materials or components may impair our ability to execute ongoing projects in accordance with contractual timelines, which may result in cost overruns, imposition of liquidated damages, or termination of contracts. Fluctuations in the prices of steel and other raw materials, which are influenced by global commodity markets, currency exchange rates and supply-demand dynamics, may increase our production costs. While we have not experienced any material disruption in the supply of raw materials, components, or outsourced machining services in the past three fiscal years, we cannot assure that such disruptions will not occur in the future. We also face supplier concentration risk with respect to certain imported components sourced from specific international manufacturers. Any change in commercial terms, product availability, manufacturing priorities or willingness of such suppliers to supply to us could adversely affect our operations. Further, defects or quality deviations in raw materials or outsourced machining may lead to rework, rejections, project delays, warranty claims, customer dissatisfaction and reputational harm. While we conduct inspections and quality checks, we may not always have readily available alternative suppliers that meet our technical, cost and quality specifications, and identifying and qualifying replacement suppliers could require significant time and resources. Additionally, we may not have long-term supply agreements with all key suppliers, which limits our ability to secure assured pricing, quality, delivery schedules or supply volumes. Any of these factors could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

5. We face risks related to project execution delays, and our contracts generally incorporate liquidated damages and penalty clauses which could result in significant liabilities if we fail to meet contractual timelines.

Our project contracts typically contain liquidated damages and penalty clauses intended to ensure adherence to project timelines. Execution of our projects involves multiple stages including design, engineering, procurement, manufacturing, installation, testing and commissioning, each of which requires close coordination among various internal teams, contractors, suppliers and customers. We are exposed to risks of delays arising from factors including supply chain disruptions, shortages or delayed availability of raw materials or components, quality issues with procured materials, labour availability constraints and shortage of skilled technical personnel. Further, delays in receipt of regulatory approvals, permits, licences or statutory clearances required for project implementation may also result in extended execution timelines. Moreover, project delays may occur due to technical challenges, unforeseen site conditions, engineering modifications, or rework required to meet customer specifications. Certain delays may be attributable to our customers, including delays in providing site access, completion of civil works, installation of utilities such as power supply, or administrative and regulatory approvals. While our contracts may provide for relief in cases where delays are attributable to customers, the timing and attribution of delays are often matters of interpretation, and disputes may arise in determining responsibility. Complex, customized projects involving multiple stakeholders and third-party vendors further increase execution risk. Force majeure events such as natural disasters, pandemics, labour disruptions, strikes or other events beyond our control may also affect project timelines. While no such instance of time overrun has occurred in the last three financial years, we cannot assure that no such instance will take place in future.

Payment terms under our contracts are typically milestone-linked, and therefore project delays may adversely affect revenue recognition, cash flows and working capital requirements. In circumstances where delays are not excused or are determined to be attributable to us, we may be liable to pay liquidated damages or penalties, the quantum of which may be significant and, in some instances, may exceed the profit margins on the affected project. Any significant project delays or substantial liquidated damages in the future could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and reputation.

6. The successful installation and operation of our parking systems depend on clients fulfilling specific preparatory works and infrastructure requirements, and any delays or inadequacies in client-side responsibilities could adversely affect our project execution and revenue recognition.

The installation and commissioning of our automated parking systems require our clients to undertake specific preparatory works and provide necessary infrastructure prior to the commencement of our installation activities. Such requirements typically include, among others, (i) provision of electrical supply up to the main switch with proper earthing compliant with DIN EN 60204 standards, (ii) adequate grounding of the steel structure with grounding points placed at appropriate intervals, (iii) construction of RCC foundations of prescribed M20/25 grade or higher to support system loads, (iv) installation of building services such as lighting, ventilation and fire safety systems in accordance with applicable regulatory requirements, (v) consecutive numbering of parking spaces and provision of safety and operational signage compliant with DIN EN 14010, ISO 3864 and EN 92/58/EWG standards, and (vi) completion of civil works, roofing, cladding or flooring, as may be required for the particular project.

We have limited control over the quality, timeliness and completeness of such client-side works. Delays, deficiencies or non-compliance in these preparatory activities may postpone our installation and commissioning work and, in some circumstances, may trigger liquidated damages under our contracts, even where such delays are attributable to the client or third parties engaged by the client. Disputes may also arise regarding the attribution of responsibility for delays, particularly where delays result from a combination of factors, which could lead to claims, negotiations or litigation. Further, if clients fail to comply with applicable safety standards and regulatory norms, this may result in safety incidents, operational hazards, regulatory scrutiny or reputational harm, and in some cases, the performance and reliability of our installed systems may be adversely affected. Although such performance deficiencies may arise due to inadequacies in client-side infrastructure, they may nevertheless result in customer dissatisfaction or adverse perceptions of our systems.

Additionally, payment milestones under our contracts are typically linked to project progress and commissioning stages, and therefore delays in client-side preparatory works may defer revenue recognition and adversely impact our cash flows and working capital. Any of these factors could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and reputation.

7. We operate in a highly competitive and fragmented industry with low barriers to entry, and intense competition could result in pricing pressures, loss of market share, and reduced profitability.

We operate in a highly competitive and fragmented industry with relatively low barriers to entry, which allows new players to enter the market easily. We face competition from both organized players with greater financial resources, broader product portfolios, wider geographic presence, or stronger brand recognition, as well as from unorganized and low-cost suppliers who compete primarily on price and may not adhere to comparable quality or regulatory standards. This competitive intensity may result in pricing pressures that require us to reduce our prices or accept lower margins to secure or retain business, including in government tenders and price-sensitive segments. Additionally, emerging technologies and alternative parking solutions introduced by new or technologically advanced competitors may require us to make additional investments to remain competitive. The fragmented nature of the industry also makes market share difficult to sustain, and we may lose customers to competitors offering lower prices, differentiated offerings, or more favorable commercial terms. Further, we may be required to increase our marketing, sales, and service expenditure to maintain or improve our market position, which could adversely impact our profitability. Any inability to effectively compete on pricing, technology or service capabilities could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and market position.

8. Our Company experienced negative cash flows from operating activities during and the financial year ended March 31, 2026. Sustained negative cash flow could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company has reported negative cash flows in the Restated Financial Statements and the same has been summarized below for the periods indicated:

Particulars	For the year ended March 31, 2026	For the year ended March 31, 2025	For the year ended March 31, 2024
Net cash (used in) /from operating activities	(685.84)	402.10	132.96
Net Cash (used in) / from investing activities	(1,254.46)	(1,279.90)	(195.31)
Net Cash (used in)/ from financing activities	1,940.50	884.16	14.81
Net increase/(decrease) in cash and cash equivalent	0.20	6.35	(47.54)

Our Company experienced negative cash flows from operating activities during the Financial Year ended March 31, 2026 amounting to ₹685.84 lakhs. The negative operating cash flow during the Financial Year ended March 31, 2026 was primarily attributable to a higher level of trade receivables, as a significant portion of our order book is derived from government customers, who typically follow longer credit cycles owing to inspection- and approval-based payment processes.

There can be no assurance that our net cash flows shall be positive in the future. Any negative cash flows in the future over extended periods, or significant negative cash flows in the short term, could materially impact our ability to operate our business and implement our growth plans. As a result, our cash flows, business, future financial performance and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. For further details, see “Restated Financial Information” beginning on page 264 of this Prospectus.

9. Our execution track record and scale are limited compared to global players, which could affect our ability to compete for large, complex projects and expand internationally.

We have executed more than 55 projects across India and certain international locations, deploying over 12,000 automated parking spaces. While this demonstrates our capability to design, install, and commission automated parking systems in varied site conditions, our execution history and scale are still evolving when compared to larger global players, Sotefin SA, for example, has executed over 500 projects worldwide and installed more than 40,000 parking spaces across more than 30 countries. The disparity in scale, portfolio depth, and global presence could influence how prospective customers evaluate us, particularly in highly competitive or technically demanding tender processes. Customers, especially institutional or municipal authorities, often place value on extensive execution histories as a proxy for reliability, proven performance, and long-term service capability. Our ability to compete for large and complex projects may also be influenced by the scale of our manufacturing infrastructure. Our current manufacturing facility at Bagnan, West Bengal, comprises approximately 40,000 sq. ft. of built-up space. While sufficient for our present order book, this facility may impose constraints if we are required to execute multiple high-value or large-scale projects simultaneously, or if we are awarded projects with compressed execution timelines. We may need to invest in expanding our manufacturing capacity, upgrading production processes, or establishing additional facilities to meet higher volumes. Such expansions may involve capital expenditure, operational scaling challenges, project management risks, and lead-time constraints.

Additionally, we have limited operational experience in international markets. While we are currently executing projects in Dubai and the United States, our strategic growth plan contemplates expansion into other markets such as the Middle East and South Asia. Entry into new jurisdictions involves inherent risks, including unfamiliar regulatory frameworks, different building and safety standards, varying contracting practices, logistical and supply chain challenges, and the need to develop new vendor and service networks. There can be no assurance that we will be able to replicate our operating model successfully in these markets or secure projects on commercially viable terms. Further, international customers may prefer suppliers with longstanding global presence, local partnerships, or proven after-sales networks. Our relatively smaller scale may also affect our ability to invest in areas critical for long-term competitiveness, such as research and development, technology upgrades, branding, marketing initiatives, and the hiring and retention of senior managerial and technical talent. Larger players may possess greater financial flexibility, stronger procurement bargaining power, wider supplier bases, or the ability to absorb short-term pricing pressures to secure strategic orders. These factors may influence market dynamics, tender outcomes, and customer preferences in ways that could disadvantage us.

If we are unable to strengthen our execution track record, scale our manufacturing and service capabilities, establish a credible presence in targeted international markets, or effectively compete against larger domestic and global players, our ability to win large projects or expand our business may be adversely affected. This could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and growth prospects.

10. We have obtained ISO 9001:2015 certification; however, failure to maintain such certification may adversely affect our business.

Our Company holds ISO 9001:2015 certification for its quality management systems in the name of Sotefin Bharat Limited.

The continued validity of the ISO 9001:2015 certification, as well as our existing international certifications, is subject to the successful completion of periodic surveillance audits, renewal requirements and ongoing compliance with applicable quality standards. Any failure to maintain or renew such certifications, or any delay in completion of the renewal process or updating the certification consequent to the change of name, may affect our eligibility to participate in certain tenders and projects and could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

11. Our business requires us to obtain and renew certain licenses and permits from government and regulatory authorities, and any failure or delay in obtaining or renewing them may adversely affect our operations.

Our business operations require us to obtain and periodically renew various approvals, licenses, registrations, and permits from governmental, regulatory, and other authorities at both national and state levels. These include, among others, certifications and registrations necessary for carrying out specific business activities, which are often subject to numerous conditions and compliance requirements. Failure to obtain, maintain, or renew these approvals and licenses in a timely manner, or any non-compliance with the conditions attached to them, could result in suspension, cancellation, or non-renewal of such authorizations. This could materially and adversely affect our ability to carry on our business activities, thereby impacting our financial condition and results of operations.

Further, both we and our customers may be required to secure regulatory permissions and clearances for the execution of specific projects or development activities. Any delay or failure in obtaining or maintaining such approvals could lead to disruption or postponement of project timelines, adversely affecting our operations and profitability. In addition, some of these approvals are subject to stringent conditions, and compliance may require significant time and expenditure. While we generally apply for renewal of licenses and permits before their expiry, there can be no assurance that such renewals will be granted in a timely manner or at all. Any such failure may have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition, and results of operations. For further details, please refer to the section titled “Government and other Statutory Approvals” on page 298 of this Prospectus.

12. There have been instances of non-compliances and pending adjudication proceedings with the Registrar of Companies in respect of certain corporate actions taken by our Company in the last three years, which may subject us to regulatory actions and penalties.

As disclosed under the section titled “Risk Factors” in this Prospectus (“RHP”), our Company has experienced certain inadvertent procedural lapses and delays in complying with secretarial and statutory requirements under the Companies Act, 2013. These include delays in filing certain statutory forms with the Registrar of Companies. The details of such delayed filings are as follows: (i) Form AOC-4 due on October 23, 2019 was filed on October 28, 2019 with a delay of 5 days; (ii) Form ADT-1 due on October 9, 2019 was filed on October 17, 2019 with a delay of 8 days; (iii) Form CHG-1 due on May 4, 2021 was filed on March 8, 2021 with a delay of 6 days; (iv) Form CHG-1 due on October 20, 2021 was filed on October 27, 2021 with a delay of 7 days; (v) Form CHG-1 due on October 20, 2021 was filed on October 27, 2021 with a delay of 7 days; (vi) Form ADT-1 due on October 7, 2022 was filed on October 14, 2022 with a delay of 7 days; (vii) Form PAS-3 due on July 8, 2024 was filed on July 22, 2024 with a delay of 14 days; (viii) Form CHG-1 due on July 24, 2024 was filed on August 9, 2024 with a delay of 16 days; (ix) Form AOC-4 due on July 29, 2024 was filed on October 3, 2024 with a delay of 66 days; (x) Form MGT-7 due on August 28, 2024 was filed on December 2, 2024 with a delay of 95 days; (xi) Form DPT-3 due on June 30, 2024 was filed on June 29, 2024 with no delay; (xii) Form PAS-3 due on October 2, 2024 was filed on March 29, 2025 with a delay of 178 days; (xiii) Form CHG-1 due on March 1, 2025 was filed on March 25, 2025 with a delay of 24 days; (xiv) Form DIR-12 due on April 2, 2025 was filed on May 5, 2025 with a delay of 33 days; (xv) Form DIR-12 due on May 18, 2025 was filed on August 1, 2025 with a delay of 75 days; (xvi) Form DIR-12 due on June 11, 2025 was filed on June 18, 2025 with a delay of 7 days; (xvii) Form DIR-12 due on June 17, 2025 was filed on August 4, 2025 with a delay of 48 days; (xviii) Form ADT-1 due on July 14, 2024 was filed on November 22, 2024 with a delay of 129 days; and (xix) Form MGT-14 due on October 3, 2025 was filed on October 16, 2025 with a delay of 13 days. All such filings have since been duly completed with the payment of applicable additional fees. Further, the Company has filed suo motu adjudication applications, wherever required, before the Registrar of Companies, West Bengal at Kolkata for regularisation of the aforesaid delays. As on the date of this RHP, such adjudication proceedings are pending, and no final orders have been passed. There can be no assurance as to the outcome of such proceedings or the quantum of penalties, if any, that may be imposed; any adverse order may result in monetary penalties and increased regulatory scrutiny, which could adversely impact the Company's reputation, business operations and financial condition.

13. We depend on a small team of key technical and management personnel, and the loss of key personnel or our inability to attract and retain qualified employees could adversely affect our operations.

As of March 31, 2026, we had approximately 147 employees, including 4 personnel in design, 8 personnel in civil engineering, and 25 personnel in electrical and controls functions. Our operations are significantly dependent on a relatively small core team of technical, project management, and senior management personnel who possess specialized knowledge relating to automated parking systems, robotics, engineering, and system integration. The loss of any key personnel, including senior management, technical specialists, or experienced project managers, could disrupt ongoing projects, impair our execution capabilities, and adversely affect our ability to secure new business opportunities or effectively implement our strategic initiatives. Our staffing levels in critical functions such as design and civil engineering are limited, which exposes us to operational vulnerabilities, succession planning risks, and dependence on individuals with niche technical expertise. The automated parking and robotics sector requires specialized competencies that may not be readily available in the domestic labor market, and recruitment and training of new personnel with the required skill sets may be time-consuming and costly. Further, to support execution across our current and future order book of ₹53,439.85 lakhs as on March 31, 2026, we will be required to expand our workforce, and there can be no assurance that we will be able to attract and retain sufficiently qualified personnel in a timely manner.

We may also face competition for skilled personnel from larger companies, multinational corporations, or technology-oriented businesses that may offer more competitive compensation structures or greater career development opportunities. While certain employees are engaged under employment terms that include confidentiality and non-solicitation obligations, we do not have long notice periods or restrictive covenants such as non-compete clauses in all cases. As a result, such personnel could leave our Company and potentially join competitors or establish competing businesses, which may result in the loss of technical knowledge, customer relationships, or proprietary know-how.

Details of our attrition rates for the last three Fiscals are set out in the table below:

Particulars	Fiscal 2026	Fiscal 2025	Fiscal 2024
Average headcount	103	116	76
Attrition rate (%)	21.36	9.52	38.41

If we are unable to retain existing employees or recruit qualified personnel in line with our growth requirements, our ability to execute projects, expand operations, and compete effectively may be adversely affected, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

14. Our Company has entered into certain related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future.

Our Company has entered into related party transactions with our Promoters, Directors, and Group Entities. While we believe that all such transactions have been conducted on an arm's length basis and in compliance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable laws, there can be no assurance that similar transactions could not have been undertaken on more favorable terms had they been entered into with unrelated parties. Our Company may continue to enter into related party transactions in the ordinary course of business in the future.

The following table sets forth the aggregate value of related party transactions entered into by our Company and such transactions as a percentage of our revenue from operations for the periods indicated:

Particulars	March 31, 2026		March 31, 2025		March 31, 2024
	₹ in lakhs	% of Revenue from operations	₹ in lakhs	% of Revenue from operations	₹ in lakhs	% of Revenue from operations
Aggregate value of related party transactions	982.70	8.42%	1,609.96	17.17%	1,948.67	34.62%

There is no assurance that such transactions, individually or collectively, will not have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, or prospects. For further details, please refer to the section titled “Restated Financial Information – Note 33 – Restated Related Party Transactions” on page RF22 & 23 of this Prospectus.

15. There are certain instances of delays in payment of statutory dues. Any delay in payment of statutory dues or non-payment of statutory dues in dispute may attract financial penalties from the respective government authorities, which may have an adverse impact on our financial condition and cash flows.

Our Company is required to pay certain statutory dues in relation to our Company's employees including the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 and professional taxes. The table below sets out details of the delays in statutory dues payable by our Company for the periods indicated:

There has been some delay in filing goods and service tax and taxes deducted or collected at source, and it has been rectified by filing the respective returns with late fees and applicable interest as mandated by respective law / act.

The delay in payment of the aforesaid statutory dues were on account of oversight by the accounts team and an administrative overview, however the same has been subsequently paid. The Company is taking steps to adhere to the timelines and to ensure that such delays do not take place in the future. The Company has also implemented internal controls to track the compliances required, due dates and the actual date of compliances on a regular basis to ensure such delays are prevented in future. There can be no assurance that such delays may not arise in future. This may lead to financial penalties from respective government authorities which may have a material adverse impact on our financial condition and cash flows.

16. There are outstanding legal proceedings involving our Company, Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management Personnel. Any adverse outcome in such legal proceedings may adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

*The original demand was for ₹35,29,510, which is reflected on the GST portal. On March 31, 2025, the Company paid ₹28,646 towards the GST claim, thereby reducing the demand to ₹35,00,864. As on the date of this Prospectus, the GST portal continues to show the original demand of ₹35,00,864.

 Our Independent Directors, Sitaram Janardan Kunte, and Durga Shanker Mishra have been named in certain court cases solely due to their holding senior government positions at the relevant time. These cases primarily relate to administrative, or service matters handled by government departments. There are no personal claims against Sitaram Kunte and Durga Shanker Mishra in any of these cases, and any financial liability, if involved, rests solely with the State Government. Their inclusion in such matters as pro forma parties is solely in their official capacity as government officeholders at the relevant time.

Further, except as disclosed in “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments” on page 293. We do not have any other pending litigations against our Company, Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management Personnel.

If any of any future litigations are decided against our Company, we may need to make provisions in our financial statements that could increase our expenses and current liabilities. In this regard, we may be subject to penalties and regulatory actions including the suspension of our business. There can be no assurance that these litigations will be decided in favour of our Company or in the favour of our Promoter or Directors and such proceedings may divert management time and attention and consume financial resources in their defence or prosecution. An adverse outcome in any of these proceedings may affect our reputation, standing and future business, and could have an adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

17. The Company is yet to place orders for the machineries and equipment for our proposed object, as specified in the Objects of the Issue. Any delay in placing orders, procurement of machineries and equipment may delay our implementation schedule and may also lead to increase in price of these machineries and equipment, further affecting our revenue and profitability.

As of the date of this Prospectus, we have not yet finalized vendors, issued purchase orders, or entered into definitive agreements for the procurement of the machineries and equipment proposed to be funded from the Net Proceeds. The procurement process involves identification of suppliers, negotiation of technical and commercial terms, confirmation of specifications, and scheduling of delivery and installation. Any delay in completing these steps may result in postponement of the implementation timeline for the proposed project. Additionally, the prices of industrial machinery, equipment and related components are subject to fluctuations due to changes in raw material costs, foreign exchange rates, supply chain disruptions, freight costs and vendor capacity constraints. If we are unable to place orders within the expected timeframe, we may face cost escalations or longer delivery lead times, which may require additional funding or result in overruns relative to the budget set out in the Objects of the Issue.

Delays in delivery, installation or commissioning of the required machinery may postpone our commercial operations under the proposed project, which could impact our ability to generate the expected revenue within the projected timelines. Any such delay or cost increase may adversely affect our business operations, financial condition and profitability. Additionally, delays may arise due to factors beyond our control, including changes in regulatory requirements, delays in obtaining approvals, vendor performance issues, force majeure events or unforeseen technical challenges during installation or commissioning.

Further, any deviation from the estimated cost or timeline of the proposed project may adversely affect investor perception and may require us to re-prioritise or defer other capital expenditure plans. There can be no assurance that the proposed project will be implemented within the estimated timelines or cost parameters, or that it will generate the anticipated returns.

18. Our business model requires significant working capital, and we may face liquidity challenges in funding ongoing operations and executing on our order book.

We operate primarily on a project execution model with payment milestones linked to various stages of project progress. Our customers are predominantly institutional clients, including government bodies and private developers, and our contractual arrangements typically require us to incur substantial upfront costs towards procurement of materials, manufacturing, labour, and installation before corresponding payments are received from customers. This results in significant working capital requirements and exposes us to cash flow timing risks. Payments from government and public sector clients are generally subject to longer credit periods, inspection formalities, and administrative approvals, which may result in delays in receipt of payments. Further, delays in achieving project milestones, customer disputes regarding certification of work performed, or delays in project handovers could extend our working capital cycle and adversely affect our liquidity position.

The execution of our current order book of approximately ₹53,439.85 lakhs as on March 31, 2026, as well as our ability to undertake new projects, depends significantly on the availability of adequate working capital. Rapid expansion in our business may also lead to increased working capital requirements, and we may be required to raise additional financing to support our operations. There can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain such financing on commercially acceptable terms, in a timely manner, or at all. In the event of tightening credit conditions, deterioration of our financial performance, or changes in banking policies, our ability to secure working capital facilities could be further constrained. Working capital pressures may force us to delay project execution, renegotiate terms with suppliers, or forgo business opportunities, which could adversely affect our growth. As of March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, our working capital requirement was as follows:

		(₹ in Lakhs)
Particulars		March 31, 2026	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024
Working capital requirement		7,068.80	4,265.55	3,339.55
Revenue from		11,674.65	9,377.66	5,628.33

operations
As a % of revenue from operations	60.55%	45.49%	59.33%

Any inability to effectively manage our working capital cycle or secure necessary working capital financing could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, liquidity, and our ability to pursue our growth strategy. For further details, see “Restated Financial Information” on page 264.

19. We are required to furnish financial and performance bank guarantees and letter of credits as part of our business. Our inability to arrange such guarantees and/or letters of credit may adversely affect our cash flows and financial condition.

We are typically required to provide financial and performance bank guarantees in favour of our clients, for the projects undertaken by us, to secure our financial/performance obligations under the respective contracts and we have to provide financial bank guarantees and/or letter of credit to satisfy payment obligations to suppliers and sub-contractors. In the last three (3) financial years, our Company has been able to furnish bank guarantees and letter of credit as and when the need has arisen. However, we may be unable to obtain financial and performance bank guarantees and letter of credit, required to commensurate with our business operations in future. If we are unable to provide sufficient collateral to secure the financial bank guarantees, performance bank guarantees or letters of credit to financial institutions, our ability to bid for new projects, execute existing projects or obtain adequate materials could be limited and it could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and our financial condition. For further details, please see “Restated Financial Information –Note no 34 - Contingent Liabilities” on page RF23.

20. We are dependent on our sub-contractors to perform various portions of the contracts awarded to us. Such dependency exposes us to certain risks such as availability and performance of our sub-contractors.

In the execution of our automated car parking system projects, we typically subcontract certain civil and related works, including excavation, structural foundations, electrical cabling and site preparation, to third-party contractors. This subcontracting model allows us to focus on our core competencies in car parking system design, manufacturing, commissioning and installation. However, our reliance on subcontractors exposes us to risks associated with their operational performance, financial stability, availability of skilled manpower and technical capabilities. Any inability of subcontractors to mobilize resources in a timely manner, adhere to agreed project schedules or comply with required technical specifications may lead to delays in project execution, cost overruns or the need to engage alternate contractors at higher costs.

Further, we exercise limited control over the day-to-day operations and internal processes of our subcontractors. Any deficiencies in workmanship, non-compliance with safety standards, labour laws or other applicable regulations, or disputes with subcontractors may adversely affect the timely completion of projects and could expose us to contractual claims, liquidated damages or reputational risks.

In addition, escalation in subcontracting costs or termination of subcontract arrangements could impact our margins and disrupt project timelines, which may have an adverse effect on our business operations, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

21. Disclosures made in the chapter “Promoter and Promoter Group” are limited to the information available in public domain.

Disclosures made in the chapter “Promoter and Promoter Group” are limited to the information available in the public domain. As per the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 (“SEBI ICDR Regulations”), we are required to disclose immediate relatives of our promoters and their related entities as part of the Promoter Group. Mr. Alope Choudhuri (brother of Mr. Arup Choudhuri, one of our promoters) and Ms. Mona Manish Desai (sister-in-law of Mr. Jignesh Sanghavi, one of our promoters) have expressed their unwillingness to be identified as part of the Promoter Group of our Company or to provide any information in this regard to our Company. On the basis of such unwillingness, our Company made an application dated July 25, 2025 to SEBI under Regulation 300(1)(c) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations seeking exemption from disclosing these connected persons, in terms of Regulation 2(1)(pp)(ii) and (iv) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, and including their information and confirmations in the Draft Red Herring Prospectus. SEBI, vide its letter dated November 03, 2025, has rejected our application and directed us to classify and disclose the aforesaid individuals and any entities they may be interested in as members of the Promoter Group in the Offer Documents, and to make all applicable disclosures based on information available in the public domain.

As on date, details of such immediate relatives and other promoter group entities are limited to the information available from public sources and the websites of certain government authorities including, among others, Watchout Investors, CIBIL, BSE Limited, National Stock Exchange of India Limited, and the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, in order to comply with the requirements of the SEBI ICDR Regulations. For more details, please refer to the chapter “Promoter and Promoter Group”.

22. Our automated parking systems are subject to compliance with multiple international and domestic technical and safety standards, and any failure to maintain compliance could result in penalties, project rejections, or legal liabilities.

Our automated parking systems are required to comply with various international and domestic standards, including, among others, DIN EN ISO 12944-2, DIN EN 60204 (Safety of Machinery – Electrical Equipment), DIN EN 14010, ISO 3864, EN 92/58/EWG and the EU Machinery Directive 2006/42/EC. Compliance with these standards is essential for us to participate in tenders, and maintain the certifications required for our operations. Failure to comply with applicable safety, mechanical, electrical, or installation standards, whether due to design lapses, manufacturing errors, or non-conformance in project execution, could result in imposition of contractual penalties, termination of ongoing contracts, or disqualification from future tenders, particularly in the government and institutional sectors.

Further, regulatory standards applicable to automated parking systems continue to evolve, and changes in existing requirements or introduction of more stringent safety, documentation, testing, or certification mandates may require us to undertake additional design modifications, upgrade manufacturing processes, or incur incremental compliance costs. For international projects, we may also be required to comply with jurisdiction-specific requirements, which may differ from or conflict with standards followed in India, increasing the complexity and cost of compliance. We have obtained CE certification (TÜV) and TÜV certification confirming compliance with the EU Machinery Directive 2006/42/EC, which are valid until January 2030, and maintaining these certifications requires continual adherence to prescribed standards, periodic audits, inspections, and recertification. Any failure to maintain or renew these certifications could adversely affect our eligibility to participate in certain projects.

Additionally, any product malfunction, operational failure, or safety incident at customer sites could lead to regulatory scrutiny, legal claims, compensation liabilities, reputational damage, and loss of customer confidence. Compliance with multiple standards across jurisdictions also requires specialized personnel, robust documentation, and continuous monitoring of regulatory developments. If we fail to comply with applicable standards or are unable to adapt to changes in regulatory requirements in a timely and cost-effective manner, it could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, competitiveness, and reputation.

23. Our plans to diversify into adjacent verticals such as automated storage and retrieval systems involve significant execution risks and uncertainties, and any failure in these diversification efforts could adversely affect our financial performance and strategic focus.

We intend to leverage our technical capabilities to enter adjacent sectors including automated storage and retrieval solutions. These ventures will require investments in product development, manufacturing capacity, marketing and service capabilities, and we currently have limited experience and no established track record in these businesses. The market dynamics, customer requirements and regulatory environment in these sectors differ from our existing parking systems business, and there can be no assurance regarding the commercial viability, market acceptance or profitability of these new products. Diversification may also divert management attention and operational resources from our core business. Further, established competitors in these segments may have larger scale, greater financial strength or longer operating experience. As of the date of this Prospectus, we have not generated any revenue from these proposed business lines. If these diversification efforts do not achieve the anticipated results, it may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

24. There may be a delay in listing of our Equity Shares, or our Equity Shares may not be listed at all, which could adversely affect the liquidity of our Equity Shares and the ability of investors to trade in our Equity Shares.

Pursuant to this Issue, we have applied for the listing of our Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges and have received in-principle approvals from the Stock Exchanges on March 27, 2026. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the listing and commencement of trading of our Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges remains subject to, inter alia, receipt of all other requisite approvals, permissions and clearances, completion of all applicable formalities within the prescribed timelines, and compliance with applicable laws, regulations and guidelines.

There can be no assurance that the remaining approvals, permissions or clearances will be obtained in a timely manner or at all. Any delay or failure in obtaining such approvals or in completing the required formalities may result in a delay in the listing of our Equity Shares or may prevent the listing altogether. In the event of any such delay or non-listing, investors may not be able to sell, trade or otherwise transfer their Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges, which may adversely affect the liquidity and market price of our Equity Shares and could result in losses to investors.

25. We have commissioned and paid for the industry report used in this Prospectus, and investors should exercise caution in relying on such data as it may contain inherent inaccuracies or biases.

Unless otherwise indicated, the industry and market data presented in this Prospectus, particularly in the Business chapter, has been sourced from the report titled “Industry Report on Automated Parking System” dated June 2, 2026 (the “D&B Report”) prepared by Dun & Bradstreet (“D&B”), which was commissioned and paid for by our Company specifically for the purposes of the Issue. The D&B Report contains estimates of market size, industry trends, growth forecasts, and competitive analysis based on secondary data sources, research methodologies, and certain assumptions. Industry publications and market reports are based on information available at the time of preparation and may contain assumptions or judgments that are subject to limitations, data gaps, or interpretation differences. Since the D&B Report has been commissioned by us, we cannot assure investors that the information or conclusions contained in it are fully independent or free from bias. Further, the report may rely on macroeconomic assumptions, technology adoption forecasts, and market behavior patterns that may not materialize. Actual industry performance, competitive dynamics, regulatory developments, technological changes, and customer preferences may differ significantly from the projections included in the D&B Report. As a result, the market position, growth prospects, and industry opportunity for our Company as presented in this Prospectus may differ from actual future outcomes.

Additionally, our business strategy, capacity expansion plans, and growth projections are formulated in part with reference to the estimates and forecasts contained in the D&B Report. If these underlying assumptions prove to be inaccurate or industry conditions evolve differently, our growth plans and financial performance may be adversely affected. Investors should therefore not place undue reliance on the industry data contained in the D&B Report and are advised to independently evaluate market developments and risks before making an investment decision. For further details, see “Industry Overview” on page 141.

26. The market for automated parking systems in India is still at a developing stage, and any slower-than-anticipated adoption of such systems could adversely affect our business prospects, growth, financial condition and results of operations.

The automated parking systems market in India is influenced by urbanization trends, increasing vehicle density, scarcity of developable land in metropolitan areas, and growing interest in automation-led infrastructure solutions. While these factors provide a favorable backdrop for the adoption of automated parking systems, actual market penetration depends on several external elements, including real estate development activity, infrastructure spending, government priorities in urban planning, and customer awareness and willingness to adopt automated solutions over conventional parking formats. Market adoption may be slower than projected if real estate developers, municipal authorities, or other institutional customers perceive automated parking systems to involve higher upfront capital costs relative to conventional alternatives. In particular, price sensitivity in certain customer segments, lack of familiarity with automated systems, safety or reliability concerns, or preference for traditional parking layouts may act as barriers to adoption. Periods of economic slowdown, contraction in real estate activity, delays in municipal spending, or tightening credit conditions may also adversely affect capital expenditure on infrastructure projects, thereby affecting demand for automated parking systems.

Government policies and regulatory frameworks play an important role in influencing demand. A shift in priorities relating to Smart City initiatives, urban mobility programs, budgetary allocations for municipal infrastructure, or incentives for technology-led urban planning could either accelerate or constrain market growth. Additionally, competition from alternative parking solutions, including multi-level mechanical parking structures, conventional parking facilities, valet-managed parking systems, and evolving mobility models such as ride-sharing, may limit the addressable market for automated parking systems. We are also exploring adjacent verticals such as automated storage and retrieval systems and automated electric vehicle charging solutions; however, these markets are at a nascent stage and may have different adoption challenges, competitive dynamics, and regulatory requirements. Our ability to successfully diversify will therefore depend on market maturity, technology acceptance, and customer willingness to adopt new automation-based solutions.

According to the D&B Report, the global automated parking systems market in India is expected to grow at a CAGR of approximately 12%–18% during 2023–2030. However, actual market growth may vary from such projections due to the factors described above. If market adoption is slower than anticipated, it could have a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and growth prospects. For further details, see “Industry Overview” on page 141.

27. We may not be able to utilise the installed capacity at our manufacturing facility as expected, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition .

Our business is capital intensive and depends significantly on the efficient utilisation of the installed capacity at our manufacturing facility. Our manufacturing facility has recently commenced operations and therefore we have limited operating history with respect to production levels and capacity utilisation at this facility. Consequently, there can be no assurance that we will be able to ramp up production and achieve optimal capacity utilisation levels within the expected timeframe or at all.

Our ability to effectively utilise our installed capacity will depend on several factors, many of which may be beyond our control, including demand for our products, our ability to obtain and execute orders, availability and timely procurement of raw materials, uninterrupted availability of power and other utilities, availability of skilled labour, operational efficiencies, maintenance requirements, regulatory approvals, supply chain disruptions, and other unforeseen circumstances.

If we are unable to generate sufficient demand for our products or face operational or supply chain constraints, our manufacturing facility may operate below its installed capacity. Any under-utilisation of our installed capacity could result in higher fixed costs per unit of production, which may adversely affect our operating margins, profitability, and cash flows. In addition, our ability to achieve economies of scale may be adversely affected.

The details of our installed capacity and capacity utilisation for the periods set out below are provided for reference:

Particulars	Car Spaces per Annum
-------------	----------------------

Optimum Manufacturing Capacity	10,000
Present Installed Structural and Fabrication Capacity	4,000#

#As certified by the Chartered Engineer vide certificate dated December 15, 2025.

Any inability to effectively manage our installed capacity or to improve capacity utilisation levels may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

28. Our revenue is geographically concentrated in major Indian metropolitan cities, and adverse developments in these regions could adversely affect our business.

We have executed projects across major Indian metropolitan cities including Delhi, Kolkata, Mumbai, Pune, Varanasi and Trivandrum, with limited international presence.

Our geographical concentration of revenue for the financial years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024 are as follows:

Particulars	Financial Year ended March 31, 2026		Financial Year ended March 31, 2025		Financial Year ended March 31, 2024
	Revenue (₹ in lakhs)	% of revenue from operations	Revenue (₹ in lakhs)	% of revenue from operations	Revenue (₹ in lakhs)	% of revenue from operations
Mumbai	9,637.12	82.55%	5,320.79	56.74%	1,876.61	33.34%
Delhi	1,657.05	14.19%	3,033.80	32.35%	2,721.19	48.35%
Kolkata	11.53	0.10%	36.85	0.39%	236.15	4.20%
Export	1.72	0.01%	962.31	10.26%	603.75	10.73%
Trivandrum	4.32	0.04%	4.31	0.05%	4.20	0.07%
Pune	69.73	0.60%	19.60	0.21%	186.43	3.31%
Varanasi	293.18	2.51%	-	-	-	-
Total	11,674.65	100.00%	9,377.66	100.00%	5,628.33	100.00%

Accordingly, any slowdown in economic activity, real estate development, infrastructure spending, or adverse regulatory or policy developments in these key markets may disproportionately affect our business and financial performance.

Our geographic concentration limits diversification benefits and exposes us to region-specific risks, including local economic conditions, political or administrative changes, and industry-specific developments. While we intend to expand our presence in new domestic and international markets including the Middle East, South Asia and the United States, we have limited operating history and experience in these geographies. Our ability to successfully grow in new markets will depend on our understanding of local regulations, customer behavior, competitive dynamics, and ability to establish effective project execution and service capabilities.

If we are unable to successfully diversify our geographic presence or if adverse conditions arise in our key existing markets, our business, financial condition, results of operations and growth prospects may be materially adversely affected.

29. Our insurance coverage may be inadequate to protect us against all potential losses, which could expose us to significant liabilities.

While we have obtained insurance policies covering buildings, plant and machinery, inventories, vehicles, and project sites, our insurance coverage may not be adequate to protect us against all potential risks. As of the dates indicated, our insurance coverage includes Medclaim – Group Health Insurance (sum assured of ₹250.50 lakhs; premium of ₹12,60,663.62), Group Personal Accident (₹2,899.81 lakhs; ₹1,42,029.52), Employee Compensation Policy (₹45.90 lakhs; ₹8,850), Marine Policy (Inland and Import) (₹500.00 lakhs each; ₹8,850 each), Fire Insurance (₹269.57 lakhs; ₹1,890.36), and Stock Insurance (₹4,249.00 lakhs; ₹190,924).

Our operations are subject to risks including equipment malfunction, property damage, workplace accidents, fire, natural disasters, and other unforeseen events, and our insurance policies may contain exclusions, sub-limits, deductibles, conditions, or coverage restrictions that may result in claims not being fully covered. Further, product liability insurance and professional indemnity insurance may not be sufficient to cover liabilities arising from system failures, engineering defects, accidents, or injuries. Certain policies, such as the Bharat Griha Raksha policy with a sum assured of ₹1.00 lakh, may not be adequate to cover material losses. Insurance premiums may increase upon renewal, policy terms may become more restrictive, and there can be no assurance that insurance coverage will be available on commercially acceptable terms in the future or that claims will be settled in a timely manner.

If we incur losses that are uninsured, under-insured, or subject to delayed recovery, it could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

30. Our Company imports components which are denominated in foreign currency. Any significant fluctuation in exchange rates may adversely impact profitability.

We import certain components, equipment and technical services, including from Sotefin SA, which are denominated in foreign currencies. Consequently, any adverse movement in foreign exchange rates may increase our procurement costs and impact our operating margins, especially where the terms of our contracts do not permit us to pass on such increased costs to our customers. Currently, our Company does not manage its exposure through any hedging arrangements. Further, we do not presently intend to enter into hedging arrangements in the foreseeable future. Further, any delay in project execution or payment cycles may widen the gap between the exchange rate at the time of order and at the time of payment, resulting in additional forex impact. Volatility in currency markets could therefore have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

31. Our business growth is closely linked to the demand from the real estate and infrastructure sectors. Any downturn in these sectors due to economic, regulatory, or financial factors may directly impact order inflows.

Our business is closely linked to the performance, growth cycles and investment patterns in the real estate and infrastructure sectors, particularly in urban commercial, residential, and mixed-use developments. Any slowdown in these sectors due to economic conditions, interest rate fluctuations, regulatory changes, liquidity constraints, delays in project approvals or funding challenges faced by developers may reduce demand for automated parking systems and delay new project orders. Further, project deferments or cancellations by real estate developers could affect our order pipeline and revenue recognition. Any prolonged downturn in the real estate or infrastructure sectors may therefore materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. While no such instance has taken place till date, we cannot assure that such as instance will not occur in future.

32. Trade receivables and Inventories form a substantial part of our current assets and net worth. Failure to manage the same could have an adverse effect on our net sales, profitability, cash flow and liquidity.

Our business is working capital intensive and hence, trade receivables and inventories form a substantial part of our current assets and net worth. As at March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, our trade receivables stood at ₹7,512.99 lakhs, ₹5,613.38 lakhs, and ₹3,679.55 lakhs, respectively, while our inventories as at the respective dates stood at ₹912.37 lakhs, ₹854.53 lakhs, and ₹515.38 lakhs, respectively.

Given that majority of our clients are government agencies, the default risk is minimal. However, in order to keep things running smoothly, we must closely monitor our clients' timely payments. If our management does not properly and promptly receive payments from our clients or if our payments are excessively delayed, it could cause liquidity crisis, which could increase the amount of working capital borrowed and, in turn, raise the cost of financing, which would have a negative effect on our profitability.

Further, our dependency on government agencies exposes us to potential risks stemming from changes in government policies and regulations. Any change in government policy could result in delays or cancellations of existing projects, thereby affecting our revenue streams. Additionally, alterations in funding allocation or budgetary constraints of government agencies may influence their ability to make timely payments for our services, potentially leading to liquidity challenges for our Company.

The Company's inventory mainly includes steel structures, electromechanical components, and robots. Maintaining such inventory levels requires significant working capital, which may exert pressure on our financial resources. Further, high inventory levels expose us to risks of material deterioration over time, obsolescence, slow-moving stock and potential write-downs.

Our operating performance is closely linked to how well we manage our inventory levels. Effective inventory control requires accurate forecasting of customer demand and supply needs, followed by timely production. Any incorrect assessment of demand could negatively affect our business by resulting in either product shortages or excess stock accumulation. Additionally, if we are unable to sell the inventory produced, we may need to write down such inventory or continue to meet payment obligations towards suppliers without corresponding sales or rely on extended vendor financing. These situations could adversely affect our profitability and cash flows.

33. Any future deterioration in diplomatic or trade relations between India and Switzerland could adversely affect our business.

We import patented dolly (robot) from Sotefin SA, Switzerland that is integral to our manufacturing operations. Our dependence on Swiss import exposes us to geopolitical and diplomatic risks that are beyond our control. Any deterioration in the bilateral relations between India and Switzerland, whether due to political, economic, regulatory, or other reasons, could result in adverse trade policies, increased tariffs, import restrictions, sanctions, delays in customs clearance, or other non-tariff barriers, all of which may materially impact our ability to procure these essential inputs in a timely and cost-effective manner.

Such a situation may also lead to challenges in maintaining existing relationship, renegotiating contracts, or entering into new agreements with Sotefin SA, Switzerland. In addition, any uncertainty or instability in cross-border relations could lead to increased costs in the form of higher logistics expenses, insurance premiums, or the need to secure alternate sources of supply, which may not meet our quality standards or may take significant time and cost to qualify.

While we actively monitor geopolitical developments and maintain contingency inventory levels where feasible, there can be no assurance that such measures will sufficiently mitigate the risks associated with a potential breakdown in India-Switzerland diplomatic or trade relations. Any such disruption may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

34. Our complex product solutions may be prone to technical errors or bugs, which could negatively impact our customer relationships and financial performance.

Automation solution requires technical and software support which are complex in nature which may contain certain coding, configuration or any other technical errors and defects when installed at customers' manufacturing facility. Our products in the past three financial years have not experienced such coding, configuration and/ or any other technical errors and defects. However, there may not be any guarantee of non-occurrence of such events in future. Delivery of automation solution with defects or reliability, quality or compatibility problems could significantly delay or hinder acceptance of the product or result in a costly rework and could damage our reputation. Additionally, as our automation solutions increasingly incorporate advanced technologies such as robotics, sensors, and AI-driven control systems, the complexity and risk of technical failures, integration issues, and software malfunctions rise substantially. Robotic systems deployed in manufacturing environments are highly sensitive to coding errors, calibration inaccuracies, and hardware-software interoperability challenges. Any failure in robotic components or automation processes could disrupt customers' production lines, leading to operational downtime, contractual penalties, and potential claims for damages.

Moreover, rapid technological advancements in robotics and automation require continuous updates and upgrades to maintain performance, reliability, and compliance with industry standards. Failure to keep pace with these developments may result in product obsolescence or reduced competitiveness. Additionally, these systems may be exposed to cybersecurity vulnerabilities, which could compromise functionality and data integrity, further impacting customer trust and our reputation. Collectively, these risks could adversely affect our business operations, financial condition, and growth prospects.

35. Our business is exposed to intellectual property risks arising from potential unauthorized disclosure, misuse or infringement of our core designs and technology, which could weaken our competitive advantage and adversely affect our operational and financial performance.

Our operations rely on proprietary designs, engineering drawings, technical processes, software, know-how, and other intellectual property (“IP”) developed internally or provided by technology partners. As part of our business, employees, consultants, suppliers, contractors and customers may have access to certain confidential information, design specifications or proprietary technology. Despite internal controls, confidentiality arrangements and information-security practices, we cannot fully eliminate the risk of unauthorized disclosure, copying, reverse-engineering, misuse or misappropriation of such IP. We may also face challenges in monitoring and enforcing our IP rights due to operational scale, the involvement of multiple third parties across locations, and the inherent difficulty in detecting and proving infringement. If third parties including competitors, former employees, vendors or subcontractors, use, reproduce or commercialize our proprietary designs or technology without authorization, we may lose the competitive advantage derived from such IP. Additionally, defending our IP rights may require substantial time and financial resources, and the outcome of enforcement actions is uncertain.

On the contrary, we may face claims from third parties alleging that our products, technology, systems or processes infringe their intellectual property rights. Any such claims, even if ultimately unsuccessful, could result in litigation costs, reputational harm, diversion of management attention, or disruption to our business. An adverse judgment could require us to redesign products, obtain licenses on commercially unfavourable terms, pay damages or cease using certain technology. Any unauthorized disclosure, loss of confidentiality, infringement or IP-related disputes could adversely affect our business operations, growth prospects, competitive position and financial performance.

36. Dependence on technological advancement in the automated parking industry; any inability to adapt to emerging technologies or changing customer preferences could render our solutions less competitive and affect our business performance.

The automated parking industry is characterized by continual technological developments, including advancements in automation systems, sensors, control software, mechanical components, safety features, user-interface systems, energy efficiency and integration with smart-city platforms. Our ability to remain competitive depends on our capacity to monitor technological trends, upgrade our existing systems, and introduce improved solutions that meet evolving customer expectations and regulatory requirements. As market preferences shift toward more advanced, integrated and digitally enabled parking solutions, we may be required to invest in research and development, acquire new technology, collaborate with technology partners or update our existing product lines. These initiatives may involve significant costs, uncertain outcomes and extended development cycles. If we are unable to implement such upgrades in a timely or cost-effective manner, our offerings may become less attractive compared to competing technologies.

Moreover, rapid technological changes may result in shorter lifecycle for existing products, requiring more frequent innovation. Failure to anticipate emerging trends, delays in deploying updated technology, or inability to meet customer expectations including expectations relating to automation efficiency, safety, remote monitoring, software capabilities or integration with third-party systems may adversely impact our ability to secure new projects or maintain existing customer relationships. If competing technologies become more efficient, cost-effective or widely adopted, or if customers prefer new formats of automated parking solutions, our market position, growth prospects, revenue generation and overall business performance may be adversely affected.

37. Our funding requirements and proposed deployment of the Net Proceeds of the Issue have not been appraised by a bank or a financial institution, and the proposed utilization of Net Proceeds is based on, amongst others, our current business plan and management estimates, and if there are any delays or cost overruns, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

We intend to use the Net Proceeds of the Fresh Issue for the purposes described in “Objects of the Issue” beginning on page 98 of this Prospectus. The objects of the Issue and deployment of funds have not been appraised by any external agency or any bank or financial institution or any other independent agency. The proposed deployment of Net Proceeds includes funding working capital requirements, which is based on management estimates and certain assumptions and certified by SK Patodia & Associates, Independent Chartered Accountants by way of their certificate dated June 25, 2026. Our business requires significant working capital, and the actual amount of our future working capital requirements may differ from estimates as a result of, among other factors, unanticipated expenses, economic conditions, growth in revenue, changes in the terms of our financing arrangements, additional market developments, and other external factors which may not be within the control of our management. Any delay in the Issue may impact the funding of our working capital requirements, and adversely affect our business, operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Our Company, in accordance with the policies established by the Board from time to time, will have flexibility to deploy Net Proceeds. Further, pending utilization of Net Proceeds towards the Objects of the Issue, our Company will have the flexibility to deploy the Net Proceeds and to deposit the Net Proceeds temporarily in deposits with one or more scheduled commercial banks included in Second Schedule of Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, as may be approved by our Board. Accordingly, prospective investors in the Issue will need to rely upon our management’s judgment with respect to the use of Net Proceeds.

38. We have in this Prospectus included certain non-GAAP financial measures and certain other industry measures related to our operations and financial performance. These non-GAAP measures and industry measures may vary from any standard methodology that is applicable across the industry and therefore may not be comparable with financial or industry related statistical information of similar nomenclature computed and presented by other companies.

Certain non-GAAP financial measures, viz., Net Asset Value per Equity Share, EBITDA, EBITDA Margin, Net Profit After Tax, Net Profit Margin, Days Working Capital, Return on Capital Employed, Debt to Equity Ratio, Return on Net Worth and Net Worth, and certain other industry measures relating to our operations and financial performance have been included in this Prospectus. We compute and disclose such non-GAAP financial measures and such other industry related statistical information relating to our operations and financial performance as we consider such information to be useful measures of our business and financial performance, and because such measures are frequently used by securities analysts, investors and others to evaluate the operational performance of companies in the automation industry, many of which provide such non-GAAP financial measures and other industry related statistical and operational information. Such supplemental financial and operational information is therefore of limited utility as an analytical tool, and investors are cautioned against considering such information either in isolation or as a substitute for an analysis of our audited financial statements as reported under applicable accounting standards disclosed elsewhere in this Prospectus.

These non-GAAP financial measures and such other industry related statistical and other information relating to our operations and financial performance may not be computed on the basis of any standard methodology that is applicable across the industry and therefore may not be comparable to financial measures and industry related statistical information of similar nomenclature that may be computed and presented by other companies. For further information, please refer to the chapter titled “Management’s Discussions and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operation” beginning on page 267 of this Prospectus.

39. We have certain contingent liabilities, and if any of these liabilities materialize, our financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

The order also levied interest aggregating to ₹15.08 lakhs (₹7.54 lakhs each under CGST and SGST) and a penalty of 10% amounting to ₹1.01 lakhs (under CGST and SGST). Appeal against the said order was filed on March 20, 2025 and an amount of ₹13.37 lakhs has been deposited with the appellate authority.

The Company has availed benefit of free transferable duty credit scripts under EPCG Scheme of Central Government on procurement of Capital Goods. The Company expects to meet its export obligations in future years

If any of these contingent liabilities crystallize against us, our financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected. For further details, please refer to “Restated Financial Information – Note 34 – Contingent Liabilities” on page RF23.

40. Our Company has availed unsecured loans which are repayable on demand. Any demand from lenders for repayment of such unsecured loans, may affect our cash flows.

As on May 31, 2026, our Company has unsecured loans amounting to ₹19.37 lakhs from related parties and bank that are repayable on demand to them. Such loans are not repayable in accordance with any agreed repayment schedule and may be recalled by the relevant lenders at any time. Any such unexpected demand or accelerated repayment may have a material adverse effect on the business, cash flows and financial condition. For further details of unsecured loans of our Company, see chapter titled “Financial Indebtedness” on page 288 of this Prospectus.

41. Our financing arrangements contain restrictive covenants, and any failure to comply with these covenants or repayment obligations could limit our operational flexibility and materially and adversely affect our business, cash flows, results of operations and financial condition.

We have availed secured short-term and long term borrowing facilities from banks. As at May 31, 2026, our secured outstanding borrowings amounted to ₹1,509.75 lakhs. These facilities are secured by charges over our assets, including fixed and current assets, and are supported by personal guarantees from our Promoters Arup Choudhuri & Jignesh Pravinchandra Sanghavi and corporate guarantee of PISA International Private Limited. Further details of these borrowings are set out under “Financial Indebtedness” on page 288. The financing agreements governing these facilities include restrictive covenants that require us to obtain prior approval from lenders before undertaking certain actions. These actions include, among others, raising additional debt, undertaking significant capital expenditure, expanding or diversifying our business, granting or repaying loans, declaring or paying dividends in certain circumstances, and effecting changes in our shareholding pattern or management control. Although we have obtained the necessary lender consents in connection with the proposed Issue, there can be no assurance that we will not breach any restrictive covenant in the future, whether due to operational constraints, financial stress or inadvertent non-compliance.

If we fail to service our borrowings on time or breach any restrictive covenant, lenders may treat such failure as an event of default. In such circumstances, lenders may demand immediate repayment of outstanding amounts, levy penal interest, suspend or terminate the credit facilities, or enforce their security interests over our assets. Certain financing arrangements also contain cross-default provisions, pursuant to which a default under one facility could result in defaults under other financing arrangements.

If any of our repayment obligations are accelerated, we may be required to allocate a substantial portion of our operating cash flows towards debt servicing, which could reduce funds available for our operations and growth initiatives. In addition, enforcement of security by lenders could disrupt our business activities. Further, lenders may, at their discretion, renew, modify, enhance, reduce, suspend or withdraw our credit facilities or alter their terms. Any refusal to renew or enhance the facilities, reduction or withdrawal of sanctioned limits, or imposition of unfavorable terms could materially and adversely affect our business operations, future prospects and financial condition.

42. Any variation in the objects of the Issue or the schedule of deployment of the Net Proceeds would require shareholder approval by way of a special resolution, and any delay or inability to obtain such approval could adversely affect our business plans and financial condition.

The objects of the Issue and the proposed schedule for deployment of the Net Proceeds have been determined by our management based on current business plans and anticipated requirements. However, due to factors such as changes in market conditions, regulatory developments, cost escalations, operational challenges or other unforeseen circumstances, the actual utilisation of the Net Proceeds or the timelines for deployment may differ from those presently contemplated. In accordance with applicable laws and regulations, any material variation in the objects of the Issue or the utilisation of the Net Proceeds, including changes to the deployment schedule, would require prior approval of our shareholders by way of a special resolution. There can be no assurance that such shareholder approval would be obtained in a timely manner or at all. Any delay or failure in obtaining the requisite approval may restrict our ability to reallocate funds or revise implementation timelines, which could result in inefficiencies, delay in execution of our business plans or underutilisation of funds.

Additionally, any variation in the objects or timelines, even if approved by shareholders, may be perceived adversely by investors and could impact investor confidence in the Company. Any such events could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

43. Our individual Promoters have provided personal guarantees and PISA International Private Limited has provided corporate guarantees, in respect of certain of our borrowings. Any invocation of such personal or corporate guarantees could adversely affect our Promoters and may potentially have an adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Certain of our borrowings are secured by personal guarantees provided by our individual Promoters and corporate guarantees provided by PISA International Private Limited in favour of the lenders. In the event that we default on any repayment obligations or fail to comply with the terms of the relevant financing arrangements, the lenders may invoke the personal and corporate guarantee and proceed against the personal assets of the Promoters. Such invocation could result in financial stress for the Promoters and may impact their ability to continue providing managerial, financial, or strategic support to the Company. Additionally, enforcement of the personal or corporate guarantee may divert the Promoter's attention from the business and could adversely affect our operations.

Any invocation of the personal or corporate guarantee may also have indirect consequences on our ability to raise additional borrowings or refinance existing debt on favourable terms. Any of these circumstances could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

44. We are dependent on our individual Promoters, Directors, Key managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management, including other employees with sales and marketing expertise. Any loss or our inability to attract or retain such persons could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We are dependent on our individual Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management for strategic business decisions and managing our business. We benefit from the industry experience, vision and guidance of our individual Promoters. Additionally, our Key Managerial Personnel and members of senior management team include technically qualified and experienced professionals. The experience and leadership of our individual Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and members of senior management have played a key factor in our growth and development. We cannot assure you that we will be able to retain them or find adequate replacements in a timely manner, or at all, if required. Any loss or interruption in the services of our Key Managerial Personnel or members of senior management could significantly affect our ability to effectively manage our operations and to meet our strategic objectives. The loss of the services of any key personnel or our inability to recruit or train a sufficient number of experienced personnel or our inability to manage the attrition levels in different employee categories may have an adverse effect on our financial results and business prospects. Further, if we are unable to offer qualified personnel adequate compensation, we may be unable to attract or retain our employees and the competition for highly skilled personnel may require us to increase salaries and which increased costs which we may be unable to pass on to our clients.

Additionally, we could incur additional expenses and need to devote significant time and resources to recruit and train replacement personnel, which could further disrupt our business operations, growth and prospects. Our ability to meet continued success and future business challenges depends on our ability to attract, recruit and train experienced, talented and skilled professionals. Recruiting and retaining capable personnel, particularly those with expertise and experience in our industry, including in the regions we operate are vital to our success. If we are unable to recruit, train and retain a sufficient number of these employees, then our ability to maintain our competitiveness and grow our business could be negatively affected. Any loss of, or our inability to attract or retain, such persons could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Further, should our individual Promoter's involvement in our business reduces for any reason in the future, our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects may be adversely affected.

45. Our Promoters do not have prior experience of managing a listed entity, which may impact our ability to comply with regulatory requirements and corporate governance norms.

As of the date of this Prospectus, our Promoters do not have prior experience of managing a listed entity. Consequently, we may face challenges in adapting to the enhanced compliance, disclosure, and corporate governance requirements applicable to listed companies under Indian laws and SEBI regulations. Any failure or delay in complying with these obligations could result in regulatory actions, penalties, or reputational harm, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition, and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

ISSUE-RELATED RISK FACTORS

46. Any delay in the completion of the Issue may result in a corresponding delay in the implementation of the Objects of the Issue, which could adversely affect our revenues and results of operations.

The proceeds from the Issue are proposed to be utilized for the purposes set out in the section titled "Objects of the Issue" on page 98 of this Prospectus. The implementation schedule for these objects has been determined based on management's current estimates and assumptions regarding the timing of the Issue and receipt of proceeds. Any delay in the completion of the Issue, or in the deployment of funds, thereafter, may result in a postponement or alteration of our proposed plans. Such delays could cause a financial mismatch, impact our business operations, and consequently have an adverse effect on our revenues and results of operations.

47. The Issue Price of our Equity Shares may not be indicative of the market price of our Equity Shares after the Issue.

The Issue Price of our Equity Shares has been determined on the basis of various qualitative and quantitative factors as disclosed in the section titled "Basis for Issue Price" beginning on page 131 of this Prospectus. Such determination of price is not necessarily indicative of the market price at which our Equity Shares will trade after the listing. The market price of our Equity Shares after the Issue may fluctuate significantly and could decline below the Issue Price. There can be no assurance that investors will be able to sell their Equity Shares at or above the Issue Price or at any particular price.

Trading prices of equity shares after listing are influenced by numerous factors beyond our control, including but not limited to, variations in our operating results, earnings per share, and financial performance; changes in analysts' recommendations or projections; perceptions about our industry; developments relating to our competitors or the broader economy; speculation in the media or the investment community; and volatility in domestic and global capital markets. Additionally, factors such as changes in regulatory policies, interest rates, or foreign investment limits in India could also adversely impact the trading price of our Equity Shares. As a result, the market price of our Equity Shares may not reflect our actual underlying business performance or prospects.

48. After this Issue, the price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, or an active trading market for our Equity Shares may not be sustained.

Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares, and there can be no assurance that an active or sustained trading market will develop following the listing of our Equity Shares on the SME Platform of BSE Limited. The Issue Price of our Equity Shares has been determined through discussions between our Company and the Book Running Lead Manager based on various qualitative and quantitative factors, as detailed in the section titled “Basis for Issue Price” beginning on page 131 of this Prospectus. Such price may not necessarily reflect the market price of our Equity Shares after listing. Following the completion of this Issue, the market price of our Equity Shares may fluctuate significantly due to numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control, including:

- variations in our financial performance or operating results;
- regulatory changes impacting us, our customers, or our industry;
- announcements of new products or services by us or our competitors;
- changes in financial estimates by research analysts;
- loss or addition of key management personnel;
- changes in market perception of our business or industry;
- fluctuations in the Indian or global securities markets;
- volatility in the Indian and global securities markets;
- macroeconomic developments in India; and
- adverse media reports, if any, on our Company, or the industry.

In addition, the Indian stock markets have experienced substantial volatility in the past that has affected the market prices of securities of many companies without regard to their underlying business or financial performance. Such volatility or any unexpected developments could adversely affect the market price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that investors will be able to sell their Equity Shares at or above the Issue Price or that an active, liquid market for our Equity Shares will be maintained in the future.

49. The investors will not be able to sell immediately on an Indian stock exchange any of the Equity Shares they purchase in the Issue.

We have applied to BSE Limited for listing of our Equity Shares on its SME Platform and to use its name in this Prospectus as the Stock Exchange for the purpose of this Issue. In accordance with Indian law and practice, trading of the Equity Shares on the SME Platform of BSE Limited will not commence until after the completion of the Issue, allotment of the Equity Shares, and the receipt of all necessary approvals and permissions for listing and trading. There may be a time gap between the allotment of the Equity Shares and their listing and commencement of trading. Any delay in obtaining the final listing and trading approvals from BSE Limited or in the completion of post-Issue formalities could restrict investors from disposing of, or otherwise dealing in, the Equity Shares for a certain period. Consequently, investors may be subject to liquidity risk, and the value of their investment could be adversely affected in the interim period.

50. There are restrictions on daily movements in the price of the Equity Shares, which may adversely affect a shareholder's ability to sell, or the price at which it can sell, Equity Shares at a particular point in time.

Once our Equity Shares are listed, trading in them will be subject to daily price limits or “circuit breakers” imposed by the stock exchange. These limits restrict the extent to which the price of the Equity Shares can fluctuate in a single trading day and are determined by the stock exchange based on the historical volatility of the Equity Shares and trading volumes. Such circuit breakers operate independently of the broader, index-based market-wide circuit breakers imposed by SEBI on Indian stock exchanges. While these mechanisms are intended to curb extreme volatility, they may prevent shareholders from completing a sale or purchase of the Equity Shares at their desired time or price. Consequently, there can be no assurance that investors will be able to sell their Equity Shares or realize a price commensurate with prevailing market conditions at any given point in time.

51. Any future issuance of Equity Shares may dilute the investors' shareholdings or sales of our Equity Shares by our Promoters or Promoter Group may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

Any future issuance of Equity Shares by our Company, including through public or private offerings, employee stock option plans, or otherwise, may dilute the shareholding of investors. Further, sales of our Equity Shares by our Promoters or members of the Promoter Group, or even the perception that such sales could occur, may adversely impact the market price of our Equity Shares. The disposal, pledge, or creation of any encumbrance over Equity Shares by our major shareholders could also negatively influence investor confidence and affect the trading price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Company will not issue additional Equity Shares or that our Promoters and Promoter Group will not sell, pledge, or otherwise encumber their holdings in the future.

52. Our Company has not paid any dividends till date, and our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

Our Company has not paid any dividends since its incorporation. The declaration and payment of dividends in the future will depend on several factors, including our financial performance, cash flow position, working capital requirements, capital expenditure needs, and compliance with applicable laws and contractual obligations. Further, our financing agreements may contain covenants that restrict our ability to declare dividends. There is no assurance that we will have sufficient distributable profits or surplus cash to pay dividends in the future, or that our Board of Directors will recommend any dividends. Consequently, investors may not realize any return on their investment in the form of dividends and may have to rely solely on capital appreciation, if any, for returns on their investment in our Equity Shares.

We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholders investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value. For details of our dividend history, see "Dividend Policy" on page 263 of this Prospectus.

53. The Investors may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on sale of Equity Shares.

Under current Indian income tax laws, transactions involving the purchase and sale of securities on Indian stock exchanges are subject to securities transaction tax ("STT"), which is collected by the respective stock exchanges. Further, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian company are generally taxable in India. The tax treatment may vary depending on several factors, including the investor's residential status, the period of holding, and applicable tax laws at the time of sale. Any adverse changes in tax laws or their interpretation may increase the tax burden on investors and affect the post-tax returns from their investment in our Equity Shares.

54. Applicants to this Issue are not allowed to withdraw their Applications after the Issue Closing Date.

In accordance with the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, Applicants in this Issue are not permitted to withdraw their applications after the Issue Closing Date. The allotment of Equity Shares and the corresponding credit to the Applicants' demat accounts will be completed within the period prescribed under applicable laws. However, there can be no assurance that material adverse changes in domestic or global monetary, financial, political, or economic conditions, or events in the nature of force majeure, will not occur after the Issue Closing Date but before the allotment of the Equity Shares. Such events could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, or the market price of our Equity Shares. Applicants will not have the right to withdraw their applications in the event of any such occurrences.

If the market price of the Equity Shares declines below the Issue Price after the Issue Closing Date, Applicants will be required to acquire the Equity Shares at a price higher than the prevailing market price, resulting in an immediate notional loss. Further, the allotment of the Equity Shares may still be completed even if such developments restrict the Applicants' ability to sell the Equity Shares or adversely affect the trading price post listing.

55. Foreign investors may be restricted in their ability to purchase or sell Equity Shares.

Under the current foreign exchange regulations in India, transfers of shares between residents and non-residents are generally permitted, provided such transfers comply with applicable pricing and reporting requirements prescribed by the Reserve Bank of India ("RBI") or, alternatively, with the pricing provisions under the SEBI ICDR Regulations. If any such transfer does not comply with these requirements and does not fall within the permitted exceptions, prior approval of the RBI will be required.

Further, shareholders seeking to convert the Rupee proceeds from the sale of Equity Shares into foreign currency and repatriate such funds outside India are required to obtain a no objection certificate or tax clearance from the Indian income tax authorities. There can be no assurance that any approval or clearance required from the RBI or other regulatory authorities will be obtained in a timely manner, on favorable terms, or at all. Any delay or inability in obtaining such approvals could restrict the ability of foreign investors to purchase or sell our Equity Shares.

56. Rights of shareholders under Indian law may be more limited than under the laws of other jurisdictions.

Our Company's corporate affairs are governed by the Companies Act, applicable rules and regulations framed thereunder, the Articles of Association of our Company, and the listing requirements of the Stock Exchange. The legal principles relating to matters such as corporate governance, the validity of corporate actions, directors' fiduciary duties and liabilities, and shareholders' rights may differ significantly from those applicable in other jurisdictions. Consequently, the rights and protections available to shareholders under Indian law may be more limited than those available to shareholders of companies incorporated in other countries. As a result, investors may experience greater difficulty in enforcing their rights as shareholders or in asserting claims against the Company, its directors, or its management compared to jurisdictions with more extensive shareholder protections.

57. The investors may be restricted in their ability to exercise pre-emptive rights under Indian law and may be adversely affected by future dilution of their ownership position.

Under the Companies Act, 2013, a company incorporated in India is required to offer its existing shareholders pre-emptive rights to subscribe for new shares in proportion to their existing shareholding, unless such rights are waived through the approval of a special resolution passed by not less than three-fourths of the shareholders voting on the resolution. However, if the laws of the jurisdiction in which an investor resides do not permit the exercise of such pre-emptive rights without the Company filing an offering document or registration statement with the relevant authority in that jurisdiction, such investors may be unable to exercise their rights unless the Company makes such a filing. If the Company elects not to make such a filing, the new securities may be issued to a custodian, who may sell those securities for the benefit of such investors. The value realized by the custodian, if any, and the transaction costs involved cannot be predicted. Accordingly, to the extent investors are unable to exercise their pre-emptive rights, their proportionate ownership in the Company may be diluted, and the value of their investment could be adversely affected.

58. Our Equity Shares are quoted in Indian Rupees in India, and therefore investors may be subject to potential losses arising out of exchange rate risk on the Indian Rupee and risks associated with the conversion of Indian Rupee proceeds into foreign currency.

Since our Equity Shares will be quoted in Indian Rupees on Indian stock exchanges, investors may be exposed to currency fluctuation and convertibility risks. Any dividends declared on our Equity Shares will also be paid in Indian Rupees. Consequently, investors who convert foreign currency into Indian Rupees to invest in our Equity Shares may be affected by changes in exchange rates between the Indian Rupee and their home currencies. Fluctuations in the value of the Indian Rupee against the U.S. dollar or other foreign currencies may adversely affect the value of an investor's investment or returns thereon when converted back into foreign currency.

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

59. The COVID-19 pandemic, or any future pandemic or widespread public health emergency, could materially and adversely impact on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

In late 2019, COVID-19 emerged and by March 11, 2020 was declared a global pandemic by The World Health Organization. Governments and municipalities around the world instituted measures in an effort to control the spread of COVID-19, including quarantines, shelter-in-place orders, school closings, travel restrictions, lock down of cities and closure of non-essential businesses. By the end of March, the macroeconomic impacts became significant, exhibited by, among other things, a rise in unemployment and market volatility. The outbreak of COVID-19 in many countries, including India, the United Kingdom and the United States, has significantly and adversely impacted economic activity and has contributed to significant volatility and negative pressure in financial markets, and it is possible that the outbreak of COVID-19 will cause a prolonged global economic crisis, recession or depression, despite monetary and fiscal interventions by governments and central banks globally. On March 24, 2020, the Government of India ordered a national lockdown in response to the spread of COVID-19. Although some governments are beginning to ease or lift these restrictions, the impacts from the severe disruptions caused by the effective shutdown of large segments of the global economy remain unknown and no prediction can be made of when any of the restrictions currently in place will be relaxed or expire, or whether or when further restrictions will be announced.

The outbreak, or threatened outbreak, of any severe communicable disease (particularly COVID-19) could materially adversely affect overall business sentiment and environment, particularly if such outbreak is inadequately controlled. The spread of any severe communicable disease may also adversely affect the operations of our clients and service providers, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. The outbreak of COVID-19 has resulted in authorities implementing several measures such as travel bans and restrictions, quarantines, shelter in place orders, and shutdowns. These measures have impacted and may further impact our workforce and operations, the operations of our clients, and those of our respective service providers. There is currently substantial medical uncertainty regarding COVID-19. A rapid increase in severe cases and deaths where measures taken by governments fail or are lifted prematurely, may cause significant economic disruption in India and in the rest of the world. The scope, duration and frequency of such measures and the adverse effects of COVID-19 remain uncertain and could be severe. If any of our employees were suspected of contracting COVID-19 or any other epidemic disease, this could require us to quarantine some or all of these employees or disinfect the facilities used for our operations. In addition, our revenue and profitability could be impacted to the extent that a natural disaster, health epidemic or other outbreak harms the Indian and global economy in general.

The outbreak has significantly increased economic uncertainty. It is likely that the current outbreak or continued spread of COVID-19 will cause an economic slowdown and it is possible that it could cause a global recession. The spread of COVID-19 has caused us to modify our business practices (including employee travel, employee work locations, and cancellation of physical participation in meetings, events and conferences), and we may take further actions as may be required by government authorities or that we determine are in the best interests of our employees, customers, partners, and suppliers. There is no certainty that such measures will be sufficient to mitigate the risks posed by the outbreak, and our ability to perform critical functions could be harmed. The extent to which the COVID-19 further impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions taken globally to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. Existing insurance coverage may not provide protection for all costs that may arise from all such possible events. The degree to which COVID-19 impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including, but not limited to, the duration and spread of the outbreak, its severity, the actions taken to contain the outbreak or treat its impact, and how quickly and to what extent normal economic and operating conditions can resume. The above risks can threaten the safe operation of our facilities and cause disruption of operational activities, environmental harm, loss of life, injuries and impact the wellbeing of our people.

Further in case the lockdown is extended, it could result in muted economic growth or give rise to a recessionary economic scenario, in India and globally, which could adversely affect the business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition of our Company. The full extent to which the COVID-19 pandemic, or any future pandemic or widespread public health emergency impacts our business, operations and financial results will depend on numerous evolving factors that we may not be able to accurately predict, including: the scope, severity, and duration of the pandemic; actions taken by governments, business and individuals in response to the pandemic; the effect on customer demand for and ability to pay for our products; the impact on our capital expenditure; disruptions or restrictions on our employees' and suppliers' ability to work and travel; any extended period of remote work arrangements; and strain on our or our customers' business continuity plans, and resultant operational risk.

60. A slowdown in economic growth in India could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We are dependent on domestic, regional and global economic and market conditions. Our performance, growth and market price of our Equity Shares are and will be dependent to a large extent on the health of the economy in which we operate. There have been periods of slowdown in the economic growth of India. Demand for our products may be adversely affected by an economic downturn in domestic, regional and global economies. Economic growth in the country in which we operate is affected by various factors including domestic consumption and savings, balance of trade movements, namely export demand and movements in key imports of materials, global economic uncertainty and liquidity crisis, volatility in exchange currency rates, and annual rainfall which affects agricultural production. Consequently, any future slowdown in the Indian economy could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Also, a change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect economic conditions prevalent in the areas in which we operate in general and our business in particular and high rates of inflation in India could increase our costs without proportionately increasing our revenues, and as such decrease our operating margin.

61. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of tax laws, may adversely affect our business and financial performance.

Our business and financial performance could be adversely affected by unfavourable changes in our interpretations of existing, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations applicable to us and our business. Please refer to “Key Industry Regulations and Policies” on page 216 of this Prospectus for details of the laws currently applicable to us.

There can be no assurance that the Government of India may not implement new regulations and policies which will require us to obtain approvals and licenses from the Government of India and other regulatory bodies or impose onerous requirements and conditions on our operations. Our Company will comply with relevant regulations as and when applicable. However, any such changes and the related uncertainties with respect to the applicability, interpretation and implementation of any amendment to, or change to governing laws, regulation or policy in the jurisdictions in which we operate may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, we may have to incur expenditures to comply with the requirements of any new regulations, which may also materially harm our results of operations. Any unfavourable changes to the laws and regulations applicable to us could also subject us to additional liabilities.

GST has been implemented with effect from July 1, 2017 and has replaced the indirect taxes on goods and services such as central excise duty, service tax, central sales tax, state VAT and surcharge being collected by the central and state governments. The GST has led to increase tax incidence and administrative compliance. Any future amendments may affect our overall tax efficiency, and may result in significant additional taxes becoming payable.

Further, the general anti avoidance rules (“GAAR”) provisions have been made effective from assessment year 2018- 19 onwards, i.e.; financial Year 2017-18 onwards and the same may get triggered once transactions are undertaken to avoid tax. The consequences of the GAAR provisions being applied to an arrangement could result in denial of tax benefit amongst other consequences. In the absence of any precedents on the subject, the application of these provisions is uncertain.

The application of various Indian tax laws, rules and regulations to our business, currently or in the future, is subject to interpretation by the applicable taxation authorities. If such tax laws, rules and regulations are amended, new adverse laws, rules or regulations are adopted or current laws are interpreted adversely to our interests, the results could increase our tax payments (prospectively or retrospectively) and/or subject us to penalties. Further, changes in capital gains tax or tax on capital market transactions or sale of shares could affect investor returns. As a result, any such changes or interpretations could have an adverse effect on our business and financial performance.

62. The occurrence of natural or man-made disasters could adversely affect our results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. Hostilities, terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence could adversely affect the financial markets and our business.

The occurrence of natural disasters, including cyclones, storms, floods, earthquakes, tsunamis, tornadoes, fires, explosions, pandemic disease and man-made disasters, including acts of terrorism and military actions, could adversely affect our results of operations, cash flows or financial condition. Terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war may adversely affect the Indian securities markets. In addition, any deterioration in international relations, especially between India and its neighbouring countries, may result in investor concern regarding regional stability which could adversely affect the price of the Equity Shares. In addition, India has witnessed local civil disturbances in recent years, and it is possible that future civil unrest as well as other adverse social, economic or political events in India could have an adverse effect on our business. Such incidents could also create a greater perception that investment in Indian companies involves a higher degree of risk and could have an adverse effect on our business and the market price of the Equity Shares.

63. Inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and if significant, on our financial condition.

Inflation is typically impacted by factors such as governmental policies, regulations, commodity prices, liquidity and global economic environment. Any change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect the inflation rates. Continued high rates of inflation may increase our costs such as salaries, travel costs and related allowances, which are typically linked to general price levels. There can be no assurance that we will be able to pass on any additional costs to our clients or that our revenue will increase proportionately corresponding to such inflation. Accordingly, high rates of inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and, if significant, on our financial condition.

64. We have not prepared, and currently do not intend to prepare, our financial statements in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”). Our transition to IFRS reporting could have a material adverse effect on our reported results of operations or financial condition.

Public companies in India, including us, may be required to prepare annual and interim financial statements under IFRS in accordance with the roadmap for convergence with IFRS announced by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India through a press note dated January 22, 2010 (the “IFRS Convergence Note”). The Ministry of Corporate Affairs by a press release dated February 25, 2011 has notified that 35 Indian Accounting Standards are to be converged with IFRS. The date of implementation of such converged Indian accounting standards has not yet been determined. Our financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or changes in shareholders' equity may appear materially different under IFRS than under Indian GAAP or our adoption of converged Indian Accounting Standards may adversely affect our reported results of operations or financial condition. This may have a material adverse effect on the amount of income recognized during that period and in the corresponding (restated) period in the comparative Fiscal/period.

65. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely affect our ability to raise additional financing and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have an adverse effect on our capital expenditure plans, business and financial performance and the price of our Equity Shares.

66. Financial difficulty and other problems in certain long-term lending institutions and investment institutions in India could have a negative impact on our business.

We are exposed to the risks of the Indian financial system which may be affected by the financial difficulties faced by certain Indian financial institutions because the commercial soundness of many financial institutions may be closely related as a result of credit, trading, clearing or other relationships. This risk, which is referred to as "systemic risk," may adversely affect financial intermediaries, such as clearing agencies, banks, securities firms and exchanges with whom we interact on a daily basis. Our transactions with these financial institutions expose us to credit risk in the event of default by the counter party, which can be exacerbated during periods of market illiquidity. As the Indian financial system operates within an emerging market, we face risks of a nature and extent not typically faced in more developed economies, including the risk of deposit runs notwithstanding the existence of a national deposit insurance scheme.

The problems faced by individual Indian financial institutions and any instability in or difficulties faced by the Indian financial system generally could create adverse market perception about Indian financial institutions and banks. This in turn could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

67. Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

68. Financial difficulty and other problems in certain long term lending institutions and investment institutions in India could have a negative impact on our business.

We are exposed to the risks of the Indian financial system which may be affected by the financial difficulties faced by certain Indian financial institutions because the commercial soundness of many financial institutions may be closely related as a result of credit, trading, clearing or other relationships. This risk, which is referred to as "systemic risk," may adversely affect financial intermediaries, such as clearing agencies, banks, securities firms and exchanges with whom we interact on a daily basis. Our transactions with these financial institutions expose us to credit risk in the event of default by the counter party, which can be exacerbated during periods of market illiquidity. As the Indian financial system operates within an emerging market, we face risks of a nature and extent not typically faced in more developed economies, including the risk of deposit runs notwithstanding the existence of a national deposit insurance scheme. The problems faced by individual Indian financial institutions and any instability in or difficulties faced by the Indian financial system generally could create adverse market perception about Indian financial institutions and banks. This in turn could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

69. We are subject to regulatory, economic, social and political uncertainties and other factors beyond our control.

Our business operations, as well as the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares, may be materially and adversely impacted by fluctuations in interest rates, changes in governmental policies, amendments to tax regulations, and occurrences of social or civil unrest, along with other political, economic, or regulatory developments within or affecting India. Any withdrawal, modification, or substantial alteration of existing policies, or the introduction of new policies that are unfavourable to our business, may adversely affect our financial performance. Furthermore, any significant shift in the economic framework or policy direction of the Government of India could disrupt the broader business environment and economic stability, thereby having a material adverse effect on our operations and financial condition.

70. Political instability or changes in the Government could adversely affect economic conditions in India generally and our business in particular.

Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares, may be affected by interest rates, changes in Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. Elimination or substantial change of policies or the introduction of policies that negatively affect the Company's business could cause its results of operations to suffer. Any significant change in India's economic policies could disrupt business and economic conditions in India generally and the Company's business in particular.

71. Terrorist attacks, civil unrests and other acts of violence or war involving India or other countries could adversely affect the financial markets, our business, financial condition and the price of our Equity Shares.

Any major hostilities involving India or other acts of violence, including civil unrest or similar events that are beyond our control, could have a material adverse effect on India's economy and our business. Incidents such as the Mumbai terrorist attacks and other acts of violence may adversely affect the Indian stock markets where our Equity Shares will trade as well the global equity markets generally. Such acts could negatively impact business sentiment as well as trade between countries, which could adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Additionally, such events could have a material adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares.

72. Negative publicity against us, our Promoters, Directors, our suppliers, our customers or any of our or their affiliates could cause us reputational harm and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

We, our Promoters, our Directors, our suppliers, our customers or any of our or their affiliates may be subject to negative publicity in relation to our or their business or staff, including publicity covering issues such as anti-corruption, safety. Such negative publicity, however, even if later proven to be false or misleading, and even where the entities or individuals implicated are members or employees of our suppliers, customers or their affiliates and not of us, could lead to a temporary or prolonged negative perception against us by virtue of our affiliation with such joint venture partners, suppliers, customers or affiliates. Our reputation in the marketplace is important to our ability to generate and retain business. In particular, damage to our reputation could be difficult and time-consuming to repair, and our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects may be materially and adversely affected.

73. A downgrade in ratings of India, may affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely affect our ability to raise additional financing and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have an adverse effect on our capital expenditure plans, business and financial performance and the price of our Equity Shares.

74. Adverse geopolitical conditions such as an increased tension between India and its neighbouring countries, the Russia-Ukraine conflict, the conflict between Israel and Iran and other countries in West Asia and the recent increased tariffs proposed by the US, could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Adverse geopolitical conditions such as increased tensions between India and its neighbouring countries, resulting in any military conflict in the region could adversely affect our business and operations. Such events may lead to countries including the Government of India imposing restrictions which could have an adverse effect on the Indian economy. Further, any restriction on commodities or other factors cause global supply chain disruptions could have an impact on global prices and could have an adverse effect on the commodities markets in India could be affected. For instance, the government of India has imposed additional tariffs in the nature of countervailing duty and anti-dumping duty on a number of items imported from China. Any such measure or reciprocal duties imposed on Indian products by China or other countries may adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition and could affect the trade and commerce between the nations which could lead to uncertainty in the securities and commodities markets, inflate costs, etc. Further, prolonged Russia-Ukraine conflict and the armed hostilities between Israel and Iran and other countries in West Asia, including the increased tariffs by the US, impacting, inter alia, global trade, prices of oil and gas could have an inflationary impact on the Indian economy, result in higher interest rates and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

75. Investors may have difficulty enforcing foreign judgments against us or our management.

We are incorporated under the laws of India and all our Directors and Key Managerial Personnel reside in India. A majority of our assets, and the assets of our Directors and officers, are also located in India. Where investors wish to enforce foreign judgments in India, they may face difficulties in enforcing such judgments. India is not a party to any international treaty in relation to the recognition or enforcement of foreign judgments. India exercises reciprocal recognition and enforcement of judgments in civil and commercial matters with a limited number of jurisdictions. In order to be enforceable, a judgment obtained in a jurisdiction which India recognises as a reciprocating territory must meet certain requirements of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, of India (Civil Code). Further, the Civil Code only permits enforcement of monetary decrees not being in the nature of any amounts payable in respect of taxes or, other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty and does not provide for the enforcement of arbitration awards. Judgments or decrees from jurisdictions not recognised as a reciprocating territory by India cannot be enforced or executed in India. Even if a party were to obtain a judgment in such a jurisdiction, it would be required to institute a fresh suit upon the judgment and would not be able to enforce such judgment by proceedings in execution. Further, the party which has obtained such judgment must institute the new proceedings within three years of obtaining the judgement.

As a result, you may be unable to: (i) effect service of process outside of India upon us and such other persons or entities; or (ii) enforce in courts outside of India judgments obtained in such courts against us and such other persons or entities. It is unlikely that a court in India would award damages on the same basis as a foreign court if an action were brought in India. Furthermore, it is unlikely that an Indian court would enforce foreign judgments if it viewed the amount of damages awarded as excessive or inconsistent with Indian practice. A party seeking to enforce a foreign judgment in India is required to obtain prior approval from the RBI to repatriate any amount recovered pursuant to the execution of such foreign judgment, and any such amount may be subject to income tax in accordance with applicable laws.

76. We may be affected by competition laws in India, the adverse application or interpretation of which could adversely affect our business.

The Competition Act, 2002, of India, as amended (“Competition Act”), regulates practices having an appreciable adverse effect on competition in the relevant market in India (“AAEC”). Under the Competition Act, any formal or informal arrangement, understanding or action in concert, which causes or is likely to cause an AAEC is considered void and may result in the imposition of substantial penalties. Further, any agreement among competitors which directly or indirectly involves the determination of purchase or sale prices, limits or controls production, supply, markets, technical development, investment or the provision of services or shares the market or source of production or provision of services in any manner, including by way of allocation of geographical area or number of consumers in the relevant market or directly or indirectly results in bid-rigging or collusive bidding is presumed to have an AAEC and is considered void. The Competition Act also prohibits abuse of a dominant position by any enterprise. If it is proved that the contravention committed by a company took place with the consent or connivance or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of such company, that person shall be also guilty of the contravention and may be punished. On March 4, 2011, the Government notified and brought into force the combination regulation (merger control) provisions under the Competition Act with effect from June 1, 2011. These provisions require acquisitions of shares, voting rights, assets or control or mergers or amalgamations that cross the prescribed asset and turnover based thresholds to be mandatorily notified to and pre-approved by the Competition Commission of India (the “CCI”). Additionally, on May 11, 2011, the CCI issued Competition Commission of India (Procedure for Transaction of Business Relating to Combinations) Regulations, 2011, as amended, which sets out the mechanism for implementation of the merger control regime in India.

Further, the CCI has extra-territorial powers and can investigate any agreements, abusive conduct or combination occurring outside India if such agreement, conduct or combination has an AAEC in India. However, the impact of the provisions of the Competition Act on the agreements entered into by us cannot be predicted with certainty at this stage. In the event we pursue an acquisition in the future, we may be affected, directly or indirectly, by the application or interpretation of any provision of the Competition Act, or any enforcement proceedings initiated by the CCI, or any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI or if any prohibition or substantial penalties are levied under the Competition Act, it would adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects. The manner in which the Competition Act and the CCI affect the business environment in India may also adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

The Competition (Amendment) Act, 2023 (“Competition Amendment Act”) was recently notified. The Competition Amendment Act amends the Competition Act and give the CCI additional powers to prevent practices that harm competition and the interests of consumers. The Competition Amendment Act, inter alia, modifies the scope of certain factors used to determine AAEC, reduces the overall time limit for the assessment of combinations by the CCI from 210 days to 150 days and empowers the CCI to impose penalties based on the global turnover of entities, for anti-competitive agreements and abuse of dominant position. The Competition Amendment Act also proposed amendments such as introduction of deal value thresholds for assessing whether a merger or acquisition qualifies as a “combination,” expedited merger review timelines, codification of the lowest standard of “control” and enhanced penalties for failing to provide material information.

If we pursue acquisition transactions in the future, we may be affected, directly or indirectly, by the application or interpretation of any provision of the Competition Act, any enforcement proceedings initiated by the CCI, any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI, any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI, or any prohibition or substantial penalties levied under the Competition Act, which would adversely affect our business, results of our operations, cash flows and prospects.

77. We are subject to anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws, violations of which may subject our Company and/or our Corporate Promoter to governmental inquiries and/or investigations, which if material and adverse in nature, could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition in future periods and our reputation.

We have operations and projects, in India. Those operations and projects often involve interactions with governmental authorities and officials at the Indian federal, state and local level. We are subject to anti-corruption and anti-bribery laws in India that prohibit improper payments or offers of improper payments to governments and their officials and political parties for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or securing an improper advantage and require the maintenance of internal controls to prevent such payments. Although, we maintain an anti-bribery compliance program and train our employees in respect of such matters, our employees might take actions that could expose us to liability under anti-bribery laws. In certain circumstances, we may be held liable for actions taken by our partners and agents, even though they are not always subject to our control. Any violation of anti-corruption laws against us or our Corporate Promoter could result in penalties, both financial and nonfinancial, that could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition in future periods and reputation.

78. If inflation were to rise in India, we might not be able to increase the prices of our products at a proportional rate in order to pass costs on to our consumers thereby reducing our margins.

Inflation rates in India have been volatile in recent years, and such volatility may continue in the future. India has experienced high inflation in the recent past. Increased inflation can contribute to an increase in interest rates and increased costs to our business, including increased costs of wages and other expenses. High fluctuations in inflation rates may make it more difficult for us to accurately estimate or control our costs. Any increase in inflation in India can increase our expenses, which we may not be able to adequately pass on to our consumers, whether entirely or in part, and may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. In particular, we might not be able to reduce our costs or increase the price of our products to pass the increase in costs on to our consumers. In such case, our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition may be adversely affected. Further, the Government of India has previously initiated economic measures to combat high inflation rates, and it is unclear whether these measures will remain in effect. There can be no assurance that Indian inflation levels will not worsen in the future.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process:

Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Issue; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹24 per share, Issue size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Issue the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the BRLM, may finalise the Issue Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. All Bids at or above this Issue Price and cut-off Bids are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

On the first day of the listing, there will be pre-opening session (call auction) and there after the trading will happen as per the equity market hours. The circuits will apply from the first day of the listing on the discovered price during the pre-open call auction.

The Market maker may also be present in the opening call auction, but there is no obligation on him to do so.

There will be special circumstances under which the Market Maker may be allowed to withdraw temporarily/fully from the market-for instance due to system problems, any other problems. All controllable reasons require prior approval from the Exchange, while force-majeure will be applicable for non-controllable reasons. 3. Funding incremental working capital requirements of our Company

Our Company requires working capital in the ordinary course of business, which is currently funded through a combination of internal accruals and financing arrangements from various banks. As of May 31, 2026 our fund-based and non-fund-based working capital facilities stood at ₹1,509.34 lakhs and ₹2,048.04 lakhs respectively.

Our Company operates in a working capital-intensive industry. The business model for automated parking systems entails significant upfront expenditure towards procurement of raw materials, steel structures, automation subsystems, electro - mechanical components as well as fabrication, assembly, installation and commissioning activities. While the finished systems are delivered and installed at client sites in accordance with project timelines, payments are typically received after an agreed credit period linked to the achievement of defined project milestones.

In addition, the Company is required to maintain adequate inventories of raw materials and electro - mechanical components to support ongoing projects, ensure timely execution, and cater to new orders. This results in a time-lag between upfront procurement and realization of receivables, thereby necessitating incremental working capital to bridge such gaps.

Our working capital requirements have increased from ₹3,339.55 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹4,265.55 lakhs in Fiscal 2025, primarily due to growth in revenue from ₹5,628.33 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹9,377.66 lakhs in Fiscal 2025. As of March 31, 2026, our working capital requirement stood at ₹7,068.80 lakhs, and revenue for the corresponding period was ₹11,674.65 lakhs, reflecting continued revenue growth and expansion of our operations.

In August 2025, we commenced operations at our own manufacturing facility. This commencement of in-house manufacturing has resulted in increased requirements for raw material procurement, fabrication, assembly, and automation subsystems, thereby expanding the scale of operations and the corresponding working capital requirement.

Looking ahead, on the basis of our current unexecuted order book of ₹53,439.85 lakhs as on March 31, 2026 and anticipated future orders, our management estimates that the Company's working capital requirement will increase to ₹10,440.04 lakhs in Fiscal 2027 and ₹16,066.08 lakhs in Fiscal 2028.

The Company proposes to utilise ₹4,000.00 lakhs from the Net Proceeds towards meeting its incremental working capital requirements in the ordinary course of business. The balance working capital requirement are proposed to be met through internal accruals and borrowings, as and when required.

As on the date of this Prospectus, the aggregate working capital limits sanctioned by banks to our Company limit to ₹2,350.00 lakhs, comprising secured and unsecured facilities.

The deployment of working capital funds will be undertaken in accordance with business requirements and may be allocated across procurement of raw materials, fabrication, assembly, automation subsystems, and project execution activities. The precise mode of deployment has not been finalised as on the date of this Prospectus. We believe that the proposed investment in working capital will strengthen our operational capacity, support timely execution of projects, and enhance overall business performance of the Company.

Set forth below are the current assets and working capital requirement of our Company for the Fiscals 2023, 2024 and 2025 as per the Restated Financial Information and as certified by S K Patodia & Associates LLP, Independent Chartered Accountants, by way of their certificate June 25, 2026. For details of the working capital facilities availed by us, see “Financial Indebtedness” on page 288.

- (1) Under our business model, a significant portion of our revenue is derived from government projects awarded through the tendering process. As part of such tenders, we are required to submit Earnest Money Deposits (EMD) and other security deposits, which are typically calculated as a percentage of the total order value and are placed with the respective government authorities issuing the tenders. With the strengthening of our working capital position, the Company expects to participate in a higher number of government tenders and undertake larger order sizes going forward. Consequently, the amount of security deposits to be placed is also projected to increase in line with the anticipated growth in government orders. Accordingly, the projected increase in Other Current Assets mainly reflects the higher allocation towards such security deposits in line with the expected scale-up of operations.
- (2) Under our business model, projects awarded through the tendering process typically include both civil and parking components. While we execute the parking-related scope, the civil portion of such projects is outsourced to subcontractors. As part of this arrangement and to mitigate performance and execution risks, we obtain security deposits from the subcontractors, which are generally aligned with the security requirements stipulated by the respective government authorities. Since we are required to furnish security deposits to the government authorities for such tenders, the corresponding deposits received from subcontractor's act as a back-to-back risk mitigation mechanism. Going forward, with an expected increase in the number and size of government projects undertaken by the Company, the engagement of subcontractors is also projected to rise. Accordingly, the security deposits received from subcontractors are expected to increase, resulting in a corresponding rise in Current Liabilities in the projected periods.

Accordingly, we propose to utilise 4,000.00 lakhs from the Net Proceeds to fund working capital requirements of our Company in Financial Year ended March 31, 2027 and Financial Year ended March 31, 2028.

The table below sets forth the key assumptions for our working capital projections*:

Sr. No.	Particulars	Assumptions
Current Assets
1.	Inventories	The Company's inventory primarily comprises steel structures, electromechanical components, and robots. Inventory holding days decreased from 43 days in Fiscal 2024 to 27 days in Fiscal 2025 and stood at 28 days in Fiscal 2026. The reduction in inventory levels was driven by the stabilization of operations and an increased reliance on third-party procurement, resulting in improved inventory management and lower holding requirements. Based on the working capital assumptions, the Company's inventory holding period is expected to increase to approximately 37 days in Fiscal 2027. This increase is attributable to the commencement of operations at the Company's in-house manufacturing facility in August 2025, which involves fabrication of components and requires higher stocking of raw materials. In addition, the Company is required to maintain inventory of spare parts and components to meet its annual maintenance contract (AMC) obligations, which necessitates advance stocking to ensure timely service support. Further, in Fiscal 2028, inventory holding days are expected to increase to 60 days, in line with the proposed establishment of an additional manufacturing facility for robots.
2.	Trade receivables	The Company's trade receivables holding period increased from 136 days in Fiscal 2023 to 173 days in Fiscal 2024 and further to 181 days in Fiscal 2025. As of March 2026, the trade receivables holding period stood at 205 days. Management estimates that the holding period will moderate to approximately 203 days in Fiscal 2027 and further improve to approximately 184 days in Fiscal 2028.

Sr. No.	Particulars	Assumptions
		This increase in receivable days is primarily attributable to the nature of the Company's customer profile and project execution model. A significant portion of the Company's order book is from government customers, which typically follow longer credit cycles due to inspection- and approval-based payment processes. In addition, a substantial part of the order book comprises large government projects with longer execution timelines and milestone-based collections, requiring the Company to incur execution costs prior to receipt of customer payments. Accordingly, the business is working capital intensive and requires fund-based working capital facilities to bridge the timing gap between execution and collections.
3.	Other Current Assets	Other current assets primarily comprise balances with statutory and governmental authorities, advances to suppliers, prepaid expenses, security deposits, and earnest money deposits. The current assets holding period declined from 39 days in Fiscal 2024 to 21 days in Fiscal 2025 and stood at 21 days as of March 2026. The movement in current assets was primarily driven by changes in advances to suppliers, contract asset balances, and other operational requirements. Going forward, the current assets holding period is expected to remain broadly stable at approximately 22 days in Fiscal 2027 and 23 days in Fiscal 2028, in line with the Company's anticipated business growth and operating requirements.
Current Liabilities
4.	Trade Payables	The trade payables holding period decreased from 46 days in Fiscal 2024 to 60 days in Fiscal 2025, primarily due to increased project execution activities, which resulted in higher procurement of materials and services. As of March 2026, the trade payables holding period stood at 48 days. For the estimated period, the trade payables holding period is expected to reduce to approximately 38 days in Fiscal 2027. This reduction is anticipated to be driven by the Company's evolving procurement and manufacturing profile, including increased in-house manufacturing operations and changes in procurement patterns. Thereafter, the trade payables holding period is expected to remain broadly stable at approximately 29 days in Fiscal 2028.
5.	Other current liabilities and provisions	Other current liabilities and provisions primarily comprise provisions for income tax, security deposits received, and other expenses payable. The holding period for other current liabilities declined from 16 days in Fiscal 2024 to 21 days in Fiscal 2025 and increased further to 29 days as of March 2026, primarily due to timing differences in statutory and expense-related accruals. Going forward, the holding period for other current liabilities is expected to increase to approximately 31 days in Fiscal 2027 and further to approximately 33 days in Fiscal 2028, in line with the anticipated growth in operations and the corresponding increase in statutory obligations and expense-related provisions..

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Global Economic Overview

The global economy, which recorded GDP growth at 3.3% in CY 2024, is expected to show resilience at 2.8% in CY 2025. This marks the slowest expansion since 2020 and reflects a 0.5%-point downgrade from January 2025 forecast. Moreover, the projection for CY 2026 has also reduced to 3.0%. This slowdown is majorly attributed due to numerous factors such as high inflation in many economies despite central bank effort to curb inflation, continuing energy market volatility driven by geopolitical tensions particularly in Ukraine and Middle East, and the re-election of Donald Trump as US President extended uncertainty around the trade policies as well as overall global economic growth. High inflation and rising borrowing costs affected the private consumption on one hand while fiscal consolidation impacted the government consumption on the other hand. As a result, global GDP growth is estimated to moderate by 2.8% in CY 2025 as compared to 3.3% in CY 2024.

Note: Advanced Economies and Emerging & Developing Economies are as per the classification of the World Economic Outlook (WEO). This classification is not based on strict criteria, economic or otherwise, and it has evolved over time. It comprises of 40 countries under the Advanced Economies including the G7 (the United States, Japan, Germany, France, Italy, the United Kingdom, and Canada) and selected countries from the Euro Zone (Germany, Italy, France etc.). The group of emerging market and developing economies (156) includes all those that are not classified as Advanced Economies (India, China, Brazil, Malaysia etc.)

Historical and Projected GDP Growth

GDP growth across major regions exhibited a mixed trend between 2022-23, with GDP growth in many regions including North America, Emerging and Developing Asia, and Emerging and Developing Europe slowing further in 2024. In 2025, GDP growth rate in Emerging and Developing Asia (India, China, Indonesia, Malaysia, etc.) is expected to moderate further to 4.5% from 5.3% in the previous year, while in the North America, it is expected to moderate to 1.8% in CY 2025 from 2.8% in CY 2024.

Source-IMF World Economic Outlook April 2025 update.

Except Middle East & Central Asia, all other regions like Emerging and Developing Asia, Emerging and Developing Europe, Latin America & The Caribbean, Sub Saharan Africa and North America, are expected to record a moderation in GDP growth rate in CY 2025 as compared to CY 2024. Further, growth in the United States is expected to come down at 2.71% in CY 2025 from 2.80% in CY 2024 due to lagged effects of monetary policy tightening, gradual fiscal tightening, and a softening in labour markets slowing aggregate demand.

Global Economic Outlook

The global economy is navigating a period of exceptional uncertainty. Policy shifts, particularly those reshaping trade, have alarmed financial markets and bruised business sentiment. The U.S.'s reciprocal tariffs, which represent additional costs for businesses from almost all countries with which the U.S. trades, charge trade partners an import duty at a discounted rate of approximately half the rate that the trade partner currently imposes on the U.S. According to U.S. President Donald Trump, reciprocal tariffs, ranging from 10% to 50%, are meant to address trade barriers limiting U.S. exports. The effective tariff rate includes other tariffs imposed at an earlier date and cumulatively may now be higher than duties charged on U.S. imports. It is unclear whether the reciprocal tariffs represent a negotiating tool, and may therefore be temporary, or form part of broader long-term protectionist measures and industrial strategy.

Responses to reciprocal tariffs have been varied, with some economies promising swift countermeasures. More than 50 markets have sought negotiations with the US. While Malaysia is seeking a united response across ASEAN, the Chinese Mainland has retaliated with duties on all imports from the U.S., declaring it will “fight to the end”. In early April, the U.S. confirmed the most aggressive steps yet, with a cumulative 145% tariff on some products imported from the Chinese Mainland. Brazil has readied itself by passing a bill allowing for retaliation, Australia has ruled out retaliatory levies, and the EU remains open to negotiation while preparing a package of countermeasures.

Tariffs and their unpredictable application have weighed on consumer and business sentiment, sunk global stock markets, raised recession risks, and made a global slowdown more likely. Our latest Global Business Optimism Insights report indicates a further decline in business optimism as firms continue to grapple with trade-related policy uncertainty and its broader economic implications. Export-driven sectors reported sharp declines in optimism. Financial risk perceptions remain elevated as businesses contend with high borrowing costs and persistent inflation expectations. More broadly, the uncertainty is reflected in delayed capital expenditure and a pullback in hiring.

Tariffs have begun to exert pressure on central banks by contributing to inflationary pressures and increasing financial market volatility. Central banks are adjusting forward guidance and policy frameworks and may begin to consider the likelihood of softer growth being a bigger priority than high inflation by starting to cut interest rates to support economies. For businesses, this uncertainty translates into unpredictable cost structures, fluctuating credit availability, and the management of operational costs through diversified supply networks.

The latest Dun & Bradstreet Global Business Optimism Insights report reveals a further decline in business optimism, though at a more moderate pace than in the prior quarter, as businesses continued to grapple with trade-related policy uncertainty and its broader economic implications. Export-driven sectors such as automotives, electricals, and metals saw sharp declines in optimism, particularly in the U.S., Mexico, South Korea, and Japan, where rising tariffs and shifting trade policies have fueled cost pressures and demand volatility. Financial risk perceptions remain elevated.

Global Growth Projection

At broader level, the global economy is expected to experience a slowdown in 2025, with GDP growth projected to decline to 2.8%, down from 3.3% in 2024. This deceleration reflects persistent inflationary pressure, geopolitical uncertainties and tightened monetary policies. However, a slight recovery is anticipated in 2026, with growth projected to improve to 3.0%. Global inflation is expected to decline steadily, to 4.3% in 2025 and to 3.6% in 2026. Inflation is projected to converge back to the target earlier in advanced economies, reaching 2.2% in 2026, whereas in emerging market and developing economies, it is anticipated to decrease to 4.6% during the same period. Trade tariffs function as a supply shock for the countries imposing them, leading to a decrease in productivity and an increase in unit costs. Countries subject to tariffs experience a negative demand shock as export demand declines, placing downward pressure on prices. In each scenario, trade uncertainty introduces an additional layer of demand shock since businesses and households react by delaying investment and spending, and this impact could be intensified by stricter financial conditions and heightened exchange rate volatility. Moreover, Global trade growth is expected to slow down in 2025 to 1.7%. This forecast reflects increased tariff restrictions affecting trade flows and, to a lesser extent, the waning effects of cyclical factors that have underpinned the recent rise in goods trade. Geopolitical tensions as seen in the past such as the wars in Ukraine and the Middle East could exacerbate inflation volatility, particularly in energy and agricultural commodities.

Regional Growth Forecast.

According to the International Monetary Fund's World Economic Outlook (April 2024), global economic growth is expected to remain moderate and uneven across regions. Advanced economies are projected to grow at just 1.7% in 2025, reflecting the continued impact of tight monetary policies, aging populations, and subdued consumer demand. In contrast, emerging market and developing economies (EMDEs) are expected to grow at 4.2%, supported by stronger domestic demand, favorable demographics, and investment in infrastructure and technology. Among EMDEs, India stands out with a projected growth rate of 6.5% in CY2025, making it one of the fastest-growing major economies globally. This growth outperformance is underpinned by structural reforms, robust capital expenditure, and rising consumption, despite global headwinds such as geopolitical tensions and financial tightening. The stark growth differential between developed and emerging markets highlights the shifting global economic landscape, with India playing an increasingly prominent role in driving global growth over the medium term.

India Macroeconomic Analysis

India emerged as one of the fastest growth economies amongst the leading advanced economies and emerging economies. In CY 2024, even amidst geopolitical uncertainties, particularly those affecting global energy and commodity markets, India continues to remain one of the fastest growing economies in the world and is expected to grow by 6.2% in CY 2025 and 6.3% in 2026.

Growth Outlook

The Union Budget 2025-26 has laid the foundation for sustained growth by balancing demand stimulation, investment promotion and inclusive development. Inflation level is reaching within the central bank's target; the RBI may pursue further monetary easing that will support growth. The medium-term outlook is bright, fueled by the emphasis on physical and digital infrastructure spending. With a focus on stimulating demand, driving investment and ensuring inclusive development, the budget introduces measures such as tax relief, increased infrastructure spending and incentives for manufacturing and clean energy. These initiatives aim to accelerate growth while maintaining fiscal discipline, reinforcing India's long-term economic resilience. The expansion of tax relief i.e zero tax liability for individuals earning up to INR 12 lacs annually under the new tax regime is expected to strengthen household finances and, consequently, boost consumption.

The external sector remains resilient, and key external vulnerability indicators continue to improve. However, tariff-related uncertainty is likely to weigh on exports and investment, prompting us to cut our FY26 GDP growth forecast to 6.3%.

Overview

Key Features & Attributes

An Automated Parking System (APS) is a electro mechanical solution designed to minimize the space required for parking by using automated processes to transport vehicles from the entrance to designated parking spots without driver involvement. By stacking cars vertically and horizontally, similar to a multi-story parking garage, APS optimizes space utilization while ensuring efficient storage and retrieval.

These systems leverage advanced technology to automate the entire parking experience, including locating available spots, vehicle entry, parking, payment, and exit. Customers interact with APS through mobile apps and digital tickets, making the process seamless and user-friendly.

Implementing APS streamlines parking operations, reduces labour costs, enhances efficiency, increases occupancy rates, and maximizes revenue. These innovative solutions are particularly advantageous in urban areas where space is limited, offering a modern and efficient approach to parking management.

Automated parking systems (APS) rely on a combination of advanced technologies to streamline the parking process, enhancing efficiency and user experience. The underlying system of automated parking systems combines electrical mechanical, digital, and sensor technologies to optimize parking efficiency, reduce operational costs, and enhance user experience. The underlying system includes:

Mechanical Components	• Lifts and Conveyors: These are used to transport vehicles from the entrance to designated parking spaces. • Robotic Transporters: In some systems, robotic transporters are employed to move vehicles into storage positions.
Digital Technologies	• Cloud Computing: Enables real-time data analytics, over-the-air updates, and simplified maintenance. It is crucial for managing parking operations and optimizing space utilization. • IoT (Internet of Things): Connects devices and services, facilitating autonomous data collection and transfer, which helps in maintaining up-to-date parking slot information.
Sensors and Detection Systems	• RFID Technology: Used for seamless entry and exit, particularly for long-term parkers. RFID tags are embedded in hang tags or stickers on windshields. • Ultrasonic Sensors: Detect vehicles' presence in parking slots by reflecting sound waves, providing immediate occupancy information. • IR Sensors: Deployed at each parking space to detect the presence of a vehicle, transmitting signals and measuring the time for echoes to return. • Cameras: Provide visual assistance for precise vehicle positioning and enhance security measures within the facility.

The integration of these hardware and software components is critical for the efficient and secure operation of automated parking systems. By automating the parking process and optimizing space utilization, these systems enhance user experience, reduce operational costs, and contribute to sustainable urban development.

Types of Automated Parking System

Automated parking systems are often used in locations where a multi-storey parking garage would be too large or costly. It can also be applied in situations similar to multi-storey parking garages such as freestanding above ground, under buildings above grade and below grade. There are different types of parking systems available in the market, select the system that suits parking project requirements.

Automated parking systems come in a variety of configurations, designed to meet different space and infrastructure needs. These systems use mechanical or robotic technology to move vehicles into designated parking slots with minimal human intervention. Depending on the design, they can be installed above ground, below ground, or integrated within existing buildings. Each type of system offers unique features that cater to different capacities, installation environments, and user preferences.

Automated parking systems offer many advantages and come in multiple types and forms. Below are the types of automated parking system:

Fully Automated Parking System

- Robotic Parking System: A highly advanced, pallet-free solution using robotic mechanisms to handle vehicles. It is among the most sophisticated parking technologies available and can be designed with up to 100% redundancy, offering superior reliability, safety, and operational continuity.
- Shuttle Parking System: A pallet-based automated system where shuttles move vehicles horizontally and lifts handle vertical movement. Despite automation, it typically has 0% redundancy, making system downtime a key operational risk.
- Rotary Parking System: A mechanically driven automated system where vehicles rotate vertically like a carousel. It is mechanically intensive, has 0% redundancy, and is generally suited only for small capacities.
- Automated Guided Vehicle [AGV] Parking System: An emerging pallet-free concept using AGVs to transport vehicles autonomously. While offering high flexibility and advanced automation, it involves very high capital expenditure and significant power consumption, limiting widespread adoption..
- Silo Parking System: A vertical, cylindrical automated parking solution where vehicles are stored in stacked slots around a central lift. The system is usually pallet-based, has 0% redundancy, and faces operational and safety risks due to reliance on a single lifting mechanism.
- Tower Parking System: A vertical, pallet-based automated system designed for high-density urban areas. It offers 0% redundancy and is associated with safety and evacuation challenges, especially during mechanical breakdowns or power failures.

Semi-Automated Parking System

- Puzzle Parking System- A pallet-based semi-automated solution where vehicles are moved through horizontal and vertical sliding mechanisms. The system offers 0% redundancy, meaning a single point of failure can halt operations, and it carries notable safety concerns due to mechanical dependence.
- Stacker Parking System- Also pallet-based, this system stacks vehicles vertically to optimize space in low- to mid-rise applications. It has 0% redundancy and faces similar safety and operational risks as puzzle systems, particularly during equipment failure or maintenance.

Automated parking system comes in two forms namely, fully automated and semi-automated. Fully automated parking systems do not need an attendant, and the APS's mechanical processes will transport vehicles from the start of the garage into an empty parking space. Semi-automated APS also uses a mechanical system of some type to move a car to its parking space, however, putting the car into and/or the operation of the system requires some action by an attendant or the driver. Fully automated parking systems are typically designed to accommodate large-capacity parking structures that serve many vehicles, whereas semi-automated systems are more suitable for smaller-scale installations with relatively fewer vehicles.

Different automated car parking types fall under a fully automatic and semi-automatic car parking system each of them is explained below.

Fully Automated Parking System

Fully automated parking systems, also known as robotic parking systems, use advanced machinery to park and retrieve vehicles without any driver involvement. Upon vehicle drop-off, the system equipped with robotic shuttles, lifts, or conveyors automatically moves the car to an available space. These systems are designed for maximum space efficiency, particularly in dense urban environments. Users benefit from seamless entry and exit through digital interfaces like mobile apps or QR codes, reducing time and manual effort.

Fully Automated Parking System

Shuttle Parking System

Rotary Parking System

Automated Guided Vehicle [AGV] Parking System

Silo Parking System

Tower Parking System

Robotic Parking System

- Shuttle Parking System: Shuttle parking systems employ automated shuttles to move vehicles within the parking structure and operate with pallets for vehicle storage and transportation. In this configuration, vehicles are placed on pallets, which are then transported horizontally and vertically by shuttle mechanisms. While the system offers automation and improved space utilization, the reliance on pallets introduces additional mechanical interfaces and limits operational flexibility. Compared to pallet-less robotic parking systems, shuttle systems are technologically less advanced. The pallet-based approach also reduces system redundancy and increases dependency on mechanical components. Although widely used, shuttle parking systems do not match the sophistication, adaptability, or redundancy levels achievable in advanced robotic parking solutions.

- Rotary Parking System: Rotary parking systems are predominantly mechanical systems that store vehicles using rotating structures arranged in a vertical loop. The operation of these systems relies heavily on mechanical chains, gears, and rotating frames. Due to this design, rotary parking systems have 0% redundancy, meaning there is no backup mechanism in case of component failure. Any mechanical fault can result in complete system shutdown and vehicle access disruption. The heavy mechanical dependency also increases wear and maintenance requirements over time. From a reliability perspective, these systems are considered technologically limited. Their lack of redundancy and high mechanical reliance make them unsuitable for applications demanding high safety and operational continuity.
- Automated Guided Vehicle (AGV) Parking System: AGV parking systems are considered a new concept in automated parking, where automated guided vehicles independently transport cars within the parking facility. These systems offer flexibility in movement paths and advanced automation potential. However, the client highlights that AGV-based systems involve very high capital costs, primarily due to the requirement for multiple autonomous vehicles and advanced navigation infrastructure. In addition, these systems are associated with high power consumption, as multiple AGVs operate simultaneously. The combined impact of high installation cost and energy usage reduces overall economic feasibility. As a result, despite their innovation, AGV parking systems present challenges in cost-sensitive and energy-conscious applications.
- Silo Parking System: The Silo Parking System is a vertical automated parking solution designed to maximize space utilization by stacking vehicles in tower-like silos. Vehicles are lifted and rotated using a combination of lifts, turntables, and robotic mechanisms to fit into individual bays, allowing high-density parking in minimal footprints. SPS is ideal for high-rise buildings, urban centers, and locations where horizontal expansion is limited. The automated process reduces the time spent by drivers searching for parking, improving overall convenience. Advanced sensors and control software ensure precise vehicle placement and retrieval, minimizing damage risks. The system accommodates various vehicle sizes and can be customized for specific site requirements. Energy-efficient lifts and motors reduce operational costs while maintaining reliability. SPS also allows for modular expansion, enabling scalability as parking demand grows. With safety features like overload protection, emergency stops, and monitoring systems, it ensures secure and efficient operations. Overall, Silo Parking System is a technologically advanced solution for modern urban mobility challenges.
- Tower Parking System: Tower parking systems are pallet-based automated parking structures that store vehicles vertically in stacked configurations. Vehicles are placed on pallets and moved using lifting mechanisms. The client has clearly noted that tower parking systems have 0% redundancy, meaning there is no backup system to ensure continued operation during failures. Additionally, safety issues have been highlighted, indicating higher operational and user risk. The lack of redundancy combined with safety concerns limits system reliability. As a result, tower parking systems are viewed as technically inferior when compared to advanced automated or robotic parking solutions.
- Robotic Parking System: Robotic parking systems represent a very sophisticated and highly advanced form of automated parking technology, widely regarded as the most advanced solution currently available. These systems are designed to operate without the use of pallets, enabling direct vehicle handling through intelligent robotic transporters and shuttles. The absence of pallets improves system flexibility, reduces mechanical dependency, and enhances operational efficiency. Due to their modular and distributed system architecture, robotic parking systems can be designed with up to 100% redundancy, ensuring uninterrupted operation even if individual components fail. This redundancy significantly improves reliability and safety. The system relies on advanced control algorithms and automation logic to precisely manage vehicle movement. As a result, robotic parking systems offer superior safety, scalability, and long-term operational stability when compared to other automated parking technologies.

Semi-automated Parking System

Semi-automatic parking systems in India are designed to optimize parking efficiency by maximizing space utilization. These systems combine mechanical and electronic components to streamline the parking process, offering a balance between automation and manual intervention. Vehicles are moved horizontally or vertically using mechanical platforms, reducing the need to search for parking spots. These systems can increase parking capacity by up to 30% within the same footprint, making them ideal for urban areas with limited space. Users interact with the system via electronic operating aids like SmartApps, SmartChips, or Smart Portables, enhancing convenience and efficiency.

- Puzzle Parking System: Puzzle parking systems are semi-automated, pallet- based parking solutions where vehicles are moved through a grid of horizontal and vertical shifts. These systems rely on mechanical sliding and lifting platforms for vehicle rearrangement. The client has explicitly noted that puzzle parking systems have 0% redundancy, meaning failure of a single component can disrupt the entire system. In addition, safety issues have been identified due to mechanical dependency and user interaction requirements. As a semi-automated solution, puzzle parking systems offer limited automation benefits. Compared to fully automated systems, they are considered less reliable, less safe, and technologically constrained.
- Stacker Parking System: Stacker parking systems are semi-automated parking solutions that store vehicles in a vertical stacked arrangement using mechanical lifting platforms. These systems typically operate with pallets or platform-based vehicle placement, requiring precise alignment and mechanical lifting for parking and retrieval. The operational mechanism is largely mechanical, with limited automation support. Due to this design, stacker parking systems generally offer 0% redundancy, meaning the failure of lifting or stacking mechanisms can halt system operation. The heavy dependence on mechanical components increases wear and maintenance requirements. Additionally, safety concerns arise due to moving platforms and user proximity during vehicle positioning. As a result, stacker parking systems are considered technically basic and less reliable when compared to fully automated parking solutions.

Key Advantages of Automated Parking System

High Throughput	High throughput in an automated parking system ensures rapid entry, movement, and retrieval of vehicles, reducing waiting times for users. The system is designed to handle multiple vehicles simultaneously, maintaining smooth operations even during peak hours. Efficient platform or crane mechanisms and optimized control software help maintain a continuous flow of vehicles. This advantage is particularly critical in commercial complexes, airports, and high-traffic urban areas. By improving vehicle handling speed, high throughput enhances user satisfaction and maximizes the utilization of available parking slots.
Power Saving	Automated parking systems are designed to be energy-efficient, consuming minimal power compared to traditional parking operations. Motors, lifts, and cranes are programmed to operate only when needed, reducing unnecessary energy usage. Many systems integrate energy-saving technologies like regenerative braking, LED lighting, and smart sensors to optimize power consumption. Lower energy requirements not only reduce operational costs but also contribute to environmental sustainability. Efficient power management ensures the system is both eco-friendly and cost-effective over the long term.
Controlled Redundancy	Controlled redundancy allows an automated parking system to maintain reliability without excessive duplication of components. Backup mechanisms such as secondary motors or alternate pathways are activated only when required, ensuring continuous operation during failures or maintenance. This approach minimizes downtime while avoiding unnecessary complexity and energy consumption. Controlled redundancy enhances system resilience, preventing disruptions and maintaining user confidence. By balancing reliability with efficiency, the system delivers a secure and dependable parking experience.
Increases Parking Capacity	Parking Automated parking systems significantly increase parking capacity by optimizing vertical and compact space usage, often accommodating more vehicles within the same footprint compared to traditional parking layouts In densely populated urban areas like Mumbai, automated parking systems can significantly increase parking capacity per square kilometer, helping reduce parking shortages in space-constrained zones.

Cost Savings:	Automated systems eliminate the need for attendants to manage parking operations, reducing labour costs. This is particularly beneficial in high-wage urban areas where labour costs are significant. APS facilities often use LED lighting, which consumes less energy compared to traditional lighting systems. This reduces overall energy consumption and costs. These systems require less maintenance compared to traditional parking lots. Automated components reduce wear and tear on infrastructure, such as fewer potholes and less damage to parking structures.
Space Optimization in Urban Areas	Automated Parking Systems (APS) offer a transformative solution for urban mobility by significantly optimizing space through vertical stacking and the elimination of ramps and wide aisles. This allows for much higher vehicle capacity within the same footprint compared to conventional parking. By utilizing vertical and underground spaces, APS reduces the need for sprawling surface lots, making way for green zones, residential complexes, or commercial developments. This efficient land use contributes to smarter urban planning, especially in densely populated cities, and also helps cut down traffic congestion and emissions by reducing the time spent searching for parking. Beyond maximizing space, APS enhances security and operational efficiency. With limited access points and minimal human involvement, these systems reduce the risk of theft, vandalism, and accidental damage. As cities continue to expand and face growing parking demands, automated systems provide a scalable and secure alternative to traditional parking methods, supporting a more organized and sustainable urban infrastructure.
Pedestrian Safety in Parking Facilities	With automated parking systems, pedestrian safety is greatly enhanced. In a traditional parking lot with cars driving around searching for spaces, there is always a risk of accidents involving pedestrians. However, with an APS, since drivers do not have to navigate within the parking facility, the chances of vehicle-pedestrian collisions are significantly reduced.
Reduced Parking Time	Automated parking systems not only simplify the parking process but also speed it up. Since the APS can immediately determine an available parking spot for a vehicle, the time spent searching and maneuvering into a space is eliminated. Furthermore, when retrieving their cars, drivers can expect a quick and efficient process, as the automated system should deliver their vehicle within just a few minutes. Another advantage of automated parking systems is that they reduce the risk of accidents. Traditional parking lots can be chaotic, with drivers jockeying for spots and pedestrians walking between cars. Automated parking systems, on the other hand, are designed to eliminate these risks by using sensors and cameras to navigate the vehicle into the designated parking spot.
Green Building Integration	Automated parking systems can seamlessly integrate with green building initiatives, contributing to sustainable urban development. For example, APS can be combined with rooftop gardens or solar panels, providing additional green space or renewable energy generation in urban settings. Additionally, their reduced footprint allows for more efficient land use, preserving green spaces and promoting sustainable urban planning. Moreover, some automated parking systems use recycled materials in their construction, further reducing their environmental impact. Additionally, some systems have integrated rainwater harvesting systems, which collect and reuse rainwater for irrigation and other non-potable uses, reducing the demand for municipal water supplies.

Automated parking systems offer a range of benefits that make them an attractive solution for modern urban environments. From increased parking capacity and enhanced safety to an improved user experience and environmental advantages, APS have the potential to revolutionize the way we park and positively impact the future of urban development.

Mirroring global trends, India is also witnessing rising interest in automated parking systems, driven by rapid urbanization, an expanding vehicle base, and increasing pressure on traditional parking infrastructure especially in Tier-I cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad.

India Market Scenario

India's rapid urbanization, growing population, and increasing vehicle ownership are exerting immense pressure on existing parking infrastructure, particularly in metropolitan and Tier-I cities. With limited land availability and high real estate costs, urban planners and developers are now facing the dual challenge of accommodating more vehicles while optimizing land usage. This has led to a growing interest in automated parking systems (APS) as a viable and efficient solution to the country's parking woes.

The surge in automobile sales is a key contributing factor, driven by rising per capita income, increased affordability of vehicles, and a growing preference for personal mobility—especially in the post-pandemic era where health and hygiene concerns have reshaped commuting choices. Cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad are witnessing a steep rise in private vehicle ownership, which has compounded traffic congestion and led to a scarcity of conventional parking spaces.

Automated parking systems, which use mechanical or robotic systems to park and retrieve vehicles, offer a space-saving and technologically advanced alternative. These systems can significantly increase parking capacity within a given footprint by eliminating the need for ramps and large driveways. As a result, APS is gaining traction in residential complexes, commercial buildings, shopping malls, and public infrastructure projects.

Additionally, government bodies and urban local authorities are beginning to incorporate smart parking solutions into their Smart City initiatives. Policies encouraging efficient land use and technological integration in infrastructure development are further supporting the APS market. Developers, especially in space-constrained urban centers, are also leveraging APS to meet mandatory parking requirements while maximizing usable floor space.

Market Size & Historical Growth Trend

By the mid-2020s, the Automated Parking System (APS) market in India transitioned into a robust growth phase, driven by rapid advancements in technology and changing urban mobility needs. The integration of automation, IoT (Internet of Things), and AI-powered smart parking solutions has significantly enhanced the efficiency, scalability, and user experience of APS installations. These technologies enable real-time vehicle tracking, automated ticketing, predictive space allocation, and data analytics, making parking systems smarter and more responsive to user demand. With urban centers becoming more congested and land costs continuing to rise, APS has emerged as a viable solution to optimize limited urban space, reduce parking-related traffic congestion, and enhance convenience in high-density zones.

Another key factor contributing to this momentum is the steady improvement in local manufacturing capabilities and engineering expertise. Indian companies have started offering customized, cost-effective APS solutions that are well-suited for local urban conditions, eliminating the previous dependency on expensive imported systems. This has significantly lowered the entry barriers for developers and municipal corporations in adopting APS across Tier I and even Tier II cities. Furthermore, government-led initiatives like the Smart Cities Mission, combined with increasing awareness about sustainable urban development, have encouraged greater investment in automated and intelligent infrastructure. As a result, APS is now being integrated into commercial complexes, hospitals, malls, and high-rise residential projects, solidifying its role as a critical component in the future of urban transportation infrastructure in India.

The India Automated Parking System (APS) market has shown steady growth from USD 586.7 million in CY 2021 to USD 655.2 million in CY 2024, registering a CAGR of 3.7%. This consistent rise reflects growing urbanization, increased vehicle ownership, and the pressing need to optimize limited parking spaces in Indian cities. The push for smart city initiatives, coupled with advancements in automation, IoT, and AI, is gradually driving adoption. While growth has been moderate, it signals a maturing market with strong potential, especially as developers and municipalities increasingly prioritize space-efficient, tech-enabled parking solutions.

Smart Infrastructure Driving Growth of Smart Parking Systems:

The Smart Cities Mission (SCM), launched in June 2015, has been a transformative initiative in India's urban development. Covering 100 cities, the mission is driving infrastructure modernization through more than 8,000 multi-sectoral projects amounting to approximately INR 1.600 trillion. More than 90% of the total projects 7,244 projects worth INR 1,453.12 billion have been completed. The mission focuses on improving urban governance, sustainable mobility, and digital infrastructure through technology-driven solutions. Due to on-ground challenges, the government has extended the mission until March 31, 2025, to complete the remaining projects.

One of the significant outcomes of the Smart Cities Mission is the growth of automated parking systems. The rapid expansion of urban infrastructure, coupled with rising vehicle ownership, has led to severe parking space shortages in major cities. For example, in Delhi (2022), 13.4 million registered vehicles competed for a mere 50,000 authorized parking spots, causing congestion and inefficiencies in traffic flow. This has necessitated smart parking solutions that integrate IoT sensors, automated ticketing, and real-time space monitoring to manage parking demand efficiently.

Under SCM, cities are leveraging AI-driven parking systems, Multi-Level Parking (MLP) facilities, and on-street parking management solutions. For instance, Chennai's initiative to develop MLPs with private investment, supported by Viability Gap Funding (VGF), showcases how urban centres are integrating smart parking into broader mobility solutions. Additionally, digital payment systems and mobile apps for real-time parking availability are reducing congestion and enhancing commuter convenience.

Overall, the SCM's emphasis on digital transformation and smart mobility has accelerated the adoption of automated parking systems, ensuring better space utilization, reduced traffic congestion, and improved urban planning. With continued investments in integrated transport systems and logistics efficiency, automated parking is set to become a key component of India's future urban landscape.

Apart from the Smart Cities Mission (SCM), several other major infrastructure projects have significantly influenced the growth of automated parking systems in India. These include:

Bharatmala Pariyojana (2017-Present)

The Bharatmala Pariyojana, launched in 2017, focuses on developing 26,000 km of economic corridors to improve road logistics and decongest urban traffic. By November 2024, 18,926 km of highways have been completed, including ring roads, bypasses, and elevated corridors that help manage heavy traffic inflows into cities.

Impact on Automated Parking:

- Reducing congestion at city entry points has increased demand for smart parking near transport hubs, metro stations, and commercial centres.
- Multi-Modal Logistics Parks (MMLPs) being developed under Bharatmala (with INR 460000 Millions investment) are integrating automated truck parking to manage freight movement efficiently.

Expansion of Airports & Increased Air Traffic (2014-2024)

India has significantly expanded its aviation infrastructure, increasing the number of operational airports from 74 in 2014 to 157 by September 2024. This has been accompanied by a sharp rise in cargo handling capacity, from 800.5 million tonnes in 2014 to 1,630 million tonnes in 2024 (87% growth).

Impact on Automated Parking:

- More airports have led to high demand for automated and multi-level parking at airport terminals.
- Airports now implement real-time parking availability systems, digital payment platforms, and AI-based parking management to reduce congestion.

Gati Shakti National Master Plan (INR 1.3 Trillion Investment, Ongoing)

The Gati Shakti initiative, aimed at integrating transport and logistics infrastructure, has improved connectivity between roadways, railways, and metro systems.

This plan has encouraged:

- Smart transit hubs, where automated parking is essential for managing private vehicles, taxis, and last-mile connectivity.
- Development of smart bus depots and railway station parking facilities with automated ticketing and vehicle tracking.

Chennai Multi-Level Parking (MLP) Initiative (Public-Private Partnership, 2024-Onward)

To tackle parking shortages in high-demand areas, Chennai has initiated a standalone Multi-Level Parking (MLP) project supported by Viability Gap Funding (VGF).

Impact on Automated Parking:

- Private entities are developing, operating, and maintaining smart parking solutions with government support.
- On-street parking within 500m radius of MLP zones is being managed with automated systems to ensure better space utilization and reduce illegal parking

Urbanization and the Growth of Smart Parking Systems

India's urban landscape is transforming rapidly, with a projected 600 million people expected to reside in cities by 2036. This demographic shift is expected to increase urban population density and put immense pressure on existing infrastructure, particularly in the transportation sector. As a result, smart parking solutions are emerging as a crucial component of urban mobility management, ensuring efficient space utilization, reducing congestion, and promoting sustainability.

Automated parking systems will be instrumental in shaping India’s urban mobility landscape by enhancing space utilization, reducing congestion, and supporting sustainable development. As cities expand and modernize, the integration of AI, IoT, and digital payment solutions will drive the evolution of smart parking. With strategic investments in multi-level parking, transit-oriented development, and public-private partnerships, India can create an efficient and technology-driven parking ecosystem that aligns with its long- term urban development goals.

India Automotive Automated Parking System Market Revenue, By Component Type (Hardware & Software)

Automated Parking Systems (APS) integrate a range of advanced hardware and software components to enable efficient, secure, and space-saving vehicle parking in increasingly congested urban environments. Key hardware includes entrance/exit terminals with safety sensors, vertical lifts and horizontal carriers for vehicle movement, pallet management systems, and automated barriers that together streamline the parking process. Complementing this are software solutions like Parking Management Software, License Plate Recognition, SCADA systems, AI algorithms, and security platforms that oversee system operations, enhance safety, and enable data-driven decision-making. The seamless coordination of these components not only improves user convenience and safety but also supports scalable, high-density parking solutions essential for smart cities. This reflects increasing reliance on intelligent parking management software, AI-driven analytics, and integrated control systems to ensure operational efficiency and user experience. Together, these trends indicate a balanced evolution of the APS ecosystem in India, with growing emphasis on digitization and automation alongside robust hardware deployment to support smart mobility and urban infrastructure development.

Insight on Dominant Type of Parking System in India

- Tower Parking (Elevator-Based Parking): Tower parking systems, also known as elevator-based parking, use a vertical stacking mechanism where vehicles are transported by an automated lift to designated slots. These systems are especially efficient in utilizing vertical space, making them ideal for densely populated urban areas with limited land availability. Common in cities like Mumbai, Delhi, and Bengaluru, tower parking helps address severe parking shortages in high-rise residential and commercial buildings. Key advantages include optimal land use, enhanced vehicle security, and faster retrieval times, although high installation and maintenance costs can limit adoption in cost-sensitive regions.

- Rail Guided Cart Systems, also known as Shuttle Parking Systems: These systems are increasingly being adopted in India as space-efficient and cost-effective alternatives to traditional parking. These systems use motorized shuttles running on fixed rails to transport vehicles horizontally to designated parking slots, often integrated with lifts for vertical movement. An example of this can be seen in modern commercial and residential developments in cities like Mumbai and Bengaluru, where space is limited and land prices are high. Projects like the Lodha World Towers in Mumbai have incorporated semi-automated shuttle parking to optimize underground parking space and improve vehicle retrieval time. By eliminating the need for wide driveways and ramps, these systems significantly increase the number of vehicles that can be parked in a limited footprint, making them ideal for dense urban environments.
- Puzzle Parking (Semi-Auto System): Puzzle parking systems use a combination of horizontal and vertical movements to stack vehicles efficiently, making them ideal for areas with high parking demand and limited space. Commonly used in business parks, malls, and residential complexes, they offer a cost-effective alternative to fully automated systems. Their mechanical design ensures optimal space utilization and easy access, though regular maintenance is needed to ensure reliable operation.
- Stack Parking (Hydraulic Lift-Based System): Stack parking systems use hydraulic lifts to vertically arrange multiple vehicles, effectively doubling or tripling parking capacity within a limited footprint. Commonly used in residential buildings and small commercial spaces, they are cost-effective and easy to install with minimal structural changes. While manual operation limits their suitability for high-traffic areas, they remain a practical solution for low- to mid-rise developments facing space constraints.

Insights on Robotic Parking System: Robotic parking systems are cutting-edge solutions designed to address the growing space constraints in urban environments. These systems rely on fully automated, computer-controlled machinery to park and retrieve vehicles without human involvement. Using a series of lifts, conveyors, and shuttles, the system transports cars from the entrance to a designated parking space and vice versa. By eliminating the need for ramps, wide driveways, or pedestrian pathways, robotic parking significantly maximizes available space, making it an ideal choice for luxury residential buildings, commercial complexes, and smart urban infrastructure projects. The compact design not only enhances land utilization but also contributes to a streamlined, premium experience for users.

In addition to space efficiency, robotic parking systems offer notable benefits in terms of safety and vehicle protection. Since users do not access the parking zones, the risk of accidents, theft, or vandalism is greatly minimized. Vehicles are also shielded from external elements such as dust, rain, and sunlight, extending their longevity. However, these systems require a considerable upfront investment and regular maintenance to ensure reliable performance. While they present a high-tech and space-saving solution for modern cities, success depends on dependable operation, ongoing technical support, and user confidence in the system's seamless functionality.

India Automotive Automated Parking System Market Revenue, By System Type:

India's automated parking landscape is increasingly adopting diverse system types to cater to the varying demands of urban environments. Tower systems, also known as vertical rotary systems, are gaining traction in densely populated cities like Mumbai and Delhi due to their ability to accommodate a high number of vehicles in a compact vertical space. These systems use elevators and rotating mechanisms to store and retrieve vehicles efficiently, making them ideal for luxury apartments, commercial hubs, and hospitals with limited ground area. Rail Guided Cart (RGC) or Shuttle Parking systems are favored in mid- to large-sized infrastructure projects for their ability to move vehicles horizontally and vertically via motorized carts on tracks. Their modularity and high efficiency make them well-suited for airport parking, large malls, and IT parks.

Puzzle and stack parking systems in India are experiencing moderate to low growth compared to advanced automated solutions. While cost-effective and space-saving, puzzle systems face limitations in scalability, maintenance due to mechanical complexity, and height and weight restrictions, making them suitable mainly for small to mid-sized buildings. Stack systems, being basic and mostly manual with limited capacity, are common in low-rise residential and small office spaces but lack the automation and efficiency needed for high-demand commercial areas. As urban development shifts toward smarter, fully automated parking integrated with smart city goals, puzzle and stack systems remain confined to niche markets with budget and space constraints.

The India Automotive Automated Parking System market shows divergent trends across different system types from CY 2021 to CY 2024. Tower systems and rail-guided cart/shuttle parking systems demonstrate healthy growth, with revenues increasing from USD 123.2 million to 170.4 million and USD 109.1 million to 144.1 million, respectively. This corresponds to robust CAGRs of 11.4% and 9.7%, reflecting rising demand for more sophisticated, scalable, and efficient automated parking solutions in urban and commercial settings.

In contrast, puzzle and stack parking systems show a declining revenue trend over the same period. Puzzle system revenue slightly decreases from USD 143.2 million to 140.9 million, with a marginal negative CAGR of -0.5%, while stack parking revenues fall more sharply from USD 211.2 million to 199.8 million, reflecting a CAGR of -1.8%. This decline highlights the challenges these traditional systems face, such as limited scalability, slower operations, and maintenance issues, which reduce their appeal in increasingly smart and high-capacity parking environments.

India Automated Parking System Market Revenue, By End User:

In India, the adoption of automated parking systems varies significantly between residential and commercial end users due to differing space requirements, user expectations, and investment capacity.

Residential Sector: In residential developments, particularly in urban high-rises and premium housing projects, automated parking systems are being gradually adopted to maximize space efficiency and enhance property value. However, uptake remains moderate due to cost sensitivity, limited awareness, and preferences for simpler, low-maintenance solutions like stack or puzzle systems. These systems are often seen in gated communities, luxury apartments, and builder floors with constrained plot sizes.

Commercial Sector: The commercial segment—including malls, office complexes, hospitals, and transport hubs—drives the bulk of the demand for fully automated, high-capacity parking systems like tower and shuttle systems. These environments prioritize throughput, safety, and integration with smart infrastructure, making advanced solutions more viable despite higher upfront costs. Growing urban congestion and smart city initiatives further fuel adoption in this segment, positioning it as the primary growth engine for India’s automated parking market.

The India Automated Parking System market shows steady growth across both residential and commercial end users from CY 2021 to CY 2024. Residential segment revenue increases from USD 378.0 million to 424.6 million, slightly outpacing the commercial segment, which grows from USD 208.7 million to 230.6 million. Both sectors exhibit similar moderate CAGRs of 3.9% for residential and 3.4% for commercial, reflecting consistent but gradual adoption driven by increasing urbanization, space constraints, and rising demand for efficient parking solutions. The residential market remains the larger contributor, likely due to widespread deployment in housing projects, while commercial growth is supported by smart infrastructure initiatives and higher capacity needs.

Key Factors that are Shaping the Demand in the Industry

➤ Urbanization & Associated Growth in Vehicular Population and Its Impact

- Increasing Urban Population & Space Constraints
 - Rising Population Density: Urban areas are experiencing significant population growth, leading to higher population densities. This surge intensifies the demand for

- parking spaces, often exceeding the available supply.
- Shrinking Parking Spaces: The expansion of urban infrastructure often comes at the expense of available land for parking. As cities develop, the allocation of space for parking becomes a challenge, necessitating innovative solutions like APS.
- Growth in Vehicle Ownership
 - Higher Disposable Income: Economic development in urban areas has led to increased disposable incomes, resulting in higher rates of vehicle ownership. This trend contributes to the growing need for efficient parking solutions.
 - Changing Consumer Preferences: The preference for private vehicle ownership remains strong in many urban areas, further exacerbating parking challenges.
 - Vehicle ownership is rising exponentially, with over 350 million registered vehicles as of 2023.
- Traffic Congestion & the Need for Efficient Parking
 - Time Wasted Searching for Parking: Drivers often spend considerable time searching for parking spaces, contributing to traffic congestion and increased emissions.
 - Role of APS in Reducing Congestion: Automated parking systems can streamline the parking process, reducing the time vehicles spend on the road searching for parking and thereby alleviating congestion.

This expressway incorporates several smart features, including an Intelligent Highway Management System for traffic surveillance, CCTV cameras to monitor speed limits and lane discipline, and provisions for optical fibre connectivity and gas pipelines, turning it into a 'digital ready' utility corridor. The integration of these technologies not only enhances road safety and efficiency but also stimulates the demand for advanced traffic management solutions across the country's expanding expressway network.

- iRASTE Initiative: To improve road safety and decrease fatalities by half, the Indian government launched the Intelligent Solutions for Road Safety through Technology and Engineering (iRASTE) initiative under Mission Zero in September 2021. The pilot project, running for two years in Nagpur, focuses on vehicle safety, mobility analysis, and infrastructure safety. This initiative exemplifies the growing demand for AI-powered traffic management solutions aimed at enhancing road safety and efficiency.

India's commitment to upgrading its infrastructure through initiatives like the Smart Cities Mission, the development of advanced expressways, and AI-driven safety projects is driving the adoption of smart and automated traffic management solutions. These efforts aim to create more efficient, safe, and sustainable urban environments, addressing the challenges posed by rapid urbanization and increasing.

Regulatory Framework

The regulatory landscape for automated parking systems (APS) in India is still evolving, as these systems are a relatively new technology in the country. However, based on the context of infrastructure development and urban planning in India, several key considerations can be inferred regarding the regulatory environment for APS:

Urban Development and Land Use Policies

- Automated parking systems align with urban planning initiatives aimed at optimizing land use, particularly in densely populated cities. Regulations governing land use and building codes are critical to determining where and how APS can be implemented. These systems may require approvals from local municipal authorities or urban development bodies to ensure compliance with zoning laws and space utilization norms.

Environmental Regulations

APS contribute to reducing emissions by minimizing the time vehicles spend idling or searching for parking spaces. This aligns with India's environmental goals, such as those outlined in the National Electric Mobility Mission Plan (NEMMP) and other sustainability initiatives. Regulatory incentives could potentially encourage the adoption of APS as part of green building certifications or smart city projects.

Safety and Security Standards

- Given their reliance on automation and advanced technology, APS must adhere to safety regulations to ensure the secure operation of mechanical systems. This includes compliance with standards for structural integrity, fire safety, and emergency evacuation protocols. Additionally, security features like license plate recognition and controlled access may need to meet data protection and cybersecurity regulations.

• Integration with Smart City Initiatives

- India's Smart Cities Mission emphasizes the use of technology to improve urban infrastructure and services. APS can play a role in smart mobility solutions, but their deployment may require integration with broader smart city frameworks. This could involve compliance with digital infrastructure standards, interoperability requirements, and data-sharing protocols.

Key Regulatory Policies Impacting the Traffic Management & Parking Infrastructure

The regulatory landscape for traffic management and parking infrastructure in India is shaped by various policies and programs aimed at addressing urban congestion, optimizing land use, and promoting sustainable urban development.

National Urban Transport Policy (NUTP)

- The NUTP, introduced by the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs, focuses on creating efficient urban transport systems to reduce traffic congestion and enhance mobility. It emphasizes the integration of parking infrastructure with public transport systems, encouraging multi-modal transport solutions to reduce dependency on personal vehicles. This policy indirectly supports advanced parking systems like Automated Parking Systems (APS) as part of urban planning.

Municipal Parking Regulations

- Local municipal bodies across India have implemented parking policies that mandate the development of multi-level parking facilities in high-density areas. These regulations aim to address the growing demand for parking spaces while minimizing land use. Automated parking systems are increasingly being considered as a solution to meet these requirements due to their ability to maximize space utilization.
- Delhi's Master Plan 2021 emphasizes multi-level parking in commercial and residential areas.
- Mumbai's Development Plan 2034 includes provisions for incentivizing private developers to construct parking facilities, which could include APS.

Environmental Policies

- India's environmental regulations encourage sustainable urban development, including reducing vehicular emissions and promoting green building practices. APS contributes to these goals by lowering emissions through reduced idling times and integrating energy-efficient technologies such as LED lighting and solar panels.

Public-Private Partnership (PPP) Frameworks

- Many parking infrastructure projects are developed under PPP models, where private entities collaborate with government bodies to design, finance, and operate modern parking facilities. These frameworks provide opportunities for deploying APS in urban areas while ensuring cost efficiency and technological innovation.

Municipal Bylaws and Urban Development Policies

- Municipal corporations across India have instituted specific bylaws to regulate parking within their jurisdictions. These bylaws often stipulate:
- Minimum Parking Requirements: Mandating a certain number of parking spaces per unit area in residential and commercial developments.
- Design Specifications: Defining dimensions for parking spaces, driveways, and aisles to ensure safety and accessibility.
- Usage Regulations: Prohibiting the obstruction of emergency exits and ensuring parking lots are easily accessible and compliant with safety regulations.

Policies Enhancing Industry Development

India's rapid urbanization has intensified concerns over parking space shortages in metropolitan areas, particularly in cities like Delhi, Mumbai, and Bengaluru. As a result, various policies and urban initiatives have been introduced to optimize parking management, with automated parking systems (APS) emerging as a potential solution.

Multi-Level and Automated Parking Initiatives in Major Cities: Several major Indian cities have recognized the need for innovative parking solutions to address congestion and space constraints. Delhi, Mumbai, and Bengaluru have pioneered the introduction of multi-level APS to manage urban mobility more efficiently. These systems not only maximize land usage but also reduce parking-related traffic congestion.

Ahmedabad's Revised Parking Policy 2023: This policy focuses on integrating smart parking technologies, although there is no explicit mention of automated parking systems. The policy emphasizes:

- Efficient space utilization: While APS is not directly included, the push for optimal space management may encourage its adoption in future urban development plans.
- Mandatory parking regulations: Discussions are underway regarding the introduction of policies requiring urban residents to secure parking spaces before purchasing a vehicle.
- Stakeholder deliberations: Municipal corporations, urban development authorities, vehicle registration authorities, traffic police, and real estate developers are involved in discussions to address long-term parking challenges.
- Green integration: Future multi-level parking infrastructure is expected to incorporate EV charging stations and solar energy solutions, aligning with sustainability goals.

Smart Cities Mission and Its Impact on APS: The Indian government's Smart Cities Mission aims to modernize urban infrastructure by incorporating intelligent traffic management and smart parking solutions. APS aligns with these objectives through:

- Space optimization: Automated systems make better use of limited urban spaces.
- Emissions reduction: By streamlining parking processes, APS minimizes fuel wastage caused by prolonged vehicle idling.
- Integration with digital platforms: Many smart city projects incorporate real-time parking tracking and booking, improving user convenience and reducing on-road congestion.

Regulatory Measures and Future Prospects: To further support APS expansion, India is witnessing regulatory discussions on:

- Encouraging private investment: Policies promoting Public-Private Partnerships (PPP) could accelerate APS adoption in high-density urban centres.
- Zoning laws and construction mandates: Future urban planning policies may include mandatory APS provisions for commercial and residential buildings.
- Sustainability incentives: Tax benefits or subsidies for green parking solutions, including APS with EV charging and solar energy integration, may become more prevalent.

While direct policies exclusively governing APS are still evolving, India's urban mobility strategies increasingly favour automated and multi-level parking solutions. With initiatives like Ahmedabad's Parking Policy 2023 and the Smart Cities Mission paving the way, APS is poised to play a critical role in the country's urban landscape. Future policy developments are expected to drive private sector participation, integrate smart technology, and support sustainability, ultimately fostering the widespread adoption of APS across Indian cities.

Brief Insight on Use Case of Automated Parking System in India

Shuttle Parking System

In India, Pune is implementing its first city-wide shuttle parking facility near the Hinjewadi IT Park, covering

3,000 square meters and accommodating around 450 cars across seven levels. The project, costing approximately INR 55 crore, is expected to ease parking demand in one of the city's busiest tech corridors. Similarly, in Bengaluru, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is piloting a shuttle-based multi-level parking structure near MG Road, designed for 320 vehicles. These projects showcase growing municipal adoption of automated solutions in major urban hubs.

Shuttle Parking Systems offer multiple benefits, including maximizing available space, reducing traffic congestion around parking zones, and ensuring vehicle safety. By removing the need for drivers to navigate inside parking structures, these systems minimize accidents and operational delays. Advanced monitoring and automated retrieval make the system convenient for users while cutting down staffing requirements.

With rapid urbanization in India, the demand for high-capacity, space-saving parking solutions is expected to rise. Shuttle Parking Systems, supported by local engineering firms and technology providers, are poised to become a key component of smart city initiatives. Their adoption helps municipalities manage land efficiently, improve traffic flow, and enhance the overall urban mobility experience.

Rotary Parking System

In India, the adoption of Rotary Parking Systems is gradually increasing, especially in metropolitan areas facing severe parking shortages. For instance, JK System, based in Thane, offers Rotary Car Parking Systems with capacities ranging from 2 to 8 levels, accommodating 10 to 12 cars per unit. The pricing for these systems varies, with some models priced around INR 4,00,000 per unit, depending on the specifications and customization options.

The Rotary Parking System offers several advantages, including space optimization, reduced construction costs, and minimal land usage. It operates quietly and efficiently, with low maintenance requirements. The system's design ensures that vehicles are parked securely, and retrieval is straightforward, making it user-friendly. Additionally, the compact nature of the system allows it to be installed in areas where traditional parking solutions would be impractical.

As urbanization continues to accelerate in India, the demand for innovative parking solutions like the Rotary Parking System is expected to grow. With its ability to maximize parking capacity in limited spaces, this system presents a viable solution to the parking challenges faced by many Indian cities. Continued advancements in technology and increased awareness among urban planners will likely drive the wider adoption of Rotary Parking Systems across the country.

Automated Guided Vehicle [AGV] Parking System

In August 2025, Delhi commissioned its first robotic car parking facility at Greater Kailash I, developed by the Municipal Corporation of Delhi. Built at a cost of INR 63.7 crore, this fully automated multilevel shuttle system will accommodate 399 cars, reduce the need for ramps and human parking assistance, and provide improved security through restricted access and surveillance cameras. Similarly, south Mumbai is developing a multi-level robotic underground parking next to Flora Fountain at Hutatma Chowk, which will quadruple the parking capacity to 194 cars in one of the city's busiest zones. Hyderabad too is expected to launch its first fully automated parking facility, highlighting growing adoption across metros.

On the technology side, companies are investing heavily to localize and scale solutions. Sotefin Bharat, the Indian arm of Swiss automated parking specialist Sotefin SA, is backing indigenous manufacturing of robotic parking systems in West Bengal, supported by an upcoming INR 80-crore IPO to fund a manufacturing facility. In Pune, Affordable Robotic and Automation Limited (ARAPL), through its subsidiary ARAPL RaaS, is developing an AGV-driven multi-level car parking solution, showcasing homegrown innovation in robotic mobility and automation. These developments illustrate that while AGV and robotic parking remain at a nascent stage in India, momentum is building through municipal initiatives, international technology tie-ups, and domestic engineering firms, positioning automated parking as a key urban mobility solution to tackle congestion and land constraints.

Silo Parking System

One of the key benefits of the Silo Parking System is its high throughput capacity. The system's design enables rapid vertical and axial movement, allowing for quick parking and retrieval of vehicles. This efficiency is particularly advantageous in high-traffic urban environments where minimizing wait times is crucial. Additionally, the Silo Parking System offers scalability and adaptability. It can be customized to fit various site conditions and can be integrated with other automated systems to enhance overall functionality. The system's robust design ensures consistent performance over time, reducing maintenance requirements and operational costs.

In India, while the Silo Parking System is not yet widely implemented, there is growing interest in its potential to address urban parking challenges. Companies like Spaceplus are exploring the feasibility of Silo Parking Systems in Indian cities, aiming to provide innovative solutions to the country's parking woes.

Tower Parking System

The Tower Parking System is an automated parking solution that utilizes vertical space to store vehicles. This system features a central lift mechanism that transports vehicles to designated parking levels within a tower structure. The design allows for the accommodation of a large number of vehicles in a relatively small footprint, making it ideal for densely populated urban areas.

A significant advantage of the Tower Parking System is its space efficiency. By utilizing vertical space, the system can park up to 60 cars in the area typically required for 3 conventional parking spaces. This high-density storage capability is particularly beneficial in cities where land is scarce and expensive.

The Tower Parking System also offers convenience and security. Users can park and retrieve their vehicles with minimal effort, and the automated nature of the system reduces the risk of accidents associated with manual parking. Additionally, the enclosed design enhances vehicle security by limiting unauthorized access. In India, the Tower Parking System is gaining traction as a viable solution to urban parking challenges. Companies like Sotefin Bharat and Park layer are developing and implementing Tower Parking Systems in various cities, aiming to provide efficient and secure parking solutions to meet the growing demand.

Semi-Automated Parking System

Semi-Automated Parking Systems are designed to combine manual vehicle handling with automated movement mechanisms to optimize parking space utilization. Unlike fully automated systems, these solutions require the driver to position the vehicle at a designated entry or transfer point, after which mechanical platforms or lifts handle the parking process. This approach allows for higher parking density in limited spaces while keeping costs lower than fully automated systems. Semi-automated systems are particularly useful in mid-sized commercial buildings, residential complexes, and public facilities where full automation may not be economically feasible.

Another advantage of semi-automated systems is the flexibility in layout design. Platforms, lifts, or sliding mechanisms can be arranged to fit the structural constraints of the building, whether horizontal, vertical, or a combination of both. While some human intervention is still required, the system minimizes the need for drivers to navigate tight parking spaces, enhancing safety and reducing congestion. Many Indian cities are increasingly exploring semi-automated parking to manage urban congestion, especially in areas where land is scarce and conventional parking solutions cannot accommodate growing vehicle density.

Puzzle Parking System

The Puzzle Parking System is a semi-automated solution that arranges vehicles on movable platforms or pallets within a grid-like layout. Drivers park their vehicles at designated entry points, and the system shifts adjacent cars horizontally or vertically to optimize space, allowing multiple vehicles to share a compact area. This method maximizes parking density without requiring complex lift mechanisms, making it suitable for residential and commercial spaces with irregular layouts.

One of the key advantages of the Puzzle Parking System is its adaptability. It can be installed in underground, ground-level, or multi-story structures, and the modular design allows easy expansion if parking demand increases. The system improves accessibility by enabling independent retrieval of vehicles without having to move multiple cars manually. This makes it ideal for office complexes, shopping centers, and mid-rise residential projects where vehicle turnover is high.

The safety and security features of Puzzle Parking Systems are also notable. By automating the horizontal and vertical movement of cars, the system minimizes human error, reducing the risk of accidents or vehicle damage. Additionally, controlled access to platforms ensures that only authorized users can operate the system, making it suitable for locations with high-value vehicles or restricted access requirements. In India, semi-automated Puzzle Parking Systems are gaining traction in urban areas facing land constraints. Cities such as Bengaluru, Pune, and Hyderabad are exploring pilot projects in commercial complexes and IT parks. The technology is often sourced from international suppliers but increasingly localized through partnerships with Indian engineering and automation firms, reflecting a growing trend toward efficient, space-saving parking solutions in metropolitan regions.

Stacker Parking System

The Stacker Parking System is a semi-automated solution that vertically stacks vehicles using hydraulic or mechanical lifts. Drivers position their cars on entry platforms, and the system lifts and deposits them onto upper levels of the structure. This approach significantly increases parking density while requiring only minimal land area, making it highly suitable for congested urban locations. Stacker systems can accommodate both small and medium-sized vehicles, offering flexibility for mixed-use commercial or residential complexes.

One of the major benefits of the Stacker Parking System is its space efficiency. By stacking vehicles vertically, the system can store up to twice or three times the number of cars compared to conventional surface parking on the same footprint. The semi-automated design reduces the need for wide driving lanes, further optimizing available space. Additionally, the retrieval process is relatively fast, allowing users to park and collect vehicles efficiently with minimal waiting time.

Stacker systems also offer enhanced safety and security. Vehicles are stored on enclosed platforms, reducing the risk of damage from other cars or environmental factors. Safety interlocks and sensors prevent accidents during lifting and lowering operations, while controlled access ensures that only authorized personnel operate the system. The reduced human intervention also decreases liability and operational issues for facility managers. In India, Stacker Parking Systems are being adopted in metropolitan cities like Mumbai, Pune, and Hyderabad, particularly in commercial and residential projects where space is at a premium. Domestic automation companies and international suppliers are working together to implement systems that are tailored for local conditions, including varying vehicle sizes, power supply considerations, and structural limitations. This approach reflects the growing acceptance of semi-automated systems as a cost-effective and efficient alternative to fully automated parking solutions.

Growth Forecast:

Over the next five years, India's automated parking system market is poised for steady growth, driven by rapid urbanization, increasing vehicle ownership, and the persistent shortage of parking space in densely populated cities. As urban centers continue to expand vertically and horizontally, space-efficient and technologically advanced parking solutions are becoming a necessity rather than a luxury. Government initiatives around smart cities and sustainable urban infrastructure are also expected to play a key role in accelerating the adoption of automated parking systems across residential and commercial developments.

Increased awareness among developers and end-users about the long-term benefits of automation such as reduced land usage, enhanced safety, and lower emissions will further support market penetration. Commercial hubs, IT parks, shopping complexes, and transit-oriented developments are likely to lead the transition, favoring high-capacity, fully automated systems. Meanwhile, the residential segment will see growing interest, especially in premium and space-constrained projects. As technology becomes more accessible and cost-effective, the industry is expected to witness a broader shift from basic mechanized systems to more intelligent and integrated automated solutions.

As cities expand and smart infrastructure becomes a priority, there will be a higher deployment of advanced hardware systems that support fully automated, multi-level parking solutions.

On the other hand, the software segment is projected to grow at a faster pace, albeit from a smaller base. As the industry matures, greater emphasis will be placed on intelligent parking management, integration with smart city platforms, and user-friendly digital interfaces. Features like real-time occupancy tracking, mobile app-based access, payment automation, and remote monitoring will drive software adoption. This growing digitalization of parking systems will not only enhance user convenience but also improve operational efficiency, making software a critical enabler in the evolution of automated parking in India.

The India Automated Parking System market is projected to see steady growth in both hardware and software segments between CY 2025 and CY 2031. Hardware revenue is expected to rise from USD 559.3 million to 718.7 million, reflecting a CAGR of 4.3%, driven by ongoing installations of mechanical and structural components necessary for automated parking solutions. Meanwhile, the software segment is anticipated to grow at a faster pace, with revenue increasing from USD 120.5 million to 169.5 million and a CAGR of 5.8%. This faster growth highlights the rising importance of advanced parking management software, digital integration, and smart features that enhance operational efficiency and user experience in increasingly automated parking environments.

Expected Growth in India Automotive Automated Parking System Market Revenue, By System Type:

India's automated parking market is clearly shifting toward more advanced, high-capacity solutions such as tower and rail-guided cart systems. These technologies offer fully automated operations that efficiently cater to the growing demands of urban commercial centers and high-density residential projects. The preference for these systems is driven by their ability to optimize limited space, reduce vehicle retrieval times, and integrate with smart infrastructure, making them ideal for the evolving urban landscape where land is scarce and vehicle numbers continue to rise.

Emerging systems like AGV (Automated Guided Vehicle) and silo parking are beginning to gain traction, despite their relatively low presence in the past. The expected growth in these segments can be attributed to advancements in automation technology, improved system reliability, and greater awareness among developers about the benefits of flexible, scalable parking solutions. AGV systems, in particular, offer modularity and adaptability, allowing for easier customization and integration in varied urban settings. Meanwhile, silo systems provide a compact and cost-effective alternative for medium-sized developments, making these technologies increasingly attractive as cities seek efficient, space-saving parking options without compromising on automation.

The AGV system segment is projected to grow from USD 2.0 million to USD 10.7 million during the forecast period, indicating a CAGR of over 26%. Key growth drivers include rising land scarcity in metropolitan areas, increasing demand for fully automated and touchless systems, and declining costs of automation components such as sensors, AGVs, and software platforms. Additionally, pilot installations across regions like East Asia and Western Europe are serving as proof-of-concept for larger adoption in urban real estate and infrastructure projects.

Key Growth Drivers for AGV (Automated Guided Vehicle) Parking Systems:

- Urban Space Constraints & Land Optimization Needs:

Rapid urbanization and rising vehicle density have increased pressure on land use in major cities. AGV-based parking systems provide a fully automated, high-density parking solution that requires less horizontal and vertical space than conventional systems. This makes them highly suitable for premium real estate zones, airports, commercial complexes, and smart city projects.
- Advancements in Automation and Robotics:

Continuous improvements in AGV technology including better path planning, collision avoidance, and navigation accuracy have made these systems more reliable and efficient. Integration with IoT and AI has further enhanced operational control, enabling dynamic routing, load balancing, and predictive maintenance.
- Rising Demand for Contactless and Smart Parking Solutions:

The pandemic accelerated interest in contactless technologies across sectors. In the context of parking, AGV systems reduce human interaction and eliminate the need for valet or manual operation, offering a safer and more hygienic experience, which aligns with modern consumer expectations.
- Modularity and Scalability:

AGV systems are modular by design, allowing developers to scale the system up or down based on space

- availability and demand. This makes them more flexible compared to traditional systems, which often require rigid layouts and predefined configurations.
- Operational Efficiency and Reduced Maintenance:

Unlike mechanical systems (like puzzle or stack parking) that involve wear-and-tear-prone parts, AGV systems operate on electric drive systems with minimal mechanical complexity. This translates to lower downtime and reduces long-term maintenance costs, making them economically viable in the long run.
 - Increased Developer and Government Interest:

Governments and urban planners are increasingly prioritizing smart infrastructure and sustainable transport solutions. Supportive urban policies, tax incentives, and smart city missions (particularly in regions like East Asia, Europe, and select Indian metros) are encouraging developers to adopt next-gen parking systems like AGVs.
 - Successful Global Pilots and Replicability:

Early installations of AGV systems in countries like Japan, South Korea, Germany, and UAE have demonstrated their feasibility and ROI, creating market confidence. These case studies are driving interest among global real estate players and infrastructure developers to replicate similar model

In contrast, traditional systems such as puzzle and stack parking are experiencing stagnation or decline due to their inherent limitations. These basic, lower-automation solutions struggle to meet the rising expectations for speed, capacity, and ease of use in fast-growing urban environments. Their mechanical complexity, maintenance requirements, and slower operation times make them less competitive against newer automated systems. This dynamic reflects a broader market trend favoring sophisticated, scalable parking technologies that align with smart city initiatives and the need for sustainable urban mobility solutions.

India's automotive automated parking market shows distinct growth trends through CY 2031, with tower systems increasing from USD 185.9 million in CY 2025 to 328.6 million in CY 2031 (CAGR ~10.5%) and rail-guided cart systems rising from 158.3 million to 290.4 million (CAGR ~10.3%), driven by demand for high-capacity, fully automated solutions in urban and residential developments. Emerging AGV and silo systems also gain traction, growing at even higher rates from smaller bases. Conversely, puzzle parking remains relatively stable near USD 137 million with a slight decline, while stack parking falls sharply from 193.3 million to 116.3 million (CAGR approx. -7.4%), reflecting a clear market shift from low-automation systems to advanced, scalable technologies aligned with urbanization and smart infrastructure initiatives.

Expected Growth in India Automated Parking System Market Revenue, By End User:

Over the next 5 to 6 years, the residential segment in India is expected to drive growth in automated parking systems due to tighter building regulations that mandate optimized parking layouts and the rising preference for premium housing projects offering modern amenities. Increasing land costs in urban areas also push developers to adopt automated solutions that maximize space efficiency without compromising on liveability. Additionally, the growing awareness among homeowners about enhanced security and convenience further boosts adoption.

In the commercial sector, growth is propelled by the expansion of IT parks, retail complexes, and multi-use developments that require streamlined parking management to handle higher vehicle volumes efficiently. The need for faster vehicle turnover and integration with digital payment and access control systems makes automated parking a practical choice. Furthermore, commercial projects often benefit from government incentives for smart infrastructure, encouraging investments in sophisticated parking technologies to improve operational efficiency and customer satisfaction.

Here are some more factors that impacts on expected growth of Automated Parking System in India:

Real Estate Sector Growth

India's real estate sector is expected to experience significant expansion, surging from USD 350 billion in 2023 to USD 1 trillion by 2030. This growth is being fueled by urbanization, increasing digital adoption, and technological advancements in the industry. Additionally, with India's urban population projected to reach 680 million by 2047, the sector is undergoing a major transformation, creating demand for approximately 230 million new housing units to accommodate the growing population.

Increase in Urban Population

By 2030, India's urban population will reach 630 million, increasing congestion and driving demand for efficient parking solutions. Growing residential and commercial density is accelerating the shift toward structured, technology-driven parking systems. Additionally, integrating parking with public transport is becoming essential for seamless urban mobility and reducing roadside parking dependency.

Bright The Future of Malls in India

Between 2021 and 2024, 14.4 million sq. ft. of retail space became operational, with an additional 46.5 million sq. ft. anticipated between 2025 and 2030. If completed as scheduled, this will mark India's largest mall expansion, adding approximately 60.9 million sq. ft. of new retail space.

The modernization of urban infrastructure, supported by large-scale government initiatives, is playing a crucial role in the expansion of automated parking systems. Investments in smart city projects, highway developments, and integrated transport networks have led to a greater focus on optimizing urban mobility. As a result, there is an increasing need for parking solutions that can effectively manage high vehicle volumes while improving traffic flow.

Airports, metro stations, and major transport hubs are also experiencing growing demand for multi-level and automated parking facilities. The expansion of these infrastructures has encouraged the adoption of smart parking technologies, ensured better space utilization and reduced congestion in high-traffic areas.

With urban populations growing steadily, city spaces are becoming more congested, making efficient parking management a necessity. The rising density of residential and commercial areas has led to a shift towards structured and technology-driven parking solutions. The integration of parking facilities with public transportation systems is also gaining importance, enabling seamless urban mobility and reducing dependency on roadside parking.

Additionally, as urban planning moves towards sustainable development, smart parking systems are emerging as a key component of environmentally friendly city management. By minimizing space wastage and reducing emissions from vehicles searching for parking, these systems contribute to more efficient and sustainable urban environments.

Advancements in technology are transforming the parking industry, making automated systems more efficient and user-friendly. The incorporation of Artificial Intelligence (AI), Internet of Things (IoT), automated ticketing, and digital payment systems is enhancing the convenience and effectiveness of parking solutions. These technologies enable real-time monitoring of parking availability, optimizing space usage and improving overall traffic management

Threats & Challenges

Key Threats & Challenges Facing the Industry

The Automated Parking Systems (APS) industry is growing due to urbanization, technological advancements, and the increasing demand for efficient parking solutions. As cities become more congested and space for conventional parking decreases, APS offers a smart alternative to optimize land use and improve traffic flow. However, despite its benefits, several challenges and threats hinder its widespread adoption. High investment costs, technical challenges, regulatory hurdles, cybersecurity threats, and resistance from traditional parking operators are key concerns impacting the industry's growth. Additionally, issues related to system reliability, scalability, and environmental sustainability further complicate widespread implementation. Addressing these challenges is crucial for ensuring the seamless integration of APS into India's evolving urban landscape.

High Initial Investment & Maintenance Costs:

- Capital-Intensive Infrastructure: Setting up automated parking systems requires heavy investment in land, construction, and advanced technology like robotics, sensors, and AI-driven parking management.
- Maintenance & Operational Costs: Regular maintenance of mechanical and electronic components (e.g., conveyor belts, lifts, sensors) adds to operational expenses.

Limited Awareness & Adoption

- Lack of Awareness Among Users & Developers: Many real estate developers and municipalities are unfamiliar with APS benefits, leading to slower adoption.
- Preference for Conventional Parking: Many vehicle owners still prefer traditional open or basement parking, leading to resistance in shifting to automated solutions.

Space Constraints & Retrofitting Issues

- Challenge in Existing Buildings: Retrofitting APS into old buildings is difficult due to structural limitations and space constraints.
- Space Requirements for System Components: While APS optimizes parking density, it still requires vertical or underground space, which may not be feasible in congested urban areas.

Technical & Mechanical Failures

- Risk of System Malfunctions: Mechanical issues like conveyor breakdowns, sensor failures, and software glitches can cause parking disruptions.
- Vehicle Retrieval Time: In high-demand areas, the retrieval time of parked vehicles may be longer than expected, leading to customer dissatisfaction.
 - Downtime & System Reliability: Frequent breakdowns and system failures can reduce reliability, affecting user trust.

Cybersecurity & Data Privacy Concerns

- Hacking & Cyber Threats: Since APS is integrated with IoT and cloud-based systems, it is vulnerable to cyberattacks. Hackers can manipulate systems, causing security breaches.
- Data Privacy Risks: User data, including vehicle tracking information, can be misused if not properly protected.

Regulatory & Compliance Barriers

- Lack of Standardized Regulations: India currently lacks a uniform policy framework specifically for automated parking systems (APS), leading to inconsistencies in approvals and implementation. While no central APS-specific regulations exist, broader parking reforms under initiatives such as the Smart Cities Mission and state-level policies (e.g., Uttar Pradesh's new parking policy) indicate early steps toward structured parking governance. However, the absence of formal technical, safety, and operational standards for APS continues to pose challenges for nationwide deployment.
- Local Municipal Challenges: Different cities have varied policies, creating hurdles in obtaining permissions for APS installations.
- Safety Compliance Issues: Automated parking structures need to meet strict fire safety, ventilation, and emergency access regulations, adding complexity to approvals.

Resistance from Stakeholders

- Opposition from Traditional Parking Operators: Conventional parking lot operators may resist automation due to job losses and fear of losing business.
- Developer & Builder Hesitation: Many builders hesitate to invest in APS due to uncertainties regarding adoption rates and revenue generation.

Power Supply & Energy Consumption

- High Energy Demand: Automated parking relies on mechanical lifts, robotics, and electronic monitoring, increasing power consumption.
- Dependency on Uninterrupted Power Supply: Frequent power cuts in some regions can disrupt APS operations, requiring backup power solutions.

Competitive Landscape

The automated parking system industry is witnessing increased demand due to rapid urbanization, space constraints, and the growing number of vehicles in major cities. As urban infrastructure expands, automated solutions are being adopted in residential complexes, commercial buildings, office spaces, malls, hospitals, and public transport hubs. The sector consists of global technology providers, domestic manufacturers, and parking management companies, each offering specialized solutions tailored to different urban challenges.

Government policies and urban planning initiatives also influence the industry, with municipalities encouraging smart city projects and integrated mobility solutions. INDUSTRY OUTLOOK AND MARKET OPPORTUNITY

The global automated parking system (“APS”) industry is witnessing rapid growth driven by accelerating urbanization, limited land availability, and the increasing adoption of automation technologies. Automated parking systems deliver measurable efficiency and sustainability benefits by enabling up to 50–70% higher vehicle density compared to conventional parking layouts, improving operational reliability through IoT-enabled monitoring, and reducing carbon emissions by minimizing vehicle idling and circulation. (Source: D & B Report).

According to industry estimates, the global automated parking system market is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (“CAGR”) of approximately 12%–18% during 2023–2030, reflecting strong adoption across both developed and emerging economies. India’s automated parking system market has entered a sustained expansion phase, supported by strong policy impetus and increasing urban infrastructure investment. The market is projected to grow from USD 679.8 million in CY2025 to USD 888.1 million by CY2031, representing a cumulative increase of over 30% and a forecast CAGR of 4.6% during the period. (Source: D & B Report).

Market Opportunity

The Indian market presents a substantial opportunity for expansion of technologically advanced, space-optimized, and environmentally sustainable parking systems. With over 70% of India’s future urban infrastructure yet to be built, there is significant scope for the integration of automated parking in commercial, residential, and institutional developments. Tier-I cities such as Mumbai, Delhi, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad are leading early adoption, while Tier-II cities are beginning to incorporate APS in new municipal and mixed-use projects. Demand is expected to further strengthen as public-private partnerships (“PPPs”) in parking infrastructure gain traction (Source: D & B Report).

In this context, the Company is positioned to capitalise on these market opportunities through its newly commissioned manufacturing facility located at Bagnan, Howrah, which enhances its manufacturing capacity and supports improved execution and delivery timelines. The Company’s robust order book as on March 31, 2026 exceeding ₹53,439.85 lakhs, ongoing technology collaborations, and continued emphasis on automation and digital integration collectively provide a strong foundation to support the scaling of its operations across India and selected international markets.

PRODUCTS

Our product portfolio comprises of a comprehensive range of mechanised and automated parking solutions, designed to optimise land utilisation, reduce traffic congestion, enhance user convenience, and ensure long-term operational reliability. In addition to our standardised product categories such as Fully Automated Robotic Parking Systems Puzzle Parking Systems, and Tower Parking Systems, we also provide customised parking solutions including Stack Parking Systems which are designed and executed on a project-specific basis to meet site specific requirements.

Set out below is the description of our key product offerings:

1. Robotic Parking System

The Robotic Parking System is a fully automated parking solution designed to maximize operational efficiency and space utilization. Under this System, vehicles are parked and retrieved through an integrated arrangement of robotic shuttles, conveyors, and lifts, enabling a secure, efficient and contactless parking process. Such systems are typically deployed in large-scale developments including airports, shopping centres, commercial complexes, and premium residential projects.

A key component of this system is the SILOMAT® Dolly, a patented robotic carriage developed by Sotefin SA. The SILOMAT® Dolly integrates vehicle centering, lifting, and transfer functions into a single compact device enabling automated handling of vehicles with limited manual intervention. With superior speed, precision, and reliability, SILOMAT® sets a benchmark in automated parking technology, enabling hands-free parking with minimal human intervention.

Our Robotic Parking System eliminates the requirement for conventional internal driveways and ramps, thereby enabling a higher parking density within a given footprint. The system can be configured in both horizontal and vertical layout allowing it to be adapted to varying site conditions and project specifications. Designed to support scalability, efficient operations and sustainability, Robotic Parking Systems are increasingly being adopted by developers and urban planners with a premium, high-efficiency solution where land availability, traffic management and operational efficiency are key considerations. By combining cutting-edge robotics with sustainable design, our Company delivers a future-ready system that addresses the pressing challenges of modern urban mobility, ensuring precision, safety, and optimal use of space in rapidly growing cities.

Design and Configuration

The design and configuration of a typical Robotic Parking System is illustrated below:

Operation

This Robotic Parking System operates through an integrated network of robotic dollies ,shuttles ,and vertical lift modules, all of which are centrally controlled through a Programmable Logic Controller (PLC) based automation system. The operational architecture is designed to facilitate seamless, contactless, and fully automated movement of vehicles within the parking structure.

During the vehicle transfer process, robotic Dollies and shuttles transport vehicles between the entry and exit bays and the designated parking locations. Depending on the system configuration, the movement and positioning of each shuttle are guided by a combination of photoelectric sensors, LASER sensors and proximity sensors. This sensing system ensure accurate vehicle centring, detect overhangs or misalignment, and prevent collisions during horizontal transfer operations.

The vertical lifting system comprises high-speed vertical lifts equipped with frequency-controlled motors that regulate motion for smooth acceleration and deceleration. Positioning LASERs, sensors and encoders are utilised to achieve precise vertical alignment between parking levels, enabling safe and efficient placement and retrieval of vehicles. This integrated control and monitoring framework allows for simultaneous handling of multiple vehicle movement to deliver high throughput, controlled retrieval times, and supporting consistent system performance, and adherence to defined safety and alignment standards.

The system is designed with built-in redundancies, real-time monitoring, and diagnostic capabilities to support reliable operations and facilitate preventive maintenance, thereby enhancing operational continuity over the system lifecycle.

Advantages

- Superior Space Efficiency: Unlike conventional parking that requires ramps, drive aisles, and door-opening clearances, automated systems rely on compact vertical and horizontal stacking. This enable parking of approximately 2–3 times the number of vehicles within the same footprint, making such systems suitable for high-density urban developments where land availability is constrained.
- Minimal Human Intervention Enhancing Safety & Security: Vehicles are parked and retrieved in a secured, access-controlled environment with minimal human involvement. This reduces exposure to risks such as theft, vandalism and collision related incidents, that are commonly associated with conventional parking facilities.
- Enhanced User Convenience through Automation: Users are not required to drive or navigate within the parking structure. Vehicle drop-off and retrieval are conducted at designated terminals, which reduces circulation time, minimises congestion within the facility, and improves overall user experience when compared to conventional multi-level car parking structures.
- Environmental and Energy Efficiency: Automated Parking systems eliminate internal vehicle movement, resulting in reduced exhaust emissions within the facility. Additionally, lower requirement for ventilation, lighting, and circulation space contribute to reduced overall energy consumption when compared to conventional multi- level parking structures. This offers a sustainability advantage over conventional parking structures.

2. Puzzle Parking Systems

The Puzzle Parking System is a semi-automated, independent multi-car parking solution that operates through a combination of vertical and horizontal movements, depending on the level of installation. The platforms are organized in a grid comprising of rows and columns, with defined movement characteristics at each level. Platforms at the top level are designed to move vertically, platforms at intermediate levels are capable of both vertical and horizontal movement, and platforms at the ground level are configured for horizontal movement.

To facilitate efficient platform movement and vehicle retrieval, one parking space is maintained as vacant at the ground and intermediate levels. The vacant space enables the horizontal and vertical repositioning of platforms, allowing vehicles to be lowered or raised from the upper or intermediate levels to the access level in a controlled manner.

The system is operated using a secure hold-to-run device equipped with master keys and is fully controlled through a programmable logic controller (PLC) to ensure precision and operational safety. Operation panels are strategically located to enable effective supervision and are secured to prevent unauthorized access.

The Puzzle Parking system is designed to accommodate a range of vehicle sizes, with platform dimensions configured based on vehicle dimension plus an additional clearance of approximately 300 mm. Depending on the system configuration and operational conditions, vehicle retrieval time typically range between 60 seconds to 90 seconds, enabling efficient vehicle handling during periods of higher utilisation (quick turnaround time).

Design and Configuration

The design and configuration of a typical Puzzle Parking System is illustrated below:

Operation

The operation of a Puzzle Parking System is controlled through Programmable Logic Controllers (“PLCs”) and is secured using RFID- based access alongwith a touchscreen user interface. Vehicle parking and retrieval are executed through a sequential movement of platforms in horizontal and vertical directions, enabling an average vehicle retrieval time typically ranging between 60 seconds to 90 seconds depending on system configuration and utilisation.

The system incorporates multiple safety and control mechanisms, including intrusion detection sensors, anti-fall devices, and electromagnetic braking systems designed to provide protection in the event of power failure. Key electrical and control components used in the system are sourced from established global manufacturers.

Operational performance parameters include lift speeds ranging from 5.0 metres per minute to 8.0 metres per minute and horizontal slide speeds ranging from 7.0 metres per minute to 9.0 metres per minute. The System is supported by industrial grade motors and components which are designed to operate reliably across a wide range of ambient temperature conditions.

Advantages

- Efficient Space Utilisation with Configurable Design: The Puzzle Parking System utilizes a combination of vertical and horizontal platform movement, enabling multiple vehicles to be accommodated within a compact footprint without the requirement of ramps or internal driveways. The modular configuration allows system layouts to be customised based on the required number of rows and columns, making it suitable for space-constrained urban developments.
- Comprehensive Safety Features: The system is equipped with multiple safety mechanisms including chain monitoring systems, anti-fall devices, vehicle blocking arrangements, photoelectric sensors and safety light curtains, which collectively support safe operation during parking and retrieval. Additional safety provisions such as electromagnetic braking during power failure and emergency stop controls further enhance operational safety for vehicles and users.
- Fast and Automated Operation for User Convenience: The fully PLC-controlled architecture and user accessible operation panels enable controlled and efficient system operation. Vehicles can typically be retrieved within 60–90 seconds, reducing waiting time and eliminating the need for drivers to navigate within the parking facility, thereby improving overall user convenience.

3. Tower Parking System

The Tower Parking System is a fully automated vertical parking solution designed to optimise the utilization of limited land area by effectively leveraging available height. The System is suited for high-density urban environments and premium real estate developments where horizontal space availability is constrained. The system provides independent parking spaces arranged in a vertical configuration, enabling automated parking or retrieval of vehicles without manual intervention or internal vehicle movement by the users.

Each parking bay is accessed horizontally, with an installation deviation tolerance of $\pm 1\%$, supporting accurate alignment and stable operation. The system is engineered to deliver controlled, reliable, and safe performance, through an integrated lifting and transfer mechanism that facilitates efficient vehicle storage and retrieval. By combining advanced automation with compact structural design, the Tower Parking System significantly enhances space utilisation, reduces parking time by reducing internal circulation requirements, and offers an efficient parking solution which is modern and environmentally compatible for residential, commercial, and public infrastructure applications.

This System is available in the following three principal configurations:

- a) Travelling Tower Parking,
- b) Comb Type Tower Parking and
- c) Pallet Type Tower Parking.

(a) Travelling Tower Parking

The Travelling Tower Parking System is an automated parking solution that integrates a vertical lifting mechanism with horizontal transfer capability across multiple bays. The system is designed to facilitate efficient utilization of available space, particularly in urban locations characterised by narrow and elongated plots or where a single vertical tower configuration may not be sufficient to achieve the required parking capacity.

Through a combination of vertical and horizontal movements, the system enables automated storage and retrieval of vehicles across multiple bays, supporting higher parking density within a defined footprint. The Travelling Tower Parking System is suitable for a range of applications, including commercial developments, residential complexes, and institutional facilities, where space constraints and efficient vehicle handling are key considerations.

Mechanism

The Travelling Tower Parking System operates through an integrated combination of vertical and horizontal movement mechanisms, enabling fully automated parking and retrieval of vehicles. A central lift tower is used to transport vehicles vertically to the designated parking level, while a travelling carriage moves horizontally along guided rails to transfer vehicles to and from multiple storage modules.

The coordinated vertical and horizontal movement enables systematic handling of vehicles across elongated and narrow site layouts, supporting efficient utilization of available space. The system is designated to offer flexibility in vehicle handling through either pallet-based or robotic operating configuration.

Under the pallet - based configuration, vehicles are positioned on pallets, which are then transported by the system between the entry bay and the designated parking location. Under the robotic configuration, a robotic dolly is deployed beneath the vehicle to facilitate direct pick-up of the vehicle by all four wheels, ensuring controlled and precise positioning of the vehicle on the dolly and automated transfer of the same within the parking structure.

The mechanism of the Travelling Tower Parking System is illustrated below:

(b) Comb Type Tower Parking

The Comb Type Tower Parking System is a fully automated, pallet-free parking solution in which vehicles are parked directly on steel comb-shaped carriers. These carriers are designed to move in vertical and horizontal directions within the tower structure to position vehicles into their designated parking bays without the use of pallets.

Mechanism

The system employs a comb-shaped carrier mechanism that slides beneath the vehicle's tyres and lifts the car without the requirement of pallets thereby reducing mechanical components and improving efficiency. The carriers are mounted on a vertical elevator mechanism, that travels vertically to transport the vehicles to the designated parking level and facilitates horizontal transfer into the assigned parking slot.

Photoelectric sensors and Limit switches are installed at various points within the system to ensure accurate positioning and precise alignment of the comb carriers beneath the vehicle wheels and to verify correct vehicle alignment prior to lifting and transfer. These sensing and control mechanisms support safe operation by preventing improper loading and reducing the risk of operational errors during vehicle handling.

The mechanism of the Comb Type Tower Parking System is illustrated below:

(c) Pallet Type Tower Parking

The Pallet Type Tower Parking System is a fully automated vertical parking solution that operates on a pallet-supported mechanism. Under this system, the vehicles are driven onto individual steel pallets, which function as individual carriers and are transported vertically and horizontally to the allocated parking bays. Each pallet supports stable vehicle positioning throughout the parking and retrieval process.

Mechanism

Each parking location within the system is assigned with a dedicated pallet designed to accommodate a single vehicle. A central elevator mechanism lifts the pallet carrying the vehicle and positions it at the designated parking level within the tower structure. During retrieval, the same pallet is returned to the ground level to enable vehicle exit.

The system incorporates optical and photoelectric sensors to continuously confirm vehicle presence on the pallet, monitor pallet movement, and detect obstructions during operation. These sensing and control elements support accurate positioning and safe handling of vehicles during each parking and retrieval cycle.

The mechanism of the Pallet Type Tower Parking System is illustrated below:

Advantages

- High Space Utilization & Flexible Layout: A single lift tower is capable of serving multiple rows of parking bays arranged horizontally, enabling effective utilisation of available land in space - constrained urban locations. The system can be configured for installation in narrow plots, elongated sites, and mixed basement and above-ground structures, providing flexibility across diverse site conditions.

- Enhanced Operational Efficiency & Speed: This system supports automated vehicle parking and retrieval through multiple horizontal transfer mechanisms that may operate simultaneously. Depending on system configuration and operating conditions, average parking and retrieval cycle time is up to 120 seconds per operation, supporting orderly vehicle movement within the facility.
- Integrated Monitoring and Safety Features: The system is equipped with IoT-enabled modules that facilitate remote monitoring, operational diagnostics, predictive maintenance alerts, and operational analytics. Integrated fire safety systems and UPS backup support operation and system safety during power interruptions and emergency conditions.

4. Stack Parking System

The Stack Parking System is a mechanised parking solution designed to enable vertical parking of 2 to 4 vehicles within a single footprint. Under this system, one vehicle is parked directly at the ground level and additional vehicles are parked on vertically stacked platforms above. The lower vehicle is required to be removed before the upper platform can be lowered for retrieval. This configuration is particularly suitable for locations with constrained ground area and adequate vertical clearance, including residential complexes, commercial buildings, and office premises.

Design and Configuration

The Stack Parking System is designed to facilitate space- efficient, vertical stacking of vehicles with controlled horizontal and vertical movement. Platform dimensions are indicative and customizable to suit site-specific requirements. Typical dimensions include a platform length of 5,300 mm, height of 1,800 mm, clearance of 2,050 mm, platform width of 2,700 mm, overall footprint of 2,976 mm, and a total system length of 4,275 mm.

The system provides horizontal access, with installation tolerances maintained at $\pm 1\%$ to ensure accurate alignment and smooth operation. The modular design enables accommodation of different vehicle sizes while supporting higher parking density in space -constrained urban locations. Its configuration allows vehicles to be positioned on stacked platforms in an organised manner, supporting operational reliability and safety.

The design and configuration of a Stack Parking System is illustrated below:

Operation

The The Stack Parking System is designed to deliver efficient and consistent parking and retrieval operations, with lifting and retrieval times of approximately 43 seconds each (subject to operating conditions), ensuring swift vehicle access and storage. The system is powered by a robust 1.50 KW motor, operating on a 3-phase power supply ranging between 380–415 V at a frequency of 50 Hz, which supports consistent and stable system performance.

The System is engineered to accommodate vehicles with a maximum weight of upto 2,300 kg, making it suitable for a wide range of passenger vehicles. This combination of motor capacity, operating speed, power, and load bearing capacity supports the deployment of the system in residential and commercial parking applications requiring dependable and space – efficient solutions.

Strategic Collaborations under Smart City and Urban Infrastructure Initiatives

We have entered into Memoranda of Understanding (“MoUs”) with the Government of Karnataka (dated February 11, 2025) and the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (“MMRDA”) (dated January 22, 2025), signed at 72/B, Barakhola Kalikapur, Kolkata – 700099 and at the World Economic Forum, Davos, respectively, to promote and implement automated parking and urban mobility solutions.

Under the Karnataka MoU, we propose to invest approximately ₹8,500 crores over five years for automated multi-level car and bus parking projects under the PPP model in cities including Bengaluru, Mangalore and Mysore. Under the MMRDA MoU, we intend to introduce automated storage and retrieval parking systems across the Mumbai Metropolitan Region, supported by technology transfer from our Swiss partner, Sotefin SA.

These strategic collaborations are aligned with India’s Smart City Mission and reinforce our commitment to building sustainable, technology-driven urban infrastructure. By partnering with leading government authorities, we are positioned to scale our solutions, strengthen our market presence, and contribute meaningfully to the modernization of urban mobility in India.

Diversification into Automated Storage and retrieval Systems

In addition to automated parking systems, we are now extending our expertise into adjacent segments including automated business storage parking systems and container storage solutions. These segments represent logical extensions of our existing technological capabilities, which integrate robotics, automation, and space optimization. With rising demand for efficient warehousing, urban logistics, and smart mobility infrastructure supports the relevance of these segments.

This diversification is intended to expand our addressable market and reduce reliance on a single product category. Through entry into these adjacent verticals, we seek to position ourselves as an automation and infrastructure solutions provider, capable of addressing both mobility-related and storage-related requirements in urban and infrastructure-led developments.

Technology Upgradation through AI, IoT and Robotic Charging Integration

We are undertaking a strategic initiative to upgrade our automated parking systems through the integration of Artificial Intelligence (“AI”) and Internet of Things (“IoT”) technologies and Robotic Charging Infrastructure. These initiatives are intended to enhance our system into intelligence, connectivity, operational monitoring and energy management capabilities thus delivering superior user experience.

The proposed integration includes deployment of IoT sensors and AI-driven analytics into our systems, to facilitate real-time system monitoring, equipment health diagnostics and maintenance planning. AI based tools may be used to analyse usage patterns to support dynamic space allocation and traffic flow management, subject to system configuration and site conditions. IoT-enabled sensors are intended to monitor operational parameters to support predictive maintenance and reduce unplanned downtime.

In addition, we plan to integrate robotic charging facilities within selected automated parking systems to support electric vehicle (“EV”) compatibility. Such charging infrastructure may include automated or semi-automated charging interfaces designed to operate within the parking system without manual intervention, subject to site feasibility and customer requirements. This integration is intended to support emerging EV adoption trends and evolving urban mobility requirements.

Further, we propose to implement cloud-based platforms for remote diagnostics, centralized system oversight, and enhanced user interface functionalities, including access control and user interaction features, as applicable. These technology upgrades are expected to support improved system management, service responsiveness and operational consistency over time.

BUSINESS AND CONTRACTING MODEL

We operate primarily under a Business-to-Business (“B2B”) model, engaging with institutional customers including private real estate developers and government authorities. Our business is typically undertaken pursuant to work orders or purchase orders issued by customers, which define the scope of work covering design, supply, installation, testing and commissioning of automated parking systems.

These contractual arrangements set out project-specific obligations such as delivery schedules, payment milestones, applicable quality standards, and maintenance commitments. While the end-users of our systems are individual vehicle owners, we do not transact directly with consumers and do not offer retail products or services. Our commercial engagements are therefore structured around institutional procurement, turnkey project execution, and post installation maintenance services, consistent with our positioning as a specialized B2B provider in the automated parking industry.

Project Origination and Lead Generation

Our projects are typically originated either through private referrals or through public or government procurement processes.

- Private Sector Projects:
In the private sector, a significant proportion of business opportunities are generated through existing customer relationships, referrals, and long-standing contacts within the real estate and infrastructure ecosystem. Repeat orders from existing customers form an important component of our order pipeline.
- Public Sector Projects:
In the public sector, business opportunities primarily arise through government tenders floated by central state and municipal authorities for automated car parking solutions. Such tenders are regularly monitored on authorised platforms including www.tenderdetail.com, www.tendersonline.com and www.tendernews.com, among others. Identified tenders are evaluated internally for eligibility technical feasibility and commercial viability prior to participation in the bidding process.

Opportunity Evaluation and CRM-Based Monitoring

Once a potential opportunity has been identified, whether from a private customer or a government tender, it is formally recorded in our Customer Relationship Management (“CRM”) system by the designated personnel. Relevant information including customer details, technical requirements, and preliminary layout drawings provided by the customer, is uploaded into the CRM system.

The CRM thus serves as a central repository for opportunity tracking of all relevant technical and commercial inputs available for further evaluation and also facilitates coordination among business development, engineering and execution teams. This structured approach supports consistency, accountability and timely decision making across the project life cycle.

Contracting and Project Execution

Upon conversion of a business opportunity, execution is undertaken pursuant to work orders or purchase orders issued by the customers. These documents specify the scope of supply and services including installation, testing, commissioning and handover, and also define delivery timelines, payment milestones and quality benchmarks.

In addition, most work orders provide for comprehensive or non-comprehensive maintenance contracts for a defined period, often incorporating escalation clauses. Such arrangements provide visibility of post-installation service revenues over the maintenance term.

Client-side responsibilities are also contractually defined and typically include provision of site access, completion of reinforced cement concrete and masonry works, availability of power supply, and compliance with applicable statutory and regulatory requirements. Contracts generally incorporate, liquidated damages and penalty provisions in respect of delays, in accordance to standard industry practices to safeguard project timelines.

End-to-End Engagement Framework

Each customer engagement follows a structured lifecycle commencing with systematic lead identification, followed by formal contractual arrangements, project execution, and post-installation service support.

By combining disciplined lead generation, tender participation, CRM-driven opportunity management, formalised contractual documentation and recurring maintenance arrangements, our business model is designed to provide operational visibility, contractual enforceability and revenue continuity over the duration of each project.

The process described above is illustrated in the flow chart set out below:

MANUFACTURING

Manufacturing Facilities

We operate a single manufacturing facility, which we purchased on December 14, 2024 and is operational for manufacturing since July 2025, equipped for fabrication, surface treatment, and system integration of automated and mechanised parking systems. The manufacturing process is supported by an in-house design and engineering team, quality control division, and dedicated assembly bays for various parking products including puzzle, tower, and robotic parking systems.

A summary of our manufacturing facility is set out below:

Unit	Located at	Area (in square meters)
Manufacturing unit I	Mouza Kulepairi, J.L. No. 7, Touzi No. 858, Bagnan, Baksi Hat, Howrah – 711303	1786.19 SqM

Currently, the Company has an installed structural and fabrication manufacturing capacity of 4,000 Car Spaces per annum against an optimum manufacturing capacity of 10,000 Car Spaces per annum.

The existing manufacturing facility is primarily engaged in the fabrication and assembly of structural steel components for automated parking systems.

The proposed expansion relates to the setting up of a dedicated facility for in-house manufacturing of robots used in automated parking solutions, which are currently being imported.

Accordingly, the proposed expansion represents vertical integration rather than a simple increase in the existing fabrication capacity. The post-expansion capacity has been computed for in-house robot manufacturing as follows:

Particulars	Capacity
Installed Manufacturing Capacity	4,000 Car Spaces per annum
Optimum Manufacturing Capacity	10,000 Car Spaces per annum
Proposed Expansion Capacity (Robot Manufacturing)	60 Robots per annum

To provide a visual representation of our infrastructure and in-house capabilities, photographs of our manufacturing and assembly facilities are set out below:

Manufacturing Capabilities

Currently, we manufacture structural and fabricated components of parking systems in-house, except the patented robot dolly, which is imported from Sotefin SA, Switzerland. To achieve self-reliance and enhance cost competitiveness, we are in the process of localising the production of the robot in India, which is expected to reduce import dependency and lower project costs substantially. Fabrication, welding, surface preparation, painting, and assembly operations are undertaken in-house, while machining of precision components is outsourced to qualified vendors under strict quality supervision.

Manufacturing and Assembly Process

Our manufacturing process is designed to ensure precision, consistency, and adherence to stringent quality standards. The key stages of our production workflow are as follows:

(1) Raw Material Requirement and Procurement

The process begins with the calculation of structural steel requirements, including angles, channels, beams, columns, MS sheets, plates, and GI sheets, based on the Bill of Materials (“BOM”) released by the Drawing and Design Department. Once the quantities are finalised and vendor selection is completed, Purchase Orders (“Pos”) are issued. Upon delivery, the Quality Control (“QC”) team inspects all incoming raw materials:

- (a) If accepted, the materials are routed to the next process stage.
- (b) If rejected, they are returned to the supplier for replacement.

(2) Marking, Cutting, and Bending

QC-approved materials are transferred to the marking, cutting, and bending section, where they are processed to required sizes. The following cutting methods are employed, depending on material thickness and specifications:

Equipment / Process	Description / Application	Thickness / Material Range
CNC Laser Cutting	Used for precise cutting of plates and sheets.	Up to 20 mm
PUG Cutting	Employed for thicker plates where laser cutting is not feasible.	Above 20 mm and up to 170–180 mm
Gas Cutting	Used for square or rectangular hollow sections, beams, columns, plates, and sheets.	As applicable (where laser or PUG cutting not feasible)
Chopsaw Cutting	Deployed for cutting angles and channels.	Standard structural sections
CNC Tandem Bending Machine	Used for bending profiles and components as per specific design requirements.	As per profile specifications

(3) Drilling, Grinding, and Welding Fit-Up

The next stage involves drilling, grinding, and welding fit-up of the processed components. The fabrication and welding process is supported by a comprehensive range of equipment, including angle grinders of 4”, 5”, and 8” capacities (750W, 1400W, and 2300W respectively), magnetic and impact drill machines, and pedestal drilling units for precision hole-making and structural preparation. Welding operations are carried out using MIG and arc welding machines, ensuring strong and uniform joints in line with design specifications. Following dimensional checks by the QC team, the components are forwarded for full and final welding.

(4) Surface Preparation and Painting

Post-welding, components undergo surface treatment and painting.

- (a) Operations are performed inside two enclosed chambers, one for shot blasting and one for painting.
- (b) Both chambers are interconnected by a monorail system for efficient material movement.
- (c) After painting, the QC team conducts final inspection to verify coating thickness, adhesion, and finish quality.

Upon clearance, the components are transferred to the assembly section.

(5) Assembly Process

In the assembly area:

- (a) Fabricated components are assembled along with machined parts (outsourced) and bought-out items such as motors, bearings, fasteners, and hardware, in accordance with the approved design drawings.
- (b) All outsourced machined components undergo comprehensive quality inspection before integration.
- (c) Assemblies are tested for dimensional accuracy, mechanical alignment, and operational smoothness.

(6) Packing and Dispatch

Following successful inspection, finished assemblies are packaged as per customer specifications using:

- (a) Open pallets
- (b) Solid wooden boxes
- (c) Wooden crates

Each package is appropriately labelled and made ready for dispatch to project sites, where it is installed and commissioned by the Company's project execution team.

Quality Assurance and Control

Our quality control process is integrated at every stage of manufacturing, from raw material inspection to final dispatch. Dedicated QC engineers conduct in-process and final inspection for dimensional accuracy, welding quality, coating adherence, and alignment tolerances. We are in the process of obtaining ISO 9001:2015 certification for our quality management systems.

The overall manufacturing and assembly process can be represented as follows: The overall manufacturing and assembly process can be represented as follows:

In addition, water is used for maintaining landscaping, plants, and green areas within the factory campus, contributing to a clean, healthy, and visually appealing working environment.

While our manufacturing operations involve limited water usage, we ensure the availability of adequate and reliable water supply from municipal and other approved sources to meet all operational and employee welfare requirements. The Company considers workplace health, hygiene, and environmental upkeep as integral to productivity, employee morale, and sustainable operations.

Environment, Energy Conservation, Health and Safety

Our automated parking systems are designed to optimise land utilisation enabling higher parking density within a smaller footprint and thereby freeing up space for green cover and improved urban aesthetics. By replacing conventional parking layouts with space-efficient automated solutions, our systems contribute to reduced land consumption and more sustainable urban development.

The deployment of automated parking systems significantly minimises vehicle idling and internal circulation in search of parking, as vehicles are parked and retrieved without drivers navigating within the facility. This results in lower fuel consumption, reduced greenhouse gas emissions and improved air quality, particularly in high-density urban environments. In addition, our systems are capable of supporting integrated electric vehicle (“EV”) charging infrastructure, allowing vehicles to charge while parked and aligning with India’s transition towards clean and sustainable mobility.

Our APS solutions are aligned with environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) objectives, including energy efficiency, emissions reduction, and support for green building design and certification frameworks. The systems offered by our Company are compatible with renewable energy integration such as rooftop solar installations and can be designed to operate alongside rainwater-harvesting and other sustainable urban infrastructure initiatives, making them suitable for adoption in smart city and sustainable urban mobility projects.

From a health and safety perspective, our APS are engineered with multiple layers of mechanical, electrical, and software-based safety features, including access-controlled entry, sensor-based monitoring, emergency stop mechanisms, overload protection, and fail-safe operations. These measures enhance user safety, operational reliability, and workplace safety for maintenance personnel, while ensuring compliance with applicable safety standards and industry best practices.

The Act also provides for the recall, repair, or replacement of products bearing the standard mark that fail to meet the applicable Indian standards. Furthermore, it mandates the hallmarking of precious metal articles under the BIS (Hallmarking) Regulations, 2018, thereby ensuring consumer protection and product quality assurance.

Building Codes and Bye-laws

Building codes and bye-laws issued by local municipal bodies and urban development authorities across India govern the planning, design, construction, and operation of multi-level car parking structures. These regulations prescribe minimum parking space requirements, layout and accessibility standards, and alignment with local urban master plans. In many jurisdictions, incentives such as exemptions from floor area ratio (FAR) calculations are provided to promote the development of structured parking facilities. The regulations also permit the use of mechanical and automated parking systems, subject to compliance with safety and operational norms. Local authorities are empowered to enforce these provisions and impose penalties for non-compliance. These building codes and bye-laws play a critical role in ensuring that multi-level car parking projects are executed in a manner that supports sustainable urban development and addresses the increasing parking needs of growing cities.

The National Building Code of India (NBC), 2005

The National Building Code of India, 2005 (NBC) serves as a comprehensive regulatory framework for the planning, design, construction, and operation of buildings, including multi-level car parking facilities. It lays down detailed standards and guidelines relating to layout, access, ventilation, fire safety, and universal accessibility, ensuring that such facilities are developed in accordance with broader urban planning and mobility objectives. The NBC specifies minimum parking space requirements and permits the use of mechanical and automated parking systems, subject to prescribed safety and operational norms. It also supports integration with urban master plans to promote efficient land use and transportation linkages. Local authorities are empowered under the Code to enforce these provisions and impose penalties for violations. By establishing uniform technical standards, the NBC aims to facilitate the development of safe, efficient, and sustainable multi-level parking infrastructure across Indian cities.

The Urban Development Plans Formulation and Implementation (UDPFI) Guidelines

The Urban Development Plans Formulation and Implementation (UDPFI) Guidelines, issued by the Ministry of Urban Development, provide a structured framework for the planning and development of urban infrastructure, including multi-level car parking facilities. These guidelines recommend minimum parking space requirements for various categories of vehicles and actively promote the adoption of multi-level parking systems to optimize land use in dense urban environments. They offer detailed directions on layout design, access provisions, and integration with surrounding land uses, while emphasizing alignment with urban master plans and mobility strategies. The guidelines also reference applicable legal and regulatory frameworks relevant to parking infrastructure. Serving as an important reference for urban planners, local authorities, and developers, the UDPFI Guidelines facilitate the coordinated and efficient implementation of multi-level parking solutions in response to the increasing demand for structured parking in Indian cities.

Steel & Steel Products order, 2024

The Steel and Steel Products (Quality Control) Order, 2024 (“QCO 2024”) has been notified by the Ministry of Steel under the Bureau of Indian Standards Act, 2016. This order mandates that specified steel and steel products conform to the relevant Indian Standards and bear the BIS Standard Mark. The objective of the order is to ensure uniform quality standards, enhance consumer safety, and promote the use of certified steel products in India. The QCO 2024 applies to manufacturers, importers, and sellers of steel products listed in its schedules, which include primary steel items such as plates, sheets, bars, rods, billets, slabs, and certain downstream products like stainless steel tubes, transformer cores, and stampings. All covered products must be manufactured under a valid BIS license and accompanied by a test certificate. Imported steel products falling under the notified categories are also required to comply with BIS certification norms before being sold or used in India.

Non-compliance with the provisions of QCO 2024 may attract penalties under the BIS Act, including confiscation of goods and monetary fines. For companies engaged in manufacturing or importing steel-based components, adherence to QCO 2024 is critical to ensure product quality, regulatory compliance, and uninterrupted operations in the Indian market.

National Steel Policy, 2017

The National Steel Policy, 2017 (“NSP 2017”) was introduced by the Government of India to provide a strategic roadmap for the development of a globally competitive, technologically advanced, and environmentally sustainable steel industry. The policy aims to achieve a crude steel production capacity of 300 million tonnes and per capita steel consumption of 160 kg by 2030–31. It emphasizes self-sufficiency in the production of high-grade automotive steel, electrical steel, special steels, and alloys, while reducing import dependence on raw materials such as coking coal. NSP 2017 promotes the adoption of modern, energy-efficient technologies, stringent quality standards through BIS certification, and measures to reduce the carbon footprint of steel production. It also envisages the establishment of the Steel Research and Technology Mission of India (SRTMI) to foster innovation and R&D in the sector. While the policy does not impose direct compliance obligations on non-steel manufacturing companies, it influences the supply chain by encouraging the use of certified steel and supporting domestic production. Companies engaged in manufacturing or importing steel-based components are indirectly impacted through quality norms and procurement practices aligned with the policy objectives.

The Competition Act, 2002

The Competition Act, 2002 was enacted to promote and sustain competition in Indian markets, protect consumer interests, and ensure freedom of trade. The Act prohibits anti-competitive agreements, prevents the abuse of dominant positions by enterprises, and regulates combinations, including mergers, acquisitions, and amalgamations, that may cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition within India. It also provides for the establishment of the Competition Commission of India (CCI), which is the statutory authority empowered to enforce the provisions of the Act. The CCI has jurisdiction to examine combinations and anti-competitive conduct, including those taking place outside India, if they are likely to have an adverse impact on competition in Indian markets

The Consumer Protection Act, 2019

The Consumer Protection Act, 2019 is a comprehensive legislation enacted to safeguard the interests of consumers by providing an effective mechanism for the prevention of unfair trade practices and the redressal of consumer grievances. The Act establishes Consumer Protection Councils and adjudicatory bodies at the district, state, and national levels for the resolution of consumer disputes. It provides remedies against defective goods, deficient services, and unfair or restrictive trade practices adopted by traders or service providers. Consumers aggrieved under the provisions of the Act may approach the designated consumer dispute redressal forums for appropriate relief. The legislation aims to ensure fair trade, transparency, and accountability in the sale of goods and provision of services.

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881

The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 governs negotiable instruments such as cheques, promissory notes, and bills of exchange in India. One of the key provisions under the Act is Section 138, which makes the dishonour of a cheque due to insufficiency of funds a criminal offence. In such cases, the drawer of the dishonoured cheque may be subject to imprisonment and/or fine, thereby providing legal recourse and promoting the credibility of financial instruments in commercial transactions.

The Registration Act, 1908

The Registration Act, 1908 was enacted to consolidate laws relating to the registration of documents. Its primary objective is to ensure the maintenance of accurate and transparent records concerning transactions involving immovable property. The Act mandates the registration of specified documents to provide legal validity, prevent fraud, and facilitate the proper recording of rights, titles, and interests. It also enables the registration of other documents, thereby enhancing their evidentiary value. Registering authorities have been established across districts to oversee the implementation of the Act.

The Indian Stamp Act, 1899

The Indian Stamp Act, 1899 governs the imposition of stamp duty on instruments evidencing transactions involving the transfer, creation, or extinguishment of rights, title, or interest in property. Stamp duty is payable at rates prescribed under the schedules to the Act, which may vary by state. Instruments that are chargeable with duty under the Act and are not duly stamped are inadmissible as evidence in court and may be subject to impounding. The Act ensures that legal instruments carry requisite fiscal authentication to be recognized for official and judicial purposes.

The Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996

The Act governs domestic arbitration, international commercial arbitration, and the enforcement of foreign arbitral awards, in line with the UNCITRAL Model Law. It also defines the law relating to conciliation as an alternative dispute resolution mechanism. The Act aims to provide a time-bound, efficient, and neutral process for resolving disputes outside the traditional judicial system.

EMPLOYMENT AND LABOUR LAWS

West Bengal Factories Rules, 1958

The West Bengal Factories Rules, 1958 (“WB Factory Rules”) have been framed under the provisions of the Factories Act, 1948 and govern the regulation of health, safety, and welfare measures in factories located within the State of West Bengal. These rules apply to premises classified as a “factory” under the Factories Act, which includes establishments employing ten or more workers with the aid of power or twenty or more workers without the aid of power. The WB Factory Rules prescribe requirements relating to site approval, licensing, working conditions, ventilation, lighting, cleanliness, disposal of waste, and safety measures for hazardous processes. The rules also mandate welfare provisions such as drinking water facilities, washing and restrooms, first aid arrangements, and maintenance of statutory registers for workers, leave, accidents, and inspections. Factories are required to obtain prior approval for building plans, secure registration, and maintain compliance with prescribed health and safety standards. Non-compliance with these rules may attract penalties under the Factories Act, including fines and suspension of factory operations. For companies operating manufacturing units in West Bengal, adherence to the WB Factory Rules is essential to ensure statutory compliance and safeguard employee welfare.

The Factories Act, 1948 (“Factories Act”)

The Factories Act defines a “factory” to cover any premises including precincts which employs 10 or more workers who are working or were working on any day of the preceding twelve months and in which manufacturing process is carried on with the aid of power or any premises where there are at least 20 workers who are working or were working on any day of the preceding twelve months, even while there may not be an electrically aided manufacturing process being carried on. State governments have the authority to formulate rules in respect matters such as submission of plans and their approval for the establishment of factories and registration and licensing of factories. The Factories Act provides that the person who has ultimate control over the affairs of the factory and in the case of a company, any one of the directors, must ensure the health, safety and welfare of all workers. There is a prohibition on employing children below the age of fourteen years in a factory. The occupier and the manager of a factory may be punished with imprisonment for a term up to two years or with a fine up to ₹100,000 or with both in case of contravention of any provisions of the Factories Act or rules framed there under and in case of a contravention continuing after conviction, with a fine of up to ₹1,000 per day of contravention.

The employment of workers, depending on the nature of activity, is regulated by a wide variety of generally applicable labour laws, including the Payment of Wages Act, 1936, the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, the Employee’s State Insurance Act, 1948, the Employees’ Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952, Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, the Child Labour (Prohibition and Regulation) Act, 1986, the Right of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016, Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, Labour Welfare Fund Legislations, Employment Exchanges (Compulsory Notification of Vacancies) Act, 1959 and the rules made thereunder and the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013.

In order to rationalise and reform labour laws in India, the Government has enacted the following codes:

- The Code on Wages, 2019

The Code on Wages, 2019 received the assent of the President of India on August 8, 2019, and partially notified on November 21, 2025. The Code seeks to consolidate and replace four earlier labour legislations: (i) the Payment of Wages Act, 1936, (ii) the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, (iii) the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, and (iv) the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976. The Code is applicable to all employees and empowers the Central Government to fix minimum statutory wages, thereby aiming to streamline wage-related laws and ensure uniformity in their application across organized and unorganized sectors.

The four legislations subsumed under the Code on Wages, 2019 are as follows:

1. The Payment of Wages Act, 1936

The Payment of Wages Act, 1936 (as amended), was enacted to regulate the timely payment of wages to certain categories of employees and to safeguard them against unauthorized deductions. The Act applies to employees earning below a prescribed wage threshold and requires employers to disburse wages within specified timelines. It mandates the maintenance of wage registers, issuance of wage slips, and display of statutory notices in the workplace. The Act also outlines permissible deductions and prohibits arbitrary reductions in wages. Designated labour authorities are empowered to enforce compliance and address grievances. Non-compliance may result in penalties or prosecution.

2. The Minimum Wages Act, 1948

The Minimum Wages Act, 1948 was enacted to secure minimum standards of wages for employees engaged in specified scheduled employment. The Act empowers the appropriate government (Central or State) to fix, review, and revise minimum wage rates for different categories of work, including skilled, semi-skilled, unskilled, and clerical roles. It mandates employers to pay wages at or above the notified minimum rates and prohibits payment of wages below the prescribed thresholds. The Act also prescribes requirements for maintenance of wage registers and facilitates inspection by designated authorities.

3. The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965

The Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 was enacted to provide for the annual payment of bonuses to employees based on the profits or productivity of the establishment. It applies to establishments employing 20 or more persons and mandates payment of a minimum bonus of 8.33% and a maximum of 20% of the salary or wages, subject to prescribed eligibility thresholds. The Act outlines the method for computing the allocable surplus and bonus liability. Employers are required to maintain prescribed records and submit annual returns to the relevant authorities.

4. The Equal Remuneration Act, 1976

The Equal Remuneration Act, 1976 was enacted to ensure equal pay for men and women performing the same or similar work and to prevent gender-based discrimination in employment. The Act mandates that no employer shall pay unequal remuneration to men and women workers for identical roles and responsibilities. It also prohibits discrimination on the grounds of gender in recruitment, promotions, training, or transfers, except where employment restrictions apply under other laws. Employers are further barred from reducing wages to bring them in compliance with the Act.

• Industrial Relations Code, 2020

The Industrial Relations Code, 2020 was enacted with the objective of consolidating and simplifying India's labour laws relating to industrial relations. It received the assent of the President of India on September 28, 2020, and will come into effect on a date to be notified by the Central Government. The Code seeks to subsume three key legislations: the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the Trade Unions Act, 1926, and the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946. The Code aims to streamline the settlement of industrial disputes, foster collective bargaining, and promote harmonious employer-employee relations while maintaining flexibility in employment conditions.

1. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947

The Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 provides the procedure for investigation and settlement of industrial disputes. When a dispute exists or is apprehended, the appropriate Government may refer the dispute to a lab or court, tribunal, or arbitrator, to prevent the occurrence or continuance of the dispute, or a strike or lock-out while proceeding is pending. The labour courts and tribunals may grant appropriate relief including ordering modification of contracts of employment or reinstatement of workers. The ID Act further provides for direct access for the workers to labour courts or tribunals in case of individual disputes and provided for the constitution of grievance settlement machineries in any establishment having twenty or more workers.

2. Trade Unions Act, 1926

Provisions of the Trade Union Act, 1926 provides that any dispute between employers and workmen or between workmen and workmen, or between employers and employers which is connected with the employment, or non-employment, or the terms of employment or the conditions of labour, of any person shall be treated as trade dispute. For every trade dispute a trade union has to be formed. For the purpose of Trade Union Act, 1926, Trade Union means combination, whether temporary or permanent, formed primarily for the purpose of regulating the relations between workmen and employers or

Under the Employees' Act, the amount of compensation to be paid depends on the nature and severity of the injury. The Employees' Act also lays down the duties/obligations of an employer and penalties in cases of non-fulfilment of such obligations thereof. There are separate methods of calculation or estimation of compensation for injury sustained by the employee. Also, in accordance with the provisions of the EPF Act, the employers are required to contribute to the employees' provident fund the prescribed percentage of the basic wages, dearness allowances and remaining allowance (if any) payable to the employees. The employee shall also be required to make the equal contribution to the fund. The Central Government under Section 5 of the EPF Act (as mentioned above) frames Employees Provident Scheme, 1952.

4. Maternity Benefit Act, 1961

The Act provides for leave and right to payment of maternity benefits to women employees in case of confinement or miscarriage etc. The Act is applicable to every establishment which is a factory, mine or plantation including any such establishment belonging to government and to every establishment of equestrian, acrobatic and other performances, to every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a state, in which ten or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months; provided that the state government may, with the approval of the Central Government, after giving at least two months' notice shall apply any of the provisions of this Act to establishments or class of establishments, industrial, commercial, agricultural or otherwise.

ENVIRONMENT RELATED LAWS

Environment (Protection) Act, 1986 and Environment (Protection) Rules, 1986

This umbrella legislation provides the legal framework for the protection and improvement of the environment. It defines “environment” to include air, water, and land, and the inter-relationships among them and living beings. The Act empowers the Central Government to take all necessary measures to regulate environmental pollution and to coordinate the activities of various authorities for this purpose.

Environmental Impact Assessment Notification, 2006

Issued under the Environment (Protection) Act, 1986, this notification mandates prior environmental clearance for certain new or expanding projects listed in the schedule. The process includes screening, scoping, public consultation, and appraisal. Subsequent notifications, such as those issued in 2016, introduced mechanisms for integrating environmental conditions into building permissions for specific real estate and urban infrastructure projects.

National Green Tribunal Act, 2010

This Act establishes the National Green Tribunal (NGT) for the effective and expeditious disposal of environmental disputes. The NGT has jurisdiction over matters relating to environmental protection, conservation of forests, and enforcement of legal rights related to the environment. It is not bound by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and is guided by the principles of natural justice.

National Environmental Policy, 2006

The policy outlines India's approach to environmental conservation and sustainable development. Its objectives include intra- and inter-generational equity, integration of environmental concerns into economic development, efficiency in resource use, and strengthening environmental governance. It builds upon prior policies and reflects constitutional mandates under Articles 48A and 51A(g).

The Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974

This legislation seeks to prevent and control water pollution through the establishment of Central and State Pollution Control Boards. Industries discharging effluents are required to obtain prior consent from the respective State Pollution Control Board and comply with prescribed standards.

The Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981

The Act provides for the prevention, control, and abatement of air pollution. Any industry operating in an air pollution control area must obtain consent from the State Pollution Control Board and ensure that emissions remain within prescribed limits.

Hazardous and Other Wastes (Management and Transboundary Movement) Rules, 2016

These rules regulate the safe handling, transportation, storage, treatment, and disposal of hazardous wastes.

Occupiers and facility operators must obtain authorization from the State Pollution Control Boards. They also govern import and export of hazardous wastes and impose liability for environmental damage caused due to improper handling.

National Environmental Policy, 2006

The National Environmental Policy, 2006 was formulated to strengthen and build upon the existing environmental policies by addressing gaps identified through accumulated experience and evolving ecological priorities. The policy represents India's reaffirmed commitment to environmental protection, as enshrined in Articles 48A and 51A(g) of the Constitution and reinforced through judicial interpretations of Article 21 (Right to Life).

Framed through extensive consultations within the Government and expert stakeholders, the policy aims to integrate environmental concerns into economic and social development planning. The NGT is also empowered to grant relief and compensation for damages to persons and property arising from environmental harm. The Tribunal is guided by the principles of natural justice and is not bound by the procedure prescribed under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, thereby ensuring a more accessible and efficient forum for environmental litigation. It has been mandated to endeavour to dispose of applications or appeals within six months from the date of filing.

To improve regional accessibility, the NGT operates through multiple benches. While New Delhi serves as the Principal Bench, additional benches are located at Bhopal, Pune, Kolkata, Allahabad, and Chennai, and follow a circuit procedure as necessary. The establishment of the NGT is intended to provide speedy environmental justice, reduce the burden on conventional courts, and strengthen India's institutional capacity to address environmental concerns.

TAX RELATED LEGISLATIONS:

Goods and Service Tax (GST)

Goods and Services Tax (GST) is a comprehensive, destination-based indirect tax levied on the supply of goods and services across India. Introduced pursuant to the Constitution (One Hundred and First Amendment) Act, 2016 and effective from July 1, 2017, GST subsumes various central and state indirect taxes such as Central Excise Duty, Service Tax, Value Added Tax (VAT), Central Sales Tax, Entry Tax, Luxury Tax, and other local levies. It is governed by a dual model under which the Central Government levies Central GST (CGST) and the State Governments/Union Territories levy State GST (SGST)/Union Territory GST (UTGST) on intra-state supplies, while Integrated GST (IGST) is levied on inter-state supplies. The GST regime is governed by key legislations including the CGST Act, SGST/UTGST Acts, IGST Act and the Compensation to States Act, 2017, along with corresponding rules framed thereunder. The GST Council, constituted under Article 279A of the Constitution, serves as the key decision-making body for all GST-related policy matters.

Integrated Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017

The Integrated Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 (“IGST Act”) is a central legislation enacted to levy and collect tax on the supply of goods and/or services in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. IGST is administered by the Central Government and is applicable to all inter-State transactions, including imports and exports. The Act lays down rules for determining the place of supply, which is critical for deciding the nature of the transaction—whether it is intra-State or inter-State. In the case of goods, the place of supply is the location where the movement of goods terminates for delivery to the recipient. For services, the place of supply rules varies depending on whether both the supplier and recipient are located in India or where either party is outside India. The IGST Act incorporates provisions related to assessment, audit, time of supply, invoicing, maintenance of accounts and records, valuation, adjudication, and appeals, which are largely aligned with the provisions of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017. Further, the Company is also subject to the respective State GST legislations, including the Maharashtra Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 and the Odisha Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, for the levy and collection of tax on intra-State supplies of goods and services.

Customs Act, 1962 and the Customs Tariff Act, 1975

The Customs Act, 1962 governs the levy and collection of duties on goods imported into or exported from India. It lays down the legal framework for import/export procedures, assessment, valuation, confiscation, penalties, and adjudication. Complementing this, the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 prescribes the applicable rates of customs duties and provides the classification of goods under various tariff heads for the purpose of levy. Together, these Acts form the statutory basis for regulating cross-border trade and ensuring compliance with customs procedures in India.

Income Tax Act, 1961

The Income Tax Act, 1961 governs the taxation of individuals, corporates, firms, and other entities in India. It provides the framework for computation of taxable income, applicable tax rates, and the availment of deductions, exemptions, and rebates. Employers are required to deduct and deposit the tax on behalf of their employees and maintain relevant registers. The Act empowers the State Government to determine rates, grant exemptions in public interest, and enforce compliance through penalties and inspections.

Maharashtra State Tax on Profession, Trades, Callings and Employments Act, 1975

Professional tax is levied on individuals engaged in any profession, trade, vocation, or employment in India. The power to impose and collect professional tax rests with the State Governments under List II of the Constitution, and each state frames its own structure and slabs. This tax is applicable on income from salaries, wages, business profits, or professional earnings. States such as Maharashtra, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, and Andhra Pradesh have their own professional tax regimes, which apply to every person practicing a profession, carrying on a trade, or holding any public or private employment within the state. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LEGISLATIONS:

Intellectual Property Rights in India are governed by various legislations that provide legal protection to creations of the human intellect, such as inventions, designs, and brand identities. Key statutes include the Patents Act, 1970, the Trade Marks Act, 1999, and the Designs Act, 2000, which collectively aim to safeguard innovation, ensure fair competition, and encourage creative advancement.

The Patents Act, 1970

The Patents Act, 1970 governs the grant and enforcement of patent rights in India. A patent confers an exclusive right to the patentee to manufacture, use, sell, or import the patented product or process for a limited period, generally 20 years, in exchange for complete public disclosure of the invention. An invention under this Act must be novel, involve an inventive step, and be capable of industrial application. The Act also lays down procedures for application, examination, opposition, grant, and revocation of patents.

It also includes provisions related to assignment, licensing, and renewal of registered trademarks.

The Designs Act, 2000

The Designs Act, 2000 governs the protection of industrial designs, which refer to features of shape, configuration, pattern, ornament, or composition of lines or colours applied to an article. The Act aims to promote innovation in aesthetics by granting exclusive rights to the registered design holder for a term of 10 years, extendable by an additional 5 years. It also provides a simplified process for design registration and remedies against infringement. The Act aligns with international standards, including the TRIPS Agreement.

FOREIGN TRADE REGULATIONS:

India's foreign exchange and trade ecosystem is primarily governed by several statutes and regulations that oversee foreign investments, international trade, and overseas ventures by Indian entities. The key legal frameworks include:

Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (“FEMA”) and Related Regulations

The Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 governs foreign exchange transactions in India and empowers the Reserve Bank of India (“RBI”) to regulate capital account and current account transactions, foreign direct investment (“FDI”), and outbound investments. FEMA allows FDI under the automatic route within specified sectoral caps, requiring no prior approval from RBI. Investments exceeding sectoral caps or not covered under the automatic route require prior approval from relevant authorities such as the RBI or Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (“DPIIT”).

Further, the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-Debt Instruments) Rules, 2019 prohibit, restrict, or regulate investments by non-residents. These rules prescribe the framework for issuance and transfer of equity instruments by Indian entities to persons resident outside India.

Overseas Investment by Indian Entities

Overseas investments by Indian entities are regulated under FEMA, specifically governed by the Foreign Exchange Management (Overseas Investment) Rules, 2022, the Foreign Exchange Management (Overseas Investment) Regulations, 2022, and the Overseas Investment Directions, 2022 (notified by RBI via A.P. (DIR Series) Circular No. 12 dated August 22, 2022). These provisions replaced earlier regulations and provide a unified framework for investment in equity capital, debt instruments, or acquisition of immovable property abroad by person’s resident in India. They also outline sectoral conditions, permissible jurisdictions, limits, and reporting requirements.

Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992 (“FTDR Act”)

The FTDR Act empowers the Central Government to formulate and amend the export and import policy to promote foreign trade. It also enables the government to impose restrictions, prohibitions, or regulations on imports and exports of specific goods or services. Under the Act, it is mandatory for any person or company undertaking export or import to obtain an Importer Exporter Code (IEC), unless exempted. Non-compliance with IEC requirements may attract penalties under the Act.

Foreign Trade Policy, 2023

The Foreign Trade Policy, 2023, issued under the FTDR Act, came into effect from April 1, 2023, and will remain in operation until amended. It lays down a comprehensive framework for the regulation and promotion of exports and imports, including incentive schemes, procedural simplifications, and export promotion capital goods provisions. The policy emphasizes trade facilitation, e-commerce exports, and integration with global value chains.

Foreign Institutional Investors (FII) Ownership Restrictions

Under the Portfolio Investment Scheme, the aggregate holding of all FIIs and their sub-accounts in an Indian company is capped at 24% of the paid-up capital, which may be increased up to the sectoral cap applicable to FDI in that sector, subject to board and shareholder approval via a special resolution. Further, no single FII or sub-account may hold more than 10% of the total paid-up capital of the investee company.

OTHER APPLICABLE LAWS:

The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016

The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (“IBC”) provides a unified legal framework for resolving insolvency and bankruptcy matters relating to companies, limited liability partnerships, unlimited liability partnerships, and individuals. The Code aims to ensure a time-bound resolution process that maximizes asset value, promotes entrepreneurship, and balances the interests of all stakeholders.

The IBC empowers any creditor—whether financial, operational, secured, or unsecured—or the corporate debtor itself, to initiate the Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (“CIRP”) before the adjudicating authority in the event of default, subject to the prescribed monetary threshold. Upon admission of the application, the CIRP must be completed within 180 days, extendable by 90 days, failing which liquidation proceedings may commence.

Municipality Laws

Pursuant to the Seventy-Fourth Amendment to the Constitution of India, the State Legislatures are empowered to confer authority upon Municipalities, as defined under Article 243Q, to implement schemes and discharge functions relating to matters enumerated in the Twelfth Schedule of the Constitution. These matters include the regulation of public health, sanitation, and other civic services.

In line with this constitutional framework, various State Governments have enacted municipal laws empowering local bodies to regulate public health. This includes the issuance of health trade licenses for establishments such as eating outlets, and the enforcement of conditions related to such licenses. These laws also prescribe penalties for non-compliance with applicable municipal health regulations.

Approvals from Local Authorities

Setting up a factory, manufacturing unit, or housing development in India requires obtaining approvals from relevant local authorities. For units outside municipal limits, approvals must be secured from local Panchayats, while those within city limits require clearances from the concerned Metropolitan Development Authority. In addition, statutory consents from the State Pollution Control Board, State Electricity Board, State Excise Department, and relevant commercial tax authorities must be obtained prior to commencement of construction or operations.

These approvals are essential to ensure compliance with applicable land use regulations, building norms, environmental standards, and operational licenses. Failure to obtain requisite permissions or comply with stipulated conditions may result in penalties, suspension of activities, or legal proceedings under applicable state or municipal laws.

The West Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, 1963

Non-compliance with the Act may result in penalties, including fines and other enforcement actions by the labor authorities. For companies having offices or operations in Delhi, adherence to the Delhi Shops and Establishments Act, 1954 is essential to maintain statutory compliance and avoid regulatory risks.

The Maharashtra Shops and Establishments (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 2017

The Maharashtra Shops and Establishments (Regulation of Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 2017 (“Maharashtra Shops Act”) governs the regulation of employment conditions in shops, commercial establishments, and other workplaces within the State of Maharashtra. This Act replaced the earlier Bombay Shops and Establishments Act, 1948 and introduced a simplified compliance framework. The Act is primarily applicable to establishments employing ten or more workers, while smaller establishments are subject to basic registration requirements. The Maharashtra Shops Act also lays down norms for opening and closing hours, employment of women and young persons, and welfare measures for employees. Non-compliance with the Act may result in penalties, including fines and enforcement actions by the labor authorities. For companies operating in Maharashtra, adherence to this Act is essential to maintain statutory compliance and ensure fair labor practices.

Information Technology Act, 2000 and Rules Thereunder

The Act grants legal recognition to electronic records and digital signatures, thereby facilitating the use of electronic means for conducting business, enabling e-governance, and promoting digital commerce. It lays down provisions for the authentication, retention, and attribution of electronic records and ensures legal enforceability of digitally executed contracts and transactions. The IT Act also provides for the investigation and penalisation of offences involving the unauthorised access, misuse, or destruction of computer systems and data. It addresses a range of cybercrimes including hacking, identity theft, phishing, data breaches, cyber terrorism, and publication or transmission of obscene content in electronic form. The Act has extraterritorial applicability and extends to offences committed outside India if the act involves a computer, computer system, or network located in India.

The Act empowers the Central Government to intercept, monitor, or block access to information on computer systems or networks in the interest of sovereignty and integrity of India, defence and security of the State, public order, or for preventing incitement to the commission of any cognizable offence. It also provides for the appointment of adjudicating officers and the establishment of a Cyber Appellate Tribunal to adjudicate on matters relating to contraventions under the Act. The IT Act is supplemented by various rules framed thereunder. The Information Technology (Reasonable Security Practices and Procedures and Sensitive Personal Data or Information) Rules, 2011 impose obligations on body corporates and firms engaged in commercial or professional activities to implement reasonable security practices and procedures for the protection of sensitive personal data or information. These rules also require entities to adopt privacy policies, seek consent for data collection, and provide grievance redressal mechanisms.

Further, the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021 impose compliance requirements on intermediaries, including social media platforms and digital content publishers. The rules mandate due diligence in content moderation, the establishment of grievance redressal mechanisms, and the appointment of designated officers for compliance, including a Chief Compliance Officer and a Resident Grievance Officer in the case of significant social media intermediaries. Non-compliance with the provisions of the IT Act and the rules framed thereunder may attract civil and criminal penalties, including monetary fines and imprisonment, depending on the nature and severity of the violation.

However, in cases where the residual value is less than 5% of their original cost, the residual value is taken at actual basis.

(d) Revaluation Reserve on property, plant and equipment

Land & Building is revalued, the increase in the net book value of such asset arising on revaluation is credited to Revaluation Reserve.

The Revaluation Reserve is not available for distribution as dividend. To the extent that a revaluation decrease relates to a previously revalued asset and is not greater than the amount standing in Revaluation Reserve in respect of that asset, the decrease is charged against the Revaluation Reserve. Any excess of such decrease over the balance available in the Revaluation Reserve is charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss.

The additional depreciation arising on the revalued amount of the asset is adjusted against the Revaluation Reserve or transferred from Revaluation Reserve to Surplus in the Statement of Profit and Loss Account, as considered appropriate by the management and in accordance with the applicable provisions of law and accounting standards.

F. Impairment of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or Cash-Generating Unit's (CGU) net selling price and its value in use. The recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets.

Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining net selling price, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

The Company bases its impairment calculation on detailed budgets and forecast calculations which are prepared for the Company's cashgenerating units to which the individual assets are allocated. These budgets and forecast calculations are generally covering a period of five years. For longer periods, a long term growth rate is calculated and applied to project future cash flows after the fifth year.

Impairment losses of continuing operations, including impairment on inventories, are recognized in the Statement of profit and loss.

After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognized impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. If such indication exists, the Company estimates the asset's or cash-generating unit's recoverable amount. A previously recognized impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognized. The reversal is limited so that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its recoverable amount, nor exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognized in the Statement of profit and loss.

G. Inventories

Stock of material is valued at the lower of cost or net realizable value after providing any other losses, where considered necessary. Cost is determined on First-In-First-Out basis.

L. Income Taxes

Tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current income-tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961 enacted in India. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted, at the reporting date.

Deferred income taxes reflect the impact of timing differences between taxable income and accounting income originating during the current year and reversal of timing differences for the earlier years. Deferred tax is measured using the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable timing differences. Deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible timing differences only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized. In situations where the company has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognized only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realized against future taxable profits.

At each reporting date, the company re-assesses unrecognized deferred tax assets. It recognizes unrecognized deferred tax asset to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date. The company writes-down the carrying amount of deferred tax asset to the extent that it is no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which deferred tax asset can be realized. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set-off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

Minimum alternate tax (MAT) paid in a year is charged to the statement of profit and loss as current tax. The company recognizes MAT credit available as an asset only to the extent that there is convincing evidence that the company will pay normal income tax during the specified period, i.e., the period for which MAT credit is allowed to be carried forward. In the year in which the company recognizes MAT credit as an asset in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Credit Available in respect of Minimum Alternative Tax under the Income-tax Act, 1961, the said asset is created by way of credit to the statement of profit and loss and shown as "MAT Credit Entitlement." The company reviews the "MAT credit entitlement" asset at each reporting date and writes down the asset to the extent the company does not have convincing evidence that it will pay normal tax during the specified period.

30 Earnings per share

Basic EPS amounts are calculated by dividing the profit for the year attributable to equity holders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

SIGNIFICANT DEVELOPMENTS SUBSEQUENT TO THE LAST FINANCIAL PERIOD

In the opinion of the Board of Directors of our Company, since the date of the last financial statements disclosed in this Prospectus, there have not arisen any circumstance that materially or adversely affect or are likely to affect the business activities or profitability of our Company or the value of its assets or its ability to pay its material liabilities within the next twelve months.

FACTORS AFFECTING OUR RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Our business is subjected to various risks and uncertainties, including those discussed in the section titled “Risk Factors” on page 22. Our results of operations and financial conditions are affected by numerous factors including the following:

- We leverage technology and source critical patented parking robot from Sotefin SA, Switzerland and have limited proprietary intellectual property. Any disruption in this supply arrangement could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.
- Our business is subject to fluctuations in demand from key customers, our top ten customers accounted for 91.77%, 84.85% and 87.30% of our revenue from operations in the financial years ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024 respectively. Loss of relationship with any of the customers or delays or reduction in their orders may have an adverse effect on our business, operation and financial condition.
- Our revenue is generated from projects undertaken with Government agencies. Such project / contracts is awarded on the basis of certain pre-qualification criteria and competitive selection process and are usually in a standard form, restricting our ability to negotiate the terms and conditions. Any change in the Government policies or focus and/or we are unable to recover payments in a timely manner, would adversely affect our business and result of operations.
- We depend on third-party suppliers for raw materials and components, and any disruption in supply, price volatility, or quality issues could adversely affect our operations. Additionally, any latent defects in our products may increase our after-sales costs or result in losses due to product replacements or recalls.
- We face risks related to project execution delays, and our contracts generally incorporate liquidated damages and penalty clauses which could result in significant liabilities if we fail to meet contractual timelines.

However, in cases where the residual value is less than 5% of their original cost, the residual value is taken at actual basis.

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or Cash-Generating Unit's (CGU) net selling price and its value in use. The recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets.

Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining net selling price, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

The Company bases its impairment calculation on detailed budgets and forecast calculations which are prepared for the Company's cashgenerating units to which the individual assets are allocated. These budgets and forecast calculations are generally covering a period of five years. For longer periods, a long term growth rate is calculated and applied to project future cash flows after the fifth year.

"Impairment losses of continuing operations, including impairment on inventories, are recognized in the Statement of profit and loss.
After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognized impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. If such indication exists, the Company estimates the asset's or cash-generating unit's recoverable amount. A previously recognized impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognized. The reversal is limited so that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its recoverable amount, nor exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognized in the Statement of profit and loss."

F. Inventories

Stock of material is valued at the lower of cost or net realizable value after providing any other losses, where considered necessary. Cost is determined on First-In-First-Out basis.

G. Foreign Currency Transactions

The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted, at the reporting date.

Deferred income taxes reflect the impact of timing differences between taxable income and accounting income originating during the current year and reversal of timing differences for the earlier years. Deferred tax is measured using the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable timing differences. Deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible timing differences only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized. In situations where the company has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognized only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realized against future taxable profits.

At each reporting date, the company re-assesses unrecognized deferred tax assets. It recognizes unrecognized deferred tax asset to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date. The company writes-down the carrying amount of deferred tax asset to the extent that it is no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which deferred tax asset can be realized. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set-off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

Minimum alternate tax (MAT) paid in a year is charged to the statement of profit and loss as current tax. The company recognizes MAT credit available as an asset only to the extent that there is convincing evidence that the company will pay normal income tax during the specified period, i.e., the period for which MAT credit is allowed to be carried forward. In the year in which the company recognizes MAT credit as an asset in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Credit Available in respect of Minimum Alternative Tax under the Income-tax Act, 1961, the said asset is created by way of credit to the statement of profit and loss and shown as "MAT Credit Entitlement." The company reviews the "MAT credit entitlement" asset at each reporting date and writes down the asset to the extent the company does not have convincing evidence that it will pay normal tax during the specified period.

L. Provisions

A provision is recognized when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on the best estimate required to settle the obligation at the reporting date. These estimates are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

M. Contingent liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond the control of the Company or a present obligation that is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognized because it cannot be measured reliably. The Company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the standalone financial statements.

N. Borrowing costs

Total Income

Our total income has increased by 65.55% from ₹5,687.25 lakhs in fiscal 2024 to ₹9,415.48 lakhs in fiscal 2025 due to increase in revenue from operations by 66.62% and decrease in other income by 35.81%.

Revenue from Operations

Our revenue from operations has increased by 66.62% from ₹5,628.33 lakhs in fiscal 2024 to ₹9,377.66 lakhs in fiscal 2025. The increase is reflected by increase in export sales by ₹358.56 lakhs and domestic sales by ₹3,390.77 lakhs.

Revenue has increased mainly due to commencement of new projects in Fiscal 2025 coupled with increased completion of existing projects. Approximately 57% of the Company's revenue was generated from ongoing projects, with the balance contributed by newly commenced projects. The combined contribution from existing and new project activity resulted in an overall growth in the Company's sales during the period.

Other Income

Our other income was ₹37.82 lakhs in Fiscal 2025 as compared to ₹58.92 lakhs in Fiscal 2024, which has decreased by 35.81% primarily due to decrease in (i) custom duty drawback by ₹5.03 lakhs, (ii) reimbursement of expenses by ₹21.16 lakhs and (iii) other income by 14.09 lakhs. The decrease was partially set off by increase in (i) income from scrap sale by ₹4.98 lakhs, (ii) interest on fixed deposit by ₹5.27 lakhs, (iii) balances written back by ₹8.93 lakhs during the Fiscal 2025.

Total Expenses

Our total expenses have increased by 61.52% from ₹4827.35 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹7,797.31 lakhs in Fiscal 2025. This increase was primarily on account of increase in (i) civil & installation expenses by ₹2,880.96 Lakhs; (ii) employee benefit expenses by ₹38.67 lakhs; (iii) finance costs by ₹44.42 lakhs and (iv) other expenses by ₹85.81 lakhs. The increase was partially offset by decrease in cost of material consumed by ₹69.25 lakhs and depreciation and amortisation expenses by ₹10.65 Lakhs.

Cost of Material Consumed

Cost of material consumed decreased by 2.45% from ₹2,826.40 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹2,757.15 lakhs in Fiscal 2025. Although the purchase of materials for the parking system increased by 27.63%, from ₹1,674.93 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹2,137.78 lakhs in Fiscal 2025, primarily due to an increase in overall operations during Fiscal 2025, the impact on material consumption was partially offset by a higher closing stock valuation and a comparatively lower opening stock value during the period.

Civil & Installation Expense

Civil & installation expenses increased by 432.47% from ₹666.17 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹3,547.13 lakhs in Fiscal 2025, primarily due to execution of more civil-intensive projects and higher project deployment driven by increased sales.

Employee Benefit Expenses

Employee benefit expenses increased by 7.29% from ₹530.23 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹568.90 lakhs in Fiscal 2025. This increase was primarily attributable to increase in salaries, wages, staff welfare expense, contribution to statutory funds (including bonus) by ₹38.67 lakhs in Fiscal 2025.

Finance Cost

Finance cost increased by 29.71% from ₹149.49 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹193.91 lakhs in Fiscal 2025, on account of increase in (i) interest on cash credit account, interest on term loan and interest on other loans by ₹33.05 lakhs and (ii) Bank Commission by ₹15.09 Lakhs. This increase was mainly due to increase in interest on secured and unsecured loan as per their utilisation.

Depreciation and Amortization Expenses

Depreciation and amortisation expenses decreased by 23.77% from ₹44.81 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹34.16 lakhs in Fiscal 2025, on account of written down value effect of depreciation calculation.

Other Expenses

Other expenses increased by 14.06% from ₹610.25 lakhs in Fiscal 2024 to ₹696.06 lakhs in Fiscal 2025. This was primarily due to increase in legal & professional fees, penalty charges, interest, rates & taxes and loss on exchange rate fluctuations. PHASED IMPLEMENTATION OF UNIFIED PAYMENTS INTERFACE

SEBI has issued UPI Circulars in relation to streamlining the process of public issue of equity shares and convertibles. Pursuant to the UPI Circulars, UPI has been introduced in a phased manner as a payment mechanism (in addition to mechanism of blocking funds in the account maintained with SCSBs under the ASBA) for applications by Individual Investors through intermediaries with the objective to reduce the time duration from public issue closure to listing from six Working Days to up to three Working Days. Considering the time required for making necessary changes to the systems and to ensure complete and smooth transition to the UPI Mechanism, the UPI Circulars proposes to introduce and implement the UPI Mechanism in three phases in the following manner:

Phase I: This phase was applicable from January 1, 2019, subsequently, the timeline for implementation of Phase I was extended until June 30, 2019. Under this phase, a Individual Investors applying For Minimum Application Size would also have the option to submit the Application Form with any of the intermediary and use his/her UPI ID for the purpose of blocking of funds. The time duration from public Issue closure to listing continued to be six Working Days.

Phase II: This phase had become applicable from July 1, 2019 and was to initially continue for a period of three months or floating of five main board public issues, whichever is later. SEBI vide its circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DCR2/CIR/P/2019/133 dated November 8, 2019 had decided to extend the timeline for implementation of UPI Phase II until March 31, 2020. Subsequently, SEBI vide its circular no. SEBI/HO/CFD/DIL2/CIR/P/2020/50 dated March 30, 2020 had extended the timeline for implementation of UPI Phase II until further notice. Under this phase, submission of the ASBA Form by RIBs through Designated Intermediaries (other than SCSBs) to SCSBs for blocking of funds has been discontinued and replaced by the UPI Mechanism. However, the time duration from public issue closure to listing continued to be six Working Days during this phase.

Phase III: The commencement period of Phase III is notified pursuant to SEBI press release bearing number 12/2023 and as per the SEBI Circular No. SEBI/HO/CFD/TPD1/CIR/P/2023/140 dated August 09, 2023, where the revised timeline of T+3 days shall be made applicable in two phases i.e. (i) voluntary for all public issues opening on or after September 01, 2023; and (ii) mandatory on or after December 01, 2023. The Issue will be made under UPI Phase III of the UPI Circulars.

The processing fees for applications made by UPI Bidders using the UPI Mechanism may be released to the SCSBs only after such banks provide a written confirmation, in compliance with the SEBI RTA Master Circular in a format as prescribed by SEBI, from time to time, and such payment of processing fees to the SCSBs shall be made in compliance with circulars prescribed by SEBI and applicable law. Accordingly, the Issue has been undertaken pursuant to the processes and procedures under UPI Phase III, subject to any circulars, clarification or notification issued by the SEBI pursuant to the T+3 Notification. The Issue has been advertised in all editions of Business Standard (a widely circulated English national daily newspaper), all editions of Business Standard (a widely circulated Hindi national daily newspaper) and all the editions of Duranta Barta (a widely circulated Bengali daily newspaper, Bengali being the regional language of West Bengal where our Registered Office is located), on or prior to the Bid/Issue Opening Date and such advertisement has also been made available to the Stock Exchange for the purpose of uploading on their websites.

All SCSBs offering the facility of making applications in public issues are required to provide a facility to make applications using the UPI Mechanism. Further, in accordance with the UPI Circulars, our Company has appointed ICICI Bank Limited as the Sponsor Bank to act as a conduit between the Stock Exchange and NPCI in order to facilitate collection of requests and/or payment instructions of the Individual Investors applying for Minimum Application Size into the UPI mechanism.

Pursuant to the UPI Circulars, SEBI has set out specific requirements for redressal of investor grievances for applications that have been made through the UPI Mechanism. The requirements of the UPI Circulars include appointment of a nodal officer by the SCSB and submission of their details to SEBI, the requirement for SCSBs to send SMS alerts for the blocking and unblocking of UPI mandates, the requirement for the Registrar to submit details of cancelled, withdrawn or deleted applications, and the requirement for the bank accounts of unsuccessful applicants to be unblocked no later than one day from the date on which the Basis of Allotment is finalised. Failure to unblock the accounts within the timeline would result in the SCSBs being penalised under the relevant securities law. Additionally, if there is any delay in the redressal of investors' complaints, the relevant SCSB as well as the Book Running Lead Manager will be required to compensate the concerned investor.

SEBI through its ICDR Master Circular, has prescribed that all individual investors applying in initial public offerings opening on or after May 01, 2022, where the application amount is up to ₹ 5,00,000, shall use UPI. Individual investors bidding under the Non-Institutional Portion bidding for more than ₹ 2,00,000 and up to ₹ 5,00,000, using the UPI Mechanism, shall provide their UPI ID in the Bid-cum-Application Form for Bidding through Syndicate, sub-syndicate members, Registered Brokers, RTAs or CDPs, or online using the facility of linked online trading, demat and bank account (3 in 1 type accounts), provided by certain brokers.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government of India and FEMA. While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The government bodies responsible for granting foreign investment approvals are the Reserve Bank of India (“RBI”) and Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India (“DIPP”). The RBI and the concerned ministries/departments are responsible for granting approval for foreign investment, where applicable. In the event such prior approval of the Government of India is required, and such approval has been obtained, the Applicant must intimate our Company and the Registrar to the Issue in writing about such approval, along with a copy thereof within the Issue Period.
